PLANS FIGHT ON TERMINAL LINES.

VIOLATION OF LAW SEEN.

Harvester and Steel Trusts Are Declared to Have Forced Division of Through Traffic Rates.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Attorney General Moody has asked the interstate commerce commission to prepare its case against the terminal railroads in Chicago in such a way that the evidence readily can be put together for submission to the courts, preparatory to the charge of violation of the Elkins act forbidding the giving of rebates.

The commission found some time ago that the switch tracks or private railroad owned by the International Harvester company and the United States Steel corporation, all within the limits of the city of Chicago, were being used to facilitate the giving of unlawful preferences to corporations which own these switch track railroads.

The investigation conducted by the interstate commerce commission, however, as explained in its opinion, was of a general character and no specific charges were formulated against any particular defendant, while, of course, no order was entered in the matter because the statute itself was prohibitory.

Amenable to Punishment.

The report of the commissioners was submitted to the attorney general, and after going over the results obtained he expressed the opinion that if specific evidence could be produced, both terminal railroads and trunk lines would be amenable to punishment under the Elkins law, the operation of terminal railroads being clearly a device for the purpose of giving and receiving illegal preferences.

This opinion by the attorney general covers the general principles as contained in the report of the interstate commerce commission submitted to him after the conclusion of the hearings in the case. No attempt was made to present to the department of justice a detailed transcript of the testimony because the hearings before the committee were under the interstate commerce law and were intended to determine whether or not the terminal railroads as now operated in Chicago were entitled to the extraordinary divisions of through traffic rate given them by trunk line roads.

Under the provisions of the interstate commerce act the commission has authority to make full investigation of the whole subject compelling the attendance of witnesses and requiring the production of books and papers. This supplemental investigation, therefore, will be in the nature of a grand jury inquiry and, it is said, it will produce all the testimony necessary to justify the prosecution of the terminal railroads as corporations.

One of Many Abuses.

There is no disposition to push the matter improperly nor to persecute individual officers of these little switch track roads. It is recognized by the commission and by the department of justice as well that a terminal or industrial railroad owned by a particular plant and used to secure lower freight rates for the product of that plant is a new device and yet is only one of scores of abuses which have clustered around the railroad system of the country and which in some cases are as much an imposition on the trunk lines as on the public.

It is likely, therefore, that if the railroads voluntarily reform this abuse in the future there may be no prosecution for past offenses. If they persist in defying the law, however, both trunk lines and terminal roads will be prosecuted.

When the interstate commerce commission undertook the investigation of these terminal railroads it entered upon a new field and for a considerable length of time there was doubt as to the methods of these roads. There seems to be no doubt of the fact that the International Harvester company had a legal right to organize its switch tracks into a railroad company. The interstate commerce law does not prohibit such an incorporation. There were no such roads in existence when the law was passed and railroad men themselves did not foresee the grave objections which would be made to the organization of a railroad company built for the express purpose of handling the business of the individual shipper, and that shipper the owner of a railroad. The commission, therefore, has nothing to do with the organization of these railroads, which were duly incorporated under the laws of the state of Illinois.

Case of Illinois Northern.

It will not be out of place to explain once more just how these terminal railroads have been used to get around the Elkins law. The Illinois Northern railroad company, for instance, was incorporated in 1901 with a capital stock of $300,000. This stock stood in the names of individuals, but it was paid for in cash by the McCormick Harvester company, and is today the property of the International Harvester company, the big trust which bought out McCormick's and other producers of agricultural implements. The railroad owns eleven locomotives and a few flat cars and employs less than 100 men.

The Chicago, West Pullman and Southern railroad was originally a switch track from the Pullman Harvester works. It has one engine and a few flat cars of its own and furnishes a precarious living to about twenty men. Both railroads are as much switch roads today as they were when they were incorporated. They lead nowhere, do not extend outside of Cook county, and connect no towns. They are owned and operated for the exclusive benefit of the harvester trust.

Maximum Switching Rate $3.50.

In old days the Illinois Northern and the Chicago, West Pullman and Southern roads, both owned by the harvester trust, were quite content to receive the ordinary switching charges for handling their own freight. These rates varied from time to time, but the maximum seems to have been about $3.50 per car. This, it is said, is a liberal allowance because the longest straight haul on either road does not exceed four miles. The commission officially has found that any transportation to these two switch track railroads in excess of this sum is exorbitant and illegal. The old switching charges were paid because they were not excessive.

When the harvester trust began work it

DOMINGO JUNTA OPPOSES TREATY.

"Generals" Who Plot Revolution in the Island Denounce Agreement with United States.

PROPOSE TO TEAR IT UP.

Declare Morales Had No Right to Sign It, and When They Succeed They Will Make a New One.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Feb. 21.—The Dominican revolutionary junta that makes its headquarters here declares it will repudiate the treaty negotiated between the Morales government and the United States by which the latter will administer the customs revenues of Santo Domingo and pay off the island's indebtedness to foreign powers.

This was made clear by a visit to the headquarters of the junta here and a talk with the "generals" who occupy their idle moments in plotting war on Morales.

When I came ashore Gen. Deschamps, former vice president of the republic and the leader of the hostile movement against Morales, took me to the headquarters of the Dominican junta. We walked along the white beach road, shimmering in the sunlight, passing sometimes between gardens blazing with red and yellow flowers and sometimes near the sea, with its vivid purple and green tints and darker blue out where a steamer was at anchor. Suddenly Deschamps brought me away from nature to politics.

Home of the Junta.

"I have been here eight months," he said with a sigh. He was a prisoner waiting for deliverance.

We turned into a side street, passed by a salt pond, and walked along another street. On the way we were joined by two Dominicans who were introduced as "generals." Soon we entered a yard in the center of which stood a frame house plastered inside and out. The little 5 year old daughter of Deschamps stood upon a veranda in the front and smiled us a welcome.

Deschamps knocked at the door, and it was immediately answered by Gen. Frederick Lithgow, a white man of perhaps 55 years of age, with an impressive bulbous nose. Lithgow has been engaged in revolution since he was 13 and had taken part in forty-two internal wars.

"I am not through yet," he said with a laugh. "There is another revolution to occur and I will take part in it."

Roster of the Generals.

When we were seated, two other men, unquestionably of African descent, entered. Here is the roster of the generals present:

JOAQUIN BARRA—Of Samana, who bitterly opposes control of Dominican customs by the United States, and who believes this to be the aspiration of the American people.

FREDERICO LITHGOW—Son of a former American consul at Puerto Plata, a man who antagonized the project for the annexation of Santo Domingo during Gen. Grant's administration, and who is vigorously opposed to the treaty arranged by President Morales and Minister Dawson.

TEOFILO MEYRELES—A young man from Puerto Plata, who has won his spurs in action and who is looking for a salaried place in the event of the overthrow of Morales.

EMILIO ABREU—Thirty years of age, with all his front teeth gone save his eye teeth, who was arrested and thrown into prison in Santo Domingo, who was shot there three times by order of Morales, but miraculously escaped death and obtained freedom as a result of the opportune appointment of his cousin as governor of the capital.

CARLOS REYNOSO—As black as a southern negro, who had charge of the revenues of Puerto Plata, a lucrative position which he tremendously desires to occupy again.

Insists on Civil War.

Gen. Lithgow interpreted the views of his comrades. While he was giving expression to a determination to involve his country again in civil war, the child leaned contentedly against her father's knee, and outside the country stretched away peacefully, with a negro occasionally passing slowly and lazily along the road.

"We will not have Morales as president," declared the general. "The people do not want him, and we will accomplish his overthrow whatever the cost in blood. If the United States wishes to have peace in the island, let it name an honorable commission of intelligent Dominicans, which shall select our president. It cannot be too often reiterated that Morales would not have gained the presidency, or remained in the office, had he not enjoyed American support. He is dishonest, a renegade priest, and an assassin. He was in jail for two months for taking $50,000 when he was administrator of finances at Puerto Plata.

"The revolutionary party, as all the people of Santo Domingo, desires that the country shall squarely and fully meet its just obligations. When Jimines was in power, he did not refuse to pay what the government owed. He offered to give 30 per cent of all the customs receipts for the benefit of the European bondholders, and he gave those creditors on one occasion $345,000 in a lump sum. You claim Americans will equitably and fairly administer our customs. Then why do you pay Mr. Strickland at Puerto Plata $900 per month? Before his appointment the salary of the Belgian in charge there was $400 monthly."

Opposed to the Treaty.

Then the generals were asked regarding the treaty with the United States.

Instantly there was excitement. Several favored an answer which would further limit American control; others did not like the treaty in any shape. Finally, Gen. Lithgow gave the answer which he and his comrades had been able to agree upon.

"We cannot accept the convention because Morales negotiated it. It has not the support of the people. Should we overthrow his government, and we will do so, then we will negotiate directly with the United States, and I am sure we will be able to make a satisfactory arrangement."

"And you will withdraw the present treaty?"

"Yes."

Mr. Deschamps produced several printed protests against the arrangements with the United States. An extract from one shows the character of all.

"According to information obtained from Hayti and which has been published in Europe, and even in the United States and Santo Domingo, an arrangement for American control of the custom houses of our

YELLOW GENERALISM.

HENRY JAMES IN CHICAGO.

Will Lecture Before Twentieth Century Club This Evening.

IS THE GUEST OF HIS COUSIN.

Novelist Entertained at House of George Higginson Jr., in Winnetka.

For a first glimpse of Chicago Henry James, the novelist, had the flashing succession of weirdly architectured suburbs, the bleak parks, the jumbled gray masses of tenements, and the engulfing avenue of [illegible] into the metropolis along the route of the Chicago and Alton railway track.

He was coming from St. Louis yesterday afternoon and it struck him amusingly, while the porter was flicking the dust, particle by particle, from his hat, that it was fortunate he had been so guided upon his itinerary that so many unnecessary shocks should have been spared his sensibilities in passing from the smartness of New York to the unkemptness of Chicago. He had not been aware before this in what particular St. Louis might be of general usefulness, but now he knew.

He was revolving the impression with a critical valuation of the opportunities it offered for elaboration and embroidery when there was borne in upon his consciousness the perception of the peculiarly receptive aspect of the porter's posture. It was gymnastic then—the way the novelist whirled his attention from the theoretical to the practical and brought it up on its feet.

The porter executed an obeisance: "Thank you, sah, thank you."

Problem of the Luggage Van.

Leaving the train and passing directly out through the great, dim sheds that roofed the tracks, Mr. James paused the faintest fraction of a step at the luggage van or the baggage car, as he was learning once more in his native land to call it. But instantly he recalled that in America one does not have to look after one's luggage. The process of the material transfer he now remembered was effected by telepathy. One merely concentrates his thought upon his luggage and his destination, and, presently arriving, finds it there before him, though more or less the worse for telepathic wear.

As the novelist emerged from the iron grating toward a cab the thought occurred to him oddly enough that he was in a strange city provided only with some dim directions which Mrs. George Higginson Jr., his cousin's wife, had written to him for his guidance to their residence in the north shore suburb of Winnetka. There was, as he recalled it, synthetically for a change, a turning to the right and another to the left, but whether the turnings were in Chicago or in Winnetka he could not for the life of him remember.

No Maria Gostrey There.

He looked about him helplessly as if it would have been a relief to discover Maria Gostrey waiting to offer her inestimable services as a cicerone. He was to recall later that he had noticed a face in the crowd that was remarkably reminiscent of Daisy Miller's, but he was not sure—it was so long since he had seen her. One other face arrested his attention—the countenance of a girl who looked as if she might know all that Maisie knew and volumes more, but she was gone before our friend could sound her on the subject.

Mr. James gave himself up to the little dreary pictures of Chicago life, which framed themselves on either hand in the square of cab door glass. It came home to him in the orthodox Jamesian manner, that all he ever had heard of Chicago was stockyards and boards of trade, and dirt, and coarse, fearful exploits in the getting of money, and the recollection left him for the moment wondering how it came about that he, Henry James, novelist of the aristocracy, was here at all.

Will Lecture This Evening.

Then it returned to him that as to the larger plan he was here because Chicago was a detail in his comprehensive study of America, and that as to the specific matter his high purpose was to lecture before the Twentieth Century club in the Fine Arts building tonight, and before the Fortnightly tomorrow afternoon. Following the mental process to the bitter end, he arrived at the recollection that his lecture on each occasion was to be on the "Lesson of Balzac."

His coming, as Mr. James pictured it roughly in his imagination before painting in the exquisitely refined details, was in a manner quite like himself. He had specified to his cousin, Mr. Higginson, only the day on which he would arrive, and he had coupled with this intelligence the request that he should not be "met" at the train even by members of the family. Secretly he nursed a fear of a reception delegation of Chicago's famous authors, and what he wanted of all things was the opportunity to study Chicago at first hand, without the assistance of local genius. For his taste he recognized that there was something fine about this preference—it was fine in itself, but he could in the course of time, at his leisure, make it artistically fine spun.

Analysis of the Cab Fare.

Our author was following out the intricacy of the idea when the cab stopped at the Northwestern railway station, and the thought which he then found completing the obsession of his consciousness was that of the material necessity of paying the driver.

Mr. James plunged to the blue depths of the matter at once. "How much is it?"

He was distinctly conscious of not looking at the cabman, but he could not be sure whether [illegible] from an instinct not to or only a mastery of nonchalance customary on such occasions. The Jehu poising his whip almost felt that it was one of his "fare" to have assumed such an attitude of nonchalance, which he accepted as a token of sufferance to charge a quarter extra. He spoke boldly. "Seventy-five cents, sir."

For his part our friend thought it fine, too, that the cabman should have charged only 75 cents when he might have charged a dollar, and he would have liked to reward him with grateful regard, but he had never indulged in such demonstrations toward cabbies, so contented himself in another manner, as he extracted a $1 bill. "You may keep the change, my man."

Welcomed in Winnetka.

Mr. James found himself welcomed at the Winnetka residence by both Mr. and Mrs. Higginson. As he had just permitted himself to anticipate in the most fleeting manner he was asked after his health before he was allowed to remove his great coat. He came out with a full confession. "I never felt better in my life."

If his entrance into Chicago had been strictly Jamesian it was even more to his taste that the author's host should have invited a number of congenial friends to dinner on this first evening. It was about 8 o'clock when the guests began "dropping in," as the Americans have it, and Mr. James found himself meeting in turn Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Greeley, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Elting, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Boyden, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Nelson, and Mrs. Edward Mead of New York.

On the part of the guests they found themselves presented to a man of solid, almost massive bulk, with a head of the grand and domelike proportions one instinctively felt were the architectural complement of such a physiological structure. Presently the guests fell under the fascination of the author's pleasantly intense eyes and the charm of his speech and then the party passed out to dinner.

Saved from a Reporter.

It was quite in the manner of the life that the author affects that he was not made aware and may never be made aware of the one untoward incident of the dinner. Mr. James, seated at the end of the long table, was just tasting the sole à la Marguery when a reporter for THE TRIBUNE arrived on the scene. By a process of reasoning which it is averred is a remarkably short cut compared with his more magnificent involutions Mr. James is reputed to have arrived at a consuming detestation of interviewers. Mr. Higginson saw his cousin's danger at a glance and hastened to meet the reporter.

"Mr. James is at dinner. Mr. James never permits anything to interrupt his dinner. The dinner will not be finished till midnight. Good-night."

MEN CHOSEN TO SLAY DUKES ARE CAUGHT IN MARSEILLES.

Police Take Six Russian Nihilists Who Had Been Selected to Kill Alexis and Vladimir in a Short Time.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

MARSEILLES, March 9.—Local police officials today captured six Russian nihilists belonging to the executive revolutionary committee of Moscow. It is believed they were in communication with former "Pope" Gapon. A search made in the rooms of the prisoners disclosed the fact that they had been selected for the assassination of Grand Dukes Alexis and Vladimir, and that they should have left Marseilles at once to execute their plan.

MARRYING KEEPS HIM BUSY.

CAUGHT IN GRAND PACIFIC.

Says Good-by to Wife to Hasten to Springfield, O., to Wed.

Bidding farewell to his wife and 16 year old daughter at a railway station in Chicago as they departed for a vacation in St. Louis, Harold Robinson, western agent of the C. H. Jenks Lumber company, hurried to another station to take the first train for Springfield, O., where two days later he was married to Jessie Louise Linn, daughter of one of the wealthiest residents of that city. The wedding on Jan. 20 was one of the social events of the season, the bride being a well known singer and a belle of the Ohio city.

Last evening residents of Springfield were astounded when informed that Robinson had just been arrested in Chicago charged with bigamy. A still earlier wife is dead.

Is Captured at Grand Pacific.

Robinson was captured in the Grand Pacific hotel by Detectives O'Connor and Fitzgerald of central headquarters on extradition papers issued earlier in the day by Gov. Herrick. From the Plaza, where he had staid since last Friday with his newest wife, the detectives traced the man to several downtown hotels, where he is said to have registered under assumed names. His bride had left him. The other Mrs. Robinson likewise had gone away.

The man's bigamous marriage is said to have followed a whirlwind courtship of Miss Linn, who, during three months, was leading vocalist in a concert company which appeared in cities that he visited as representative of his company. Naturally he made no mention of his wife and daughter and, after an ardent wooing, in which diamonds are said to have been "showered" on the young singer, Robinson proposed marriage and the date was fixed.

While Miss Linn went home to Springfield to prepare for the wedding Robinson hastened to Chicago and arranged for his wife and daughter to take a two months' vacation. They had resided with him in North State street. On Jan. 18 Mrs. Robinson and the child left Chicago ignorant of the man's plans, and two days later Robinson married Miss Linn.

Deserted Wife Becomes Suspicious.

Thereafter, for several weeks, the earlier Mrs. Robinson failed to hear from her husband. Finally, last week, the deserted wife returned to Chicago, and after a brief investigation learned that her husband had been spending a second honeymoon at the Plaza. She also discovered that her successor was a resident of Springfield. The deserted wife, who was Miss Alice Stephens of Piqua, O., then journeyed to Springfield, reaching there within a few hours of the arrival of the new Mrs. Robinson, who, having learned of her husband's deception, had left him to return to her parents.

Within a short time the two angry wives were brought together and compared notes. Warrants for the arrest of Robinson for bigamy then were issued by Magistrate Smith of Springfield and forwarded to Chicago. The capture followed.

In the central station last night the prisoner, who is 40 years old, refused to speak of his marital adventures.

"I am not a bigamist," he asserted, "and I'll be released within forty-eight hours."

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—Among purists in Great Britain it is asserted the "1" should be sounded in pronouncing the word "golf." Despite this dictum the pronunciation as "gowf" is as general in England as in this country, whether right or wrong. A man attended the recent annual meetings of the Metropolitan Golf association and the United States Golf association solely to keep notes on the way the speakers used the word "golf." The two meetings brought together representative golfers, and without exception all spoke of "goff."

TOKIO, March 10, 6 a. m.—It is reported that Gen. Kouropatkin has been driven out of Fushun and that the Japanese have entered Mukden.

It is believed the Russian central position is surrounded, and the army there almost annihilated.

It is officially stated that 200,000 Russians are surrounded.

RUSSIAN ARMY SURROUNDED.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—All reports from Mukden, St. Petersburg, and Tokio indicate that Oyama has drawn a cordon of guns around Kouropatkin's crushed and exhausted army.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times quotes late information from the general staff which shows that Kouropatkin's center army has been withdrawn from the Sha to the Hun, east of Mukden. The whole of Gen. Bildering's army is now southwest of Mukden. Gen. Linevitch is to the southeast, Gen. Kaulbars is to the northwest, and Rennenkampf's cavalry has gone to his assistance.

Japs on All Sides.

If the Russian general staff's information is correct Kouropatkin's army is indeed surrounded. Mukden dispatches say that the Japanese are north and northeast of Mukden. It is known that Oku is on the west, Nodzu on the south, and Kuroki on the east.

Much importance is attached to Gen. Kawamura's mysterious unlocated army, which is momentarily expected to complete the closing of the net around the defeated host by appearing somewhere in the extreme east, in the neighborhood of Kingtan, thus blocking the sole remaining route to Tie pass, through Wankiakou pass.

All dispatches from Russian sources prove that Oyama is tightening the screws in the ring of iron that incloses the defeated army, thus drawing the cordon tighter and tighter every hour.

Underground Wire to Tieling.

The continual receipt of dispatches from Mukden is explained by the Russian minister of posts, who states that Kouropatkin has underground telegraph wires to Tieling.

Russian reports late in the night asserted that Oku's advance northward had been checked near Tashichiao, eleven miles northwest of Mukden. Part of the Japanese force from Sinminting had tried to rush Tieling, but had to return south and join in the fighting near Tashichiao.

JAPS EAST OF MUKDEN.

MUKDEN, March 9, Noon (March 8, 10:37 p. m. Chicago Time).—The Japanese this morning bombarded the bridge at Fu pass, on the Hun river, twelve miles east of Mukden. Russian artillery replied vigorously. The cannonade lasted an hour.

At present the Japanese are making most energetic attacks south of the Hun river.

Eleven Days of Battle.

This is the eleventh day of the Titanic struggle for the possession of Mukden, and the mastery of a vast empire; the eleventh day of unceasing conflict under exploding shrapnel, the roar of cannon, and the whistling of bullets; the tenth day without sleep and without food. The combat is fast reaching a point where it is a question not so much of turning columns, or tactics, and of strategy, as of whose strength, energy, and cartridges will last the longer.

Gray coated Russians, patient, uncomplaining, strong of soul, have clung doggedly to positions against an enemy whose attacks go to the point of insanity and desperation.

Slaughter to End on Friday?

For forty-eight hours the Japanese have not eaten. They are starving and exhausted but Field Marshal Oyama himself is reported to have told them that the city will fall and the slaughter stop on Friday, and their confidence in their leader increased their strength tenfold.

On Wednesday, when the Russians took Ushuntun, a few dozen Japanese clung to the thick walled temple and refused all overtures to surrender. Cannon were brought up and breached the walls, but the daredevil courage of the defenders continued under the fire; and finally, when defense was hopeless, they blew themselves skyward with the ruins of the temple. One survivor, rather than surrender, threw himself into a stone rimmed well and perished. And yet the rank and file and inferior leaders, stern in their sense of duty, are as unsparing of themselves as of the men whom they led to death.

Iron Band Drawn Closer.

Stern Oyama drives and drives his troops northward to encircle the city. With every fresh flanking movement the iron band closes nearer the railroad, and under this menace the first and third armies were forced last night to abandon the mighty fortifications on the Shakhe river, give up the impregnable Poutiloff hill, and retire to the line of the Hun river.

Today (Thursday) the Japanese are pushing their columns north and northeast, bombarding villages which are keys of the defense, and hurling men, some of them veterans of the year's campaign and others middle aged reserves fresh from Japan, against Russian positions. Often they are repulsed and sometimes they master the advanced line, but at an enormous cost. Individuals and small parties have reached the railroad, cut the telegraph wires, and dislodged a few rails, but the damages were quickly repaired and the perpetrators usually killed or wounded.

Rescuing Raw Regiments.

Around the village of Pachiatsu there raged a fierce struggle. A veteran regiment of the imperial rifles distinguished itself especially, members earning St. George crosses time and again in supporting and rescuing raw regiments.

Lieut. Col. Sapolski, a brilliant and beloved officer, one of the heroes of Liaoyang and one of the first up Poutiloff hill, who chose to die rather than surrender, was killed at Pachiatsu.

Just behind Pachiatsu, under the shadow of a clump of pines in the dark of the imperial tombs, sits the commander of another division, Col. Launits, directing the attack on Santaitse and the defense of Ushuntun. With a swish like that of the silken skirts of a well dressed dame, Shimose shells hurtle past, and occasional bullets whistle by. Every few minutes the bell of the telephone at his feet jingles and he reports to the commander of the army. Now a Cossack orderly gallops up and reports that the Russian troops are leaving Pachiatsu, that the Japanese have seized the village, and with it the bodies of Sapolski and half his regiment.

Kaulbers Under Fire.

The middle of the afternoon, in a cloud of dust and surrounded by his staff and escort, Gen. Kaulbers canters up, sits quietly a few minutes under fire inspecting the position, and then continues his rounds.

Errant bullets now and then strike village huts, raising a cloud of plaster or little spatters of dust in the mandarin road.

Now the fight slackens. The Russians appear to be gaining ground; but in an instant of comparative stillness is heard the muffled thud and shuffle of the feet of Japanese reserves advancing on the run to restore the balance.

Uneasy Night in Mukden.

Mukden slept uneasily last night. In the main street the lamps burned dimly. Along the dark roads in heavy dust were marching columns. The cool night was full of the low rustle of movement. Near the station, in overfilled hospitals, were heard low groans. The wounded were arriving in a never ceasing stream of carts, and another stream of ambulances was moving northward, for the place must be cleared for the new day's victims. The eternal pines whispered above the tombs of Chinese emperors. In the fields watch fires were burning. The sky was lighted with the glare of burning stores and evacuated villages.

The forces were gathering for another day's fight.

Beginning of the Retreat.

The story of the battle around Mukden since Tuesday is the story of continual Russian disasters. The evacuation of the entire Shakhe-Machuntan position began at midnight Tuesday, and by Wednesday forenoon the entire south front was retiring.

The Japanese, apprehending the movement, are themselves rushing north around the Russian right, to the west, and north of Mukden.

Preceding the retirement the heavy firing which extended along the entire south front was for the first time audible at Mukden throughout the entire night and increasing with the day as it approached the west and north.

The evacuation of the Shakhe position involved its abandonment of several hundred miles of field and overland railways and telegraphs, enormous defensive works, Red Cross supplies, towns, fuel, and forage stores, the latter of which it was necessary to burn. The military roads covered 500 square miles. The smoke of battle and fires everywhere obscured the lines, and it was almost impossible to longer distinguish one conflagration from another.

Fighting West of Mukden.

While the retreat of the armies south of Mukden was thus in progress the Japanese forces continued to fight their way around the west to positions north of Mukden. Tuesday night they broke through the Russian lines northwest of the city, reached the railroad, and slightly damaged the line. The Russians later drove them away, the line was repaired, and traffic was resumed.

Early Wednesday morning heavy fighting was in progress against the Russian right flank division, and a report was received of the presence of columns of Japanese troops far to northward, east of the railroad, and marching westward.

As Wednesday advanced the Japanese attack on the west and northeast became so persistent that the Russian divisions on the extreme right and left, north of the city, were compelled to withdraw.

During Wednesday night the Japanese attacked the village of Santaitse, five miles north of the imperial tombs, northeast of Mukden.

During the fighting on Wednesday Gen. Kaulbars decorated with his own cross of St. George a sharpshooter named Ivan Barkoff, who, though wounded in the hand, declined to go to the rear and have it bandaged. Gen. Kaulbars, on ascertaining that Barkoff had previously been twice wounded at the battle of Liaoyang and at the Shakhe river, dismounted, kissed the man, and pinned his cross on Barkoff's breast.

The fighting on the right flank was so severe on Wednesday that the supply of bandages was exhausted, and the surgeons were so fatigued that they were scarcely able to hold their instruments.

Japanese Troops Mowed Down.

The Russian forces in the district of Tzuanvanche, north of the Mukden station, had rested under arms throughout Tuesday night, but shortly before the dawn of Wednesday a large Japanese force approached the Zaraitser regiment. This regiment allowed the Japanese to approach within 200 paces and then discharged a volley from their rifles and opened on them with quick firing guns, simply mowing down the Japanese, who were repulsed.

Among the prisoners brought in on Wednesday were a number of privates in new uniforms, who were from a recently organized Japanese reserve division. There is reason to believe that another division is being landed in the northern part of Corea for the purpose of making a demonstration against Vladivostok.

On Wednesday, too, there were furious attacks northwest of Mukden against the villages of Santaitse, Yangshihtun, and Ushuntun. These attacks were all repulsed.

Battle in a Hurricane.

The wind today (Thursday) attained hurricane force. The soldiers are so covered with mud and dirt that their faces are scarcely recognizable. Gen. Kouropatkin and his staff are in little better plight.

Civilians are streaming northward out of Mukden.

The hospitals here are now crowded, but the service continues adequate.

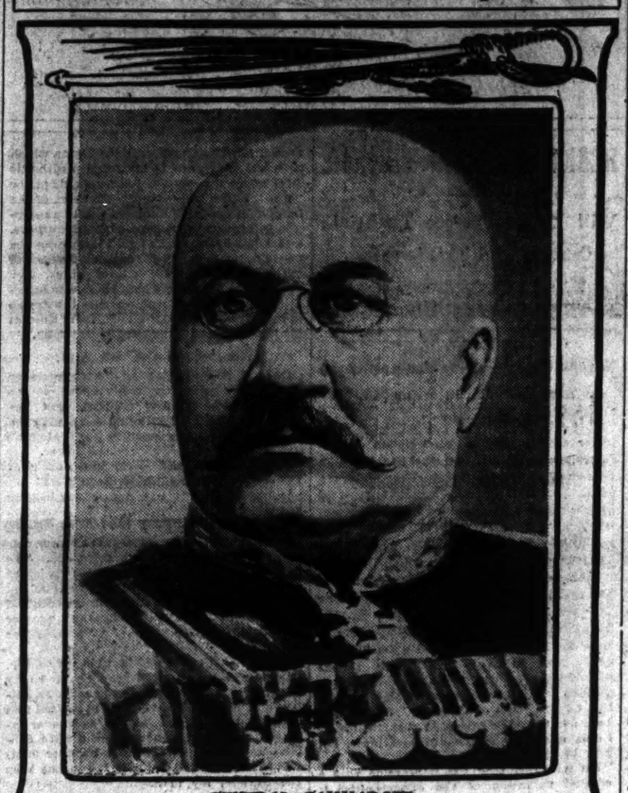

Only sunlight and the mildness of the weather prevent indescribable sufferings amongst the wounded, and the supports, and the reserves, who are obliged to dig deep on the wide, shelterless plain and lie widely extended in order to escape the shrapnel, which is sown broadcast for fifteen miles on the west, while all the troops on nearly ninety miles of battle line are constantly exposed.

Japanese in a Turning Movement That Cost Much Blood.

GENERAL SAKHAROFF

It seems to be taken for granted in St. Petersburg that Kouropatin will be recalled and Gen. Sakharoff, the minister of war, is picked as the man most likely to take his place as head of the army in Manchuria. Gen. Sakharoff is 64 years old, a veteran of the Turkish war, and was chief of staff of the army in Turkestan when he was called to St Petersburg to succeed Kouropatkin as minister of war a year ago. His younger brother is Kouropatkin's chief of staff in Manchuria.

JAP ARMY AT TIE PASS?

NEWCHWANG, March 9.—It is reported here that Tie pass has been invested by the Japanese, and that Gen. Kouropatkin, having no alternative, probably will be forced to surrender within a week.

The Japanese have a large force at Tawa, on the main road, fifteen miles north of Pinglupa, and another large force to the northwest, on both sides of the railroad.

Couriers arriving here aver that Gen. Nogi's army, acting in conjunction with Gen. Oku's army, has surrounded 80,000 Russians in the direction of Tie pass and cut off their supplies.

The hurrying Japanese armies passed a division of Russians without giving it any attention until the enveloping movement was completed, when they crushingly attacked the Russians on all sides.

NOGI CUTS THE RAILROAD.

WITH THE JAPANESE LEFT ARMIES, Wednesday, March 8, Noon (March 7, 10:47 p. m. Chicago Time).—The left (Nogi's) armies have cut and destroyed the railroad between Mukden and Tie pass. The Russians are in retreat over the northern roads.

The left column of these armies is at Likampu, seven miles north of the Hun river and five miles west of the railroad, and has had a fierce fight with a Russian force thrice its number. The Russian casualties number 10,000.

RUSSIAN RETREAT BLOCKED.

TOKIO, March 9, 4 p. m. (March 8, 12:42 a. m. Chicago Time).—The Japanese have cut the railway north of Mukden.

It is rumored that Gen. Kouropatkin's retreat has been partly cut off, insuring heavy losses of supplies and the capture of many prisoners; but this it is impossible to confirm.

Field Marshal Oyama in an order directing the pursuit of the retreating Russians, has prohibited his troops from entering Mukden in masses, in order to preserve the respect of the tombs and sacred places of the imperial Chinese household and to protect the welfare of the inhabitants.

The situation at the front is outlined in the following report from the headquarters of the Japanese armies in the field:

"In the Singking (Yenden) direction our force, after defeating the enemy at Maghuntan, is still pursuing him in the Shakhe river direction.

"East of the railroad, the enemy showing signs of retreat, our whole line opened a general attack from midnight March 7 and dislodged the enemy from his positions, pressing his force towards the Hun river.

"The whole district west of the railroad and south of the Hun river is in our hands.

Drive Russians Toward Mukden.

"The enemy in the neighborhood of Yangshihtun and Likuanpao still makes a stubborn resistance. The enemy made several counter attacks, but we repulsed them, inflicting heavy loss. Our force is now pressing the enemy toward Mukden.

"In the district north of Mukden, despite the enemy's obstinate resistance, we have occupied Siaochitun, five miles northwest of Mukden; Pachiatzu, two miles northeast of Siaochitun; and Santaitse, five miles north of Mukden. Our force destroyed the railroad north of Mukden."

A second dispatch received from headquarters today says:

"Since yesterday the enemy has frequently and fiercely shelled our killed and wounded, who were being removed on stretchers and in carriages west of Ningkuantun, near Yangshihtun."

Tokio Celebrating Victory.

Although the actual extent of the success gained by Field Marshal Oyama's army is unknown, Tokio is already celebrating the victory. Flags are going up all over the city and crowds are on the streets, eagerly buying the extra editions of the local papers, and congratulations are pouring into the office of the minister of war and to the army staff headquarters.

RUSSIAN VALOR IN VAIN.

RENNENKAMPFF'S HEADQUARTERS, MADYADANI, March 7, 6 a. m. (March 6, 5:47 p. m. Chicago Time).—In pursuance of orders to retake at any cost the positions at Oubendusa, lost at nightfall, the Russians at midnight stormed and recaptured the hills in the center. A weird review preceded the attack, as the regiments selected for this service filed past Gen. Rennenkampff in dead silence with pale, set faces, illuminated by the rays of the moon. As the last set of fours passed the general turned his horse and departed, saying:

"Send me word when you succeed."

His confidence was justified, for without a shout or firing a shot the storming column swept like a tital wave over the successive lines of Japanese covering the hills.

Among the Russian and Japanese dead on the hills was a Japanese general in full uniform.

RUSSIA'S LOAN ON HARD TERMS.

French Bankers Lay Down Galling Conditions for New Issue of $100,000,000 Bonds.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says French financiers are laying down galling terms for the new Russian loan of $100,000,000. They insist upon a commission higher by 1 per cent than was paid for the recent loan floated in Germany.

No doubt the loan will be issued, but it will create an extremely arduous problem for the Russian minister of finance.

Russian bank notes representing 400,000,000 rubles ($200,000,000) in excess of the necessary paper currency are now in circulation.

AMERICANS TO SEE THE WAR.

Gen. MacArthur, Capt. West, and Capt. Pershing Leave Tokio for the Front.

TOKIO, March 9.—Gen. MacArthur and Capts. West and Pershing started for the front tonight. Capt. West has been assigned to Gen. Oku's army and Capt. Pershing to Gen. Kuroki's forces. Lieut. Gen. Terauchi Masaki, minister of war, dined with Gen. MacArthur last night at the American legation. Twenty high officers of the army and navy, with their staffs, were present. Toasts were given in honor of President Roosevelt, the emperor of Japan, the American and Japanese armies and navies.

JAPS TO TAKE SINMINTIN LINE?

Tokio Government Insists That Chinese Railroad Transport Supplies, Just as It Did for Russia.

TIENTSIN, March 9.—The Japanese have requested the transportation of 450 tons of rice to Sinmintin. Unless the request is complied with the Japanese threaten to seize the railroad. It is believed to be a test case. The Russians' constant shipment of wheat and coal to Sinmintin was not interfered with, and the Japanese demand impartiality. Today they again seized the telegraph office at Sinmintin.

ASKS CZAR TO LEAD ARMY

Emperor of Russia Told That He Will Be Far Safer in the Midst of His Faithful Soldiers in Manchuria than in His Palaces—St. Petersburg Has Had No Word from Kouropatkin Since Wednesday—Nothing Known of the Situation at the Front.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, March 10, 3 a. m.—The newspapers here state on authority of St. Petersburg correspondents that the war party not only is not discouraged by the heavy Russian reverses but is actually trying to arrange for the dispatch to Manchuria of another army of 400,000 men.

The supporters of the war, it is asserted, are trying to persuade the czar to take command personally of this army, representing to him that he will be much safer in the midst of his faithful soldiers than in his palaces.

If the czar declines to take the command, which it is expected he will do, a grand duke will be given nominal command, but the real leader will be Gen. Sukhomlinoff, a young officer of great capacity, who would succeed Gen. Kouropatkin.

The mobilization of the Thirteenth army corps already has been ordered.

ST. PETERSBURG IN THE DARK.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10, 3:05 a. m.—St. Petersburg this morning knows little more of the outcome of the battle of Mukden than it knew Wednesday night, and little more of the fate of Gen. Kouropatkin's beaten army. It is not even known whether the railroad has been cut and communications destroyed, though it is believed that the reported destruction of the line by Gen. Oku's army refers to the damage inflicted on Wednesday, which was not serious, though traffic was twice interrupted.

It is evident, however, that the Japanese are pressing closer this indispensable line of retreat. Their shells occasionally cut the wires of the telegraph lines paralleling the railroad, and civilian linesmen are displaying no less bravery than their soldier associates by climbing the poles and replacing the wires under fire.

Russian Retreat Cut Off.

The most important news received from Russian sources is the information that the Japanese already have reached the Hun river. Fu pass is only twelve miles east of Mukden and well westward of Gen. Linevitch's line of retreat.

The general staff has received only one dispatch from Gen. Sakharoff, Gen. Kouropatkin's chief of staff, since Wednesday. It reads:

"Several fierce attacks on our north front were made during the night. They were all repulsed.

"In other directions the night was quiet."

Whether the extreme Russian left has already succeeded in retiring behind the Hun river and moving down the north bank of that stream to join hands with Gen. Kouropatkin's main force is not stated; but it is extremely probable that unless the Russians are able to defend the crossing at Fu pass, Gen. Rennenkampff's corps and perhaps additional forces will be cut off and have to shift for themselves in the mountainous region north of Fushun, against expeditionary forces of Japanese which are reported from Chinese sources to be racing towards Tie pass.

Censorship Is Strict.

The censor allows no word to pass, but it was stated here yesterday that Gen. Kouropatkin had been for some time assembling a force of reserves at Tie pass and Harbin with this eventuality in view, to defend the pass and positions until he can make or fight his way back.

This is carnival week according to the Russian calendar, but the stern hand of fate has moved the dial forward and plunged the city into lenten gloom and despondency. The pessimism yesterday was even deeper than on Wednesday. Many military officials are openly speculating as to how long the fragment of the once great army of Manchuria will be able to hold the line on the Hun river and, if Field Marshal Oyama has actually succeeded inspecting his trap, how long it will be before thousands of Russians will be effecting in Japan a junction with their Port Arthur comrades whose former failure is written by the trench interred corpses at Vafangow and Haicheng.

DISASTER ENDS 1905 CAMPAIGN.

Russia Will Be Unable to Assemble Another Army in East Until October.

GLOOMY VIEW FOR CZAR.

Monarch Faces Revolt at Home Whether He Decides on Peace or War.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—Bennet Burleigh, writing in the Daily Telegraph, says:

"Field Marshal Oyama has achieved the crowning victory of the war. At the moment of writing it looks as if the end had come for Kouropatkin and the Russian arms in Manchuria, for it is officially reported from Tokio that 200,000 Russian troops are surrounded. If that is the case the campaign is as good as finished. Certainly it is for 1905, for another quarter of a million of men cannot be sent across the Siberian railway and put in the field any time this side of next October.

"If the rout of the Russians is so bad as to carry them into and beyond Tieling without putting up another fierce fight, then there is no resting place for them short of Harbin, and that would involve the isolation and fall of Vladivostok.

Nogi's Daring March.

"Should it turn out to be the case that Gen. Nogi has disregarded the insignificant Russian detachments standing between him and his objective, and is making a bold advance upon Tieling, then in truth is it all up with the Russian army in Manchuria. I know that he has with him an able and fine soldier in Gen. Iditti, one of the brightest and most dashing of the younger Japanese leaders, and the investment or even capture of Tieling is the sort of a master stroke that either he or Gen. Nogi, or both, would fervently attempt.

"Still, let it not be forgotten, that Kouropatkin is a hard fighter and a brilliant general, whom I hold to have made the best possible use of the means at his disposal.

Possibility of Capitulation.

"Everybody who knows what is happening is discussing the possibility of capitulation, but what is likely to follow capitulation has not been even spoken of by officials. A St. Petersburg correspondent says he has questioned diplomatists there and found that they are unconcerned. They stoutly declare that obstinacy is Russia's forte, adding that it will be premature to expect her to abandon the game.

"One correspondent quotes an officer as saying that a new army will be formed if Gen. Kouropatkin is crushed. The formation of the new army will not be abandoned even if negotiations for peace are decided upon, because such an army would enable Russia to negotiate with greater effect."

Holding the Czar Responsible.

"The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says a military disaster at the present juncture will probably mean a calamity to the régime, because the whole Russian people are now keenly conscious that the czar personally is responsible for continuing the campaign, which the ministers and many of his official advisers, as well as the whole people, wish to see ended without further delay.

Now that Gen. Kouropatkin is utterly beaten, the Czar finds himself confronted by the entire nation, whose outcry for peace may soon become clamorous and violent, and will, in the most favorable case, contain humiliating condemnation of the policy of a monarch whose intelligence and will are supposed to be equal to the task of governing 140,000,000 people without expert advice or popular control.

Revolution in Either Case.

The dilemma awaiting the autocracy is now open rebellion if the war is continued and open rebellion if peace is concluded and the autocratic principle maintained.

The number of soldiers who refuse to go to the far east is increasing. Many have been shot after trial by courts martial, while others have been condemned to penal servitude. At this moment sixty-one cavalrymen are being tried at Vladikavkaz for refusing to go to the front.

If the czar now refuses to make peace the strike in all probability will spread to the army and the Siberian railway, which may any moment be thus paralyzed.

But even if the railway is protected from the strike it cannot make good Gen. Kouropatkin's neglect to provide for a retreat to Harbin.

The same correspondent says he is creditably informed that Gen. Kouropatkin had all his provisions and ammunition stored at Mukden and that he left practically nothing at Harbin. It is for that reason that he was so reluctant to withdraw from Mukden. The plight of his retreating army now must be desperate.

CZAR PAYS ENGLAND $325,000.

Damages Caused by Rojestvensky's Target Practice in the North Sea Settled by a Check.

LONDON, March 9.—Count Benkendorff, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain, today paid $325,000 to foreign secretary Lansdowne in settlement of the North sea claims, and the incident was thus closed.

RUSSIA TO FIGHT BRITAIN NEXT?

SAYS WAR IS INEVITABLE

Unusual Military Activity in Turkestan Region Interpreted.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—A Russian of high position is authority for the statement that sooner or later war between Russia and Great Britain is inevitable, as Russia will not sit idly by while England continues to strengthen her influence in those portions of Asia in which Russia is vitally concerned. Referring to the action of Russia in steadily reinforcing her military strength in the peninsula, which is actively going on, he said:

"Russia has not any designs on India, as England is so fond of alleging. If Great Britain would only let us alone we would not trouble her; but we are not blind to the manner in which Great Britain has seized the occasion of the present war to buttress all her interests in central Asia, where we have as vital interests as she; nor can we Russians get over the idea that sooner or later a conflict with our traditional enemy is inevitable, and we realize that our only path to victory lies in the direction of India.

"Without going back to Lord Curzon's bombastic proclamations or anything prior to the war, and omitting consideration of the manner in which she has sought to embarrass and discredit us in its prosecution, we recall what Great Britain has done in Asia since the outbreak of hostilities, and ask whether Russia would not be justified in making a counter move to Younghusband's expedition to Tibet, which was in direct violation of Great Britain's solemn assurances to us.

Russia Will Not Submit.

"Younghusband negotiated a treaty which so closely approached a protectorate over Tibet that the British government was obliged to administer a public rebuke to him. Then Lord Kitchener's scheme for the reorganization of the Indian army blossomed and a so-called commercial expedition was sent to Persia. The son of the ameer of Afghanistan was next brought to Bombay. Then pressure was put upon Turkey to settle the Aden hinterland question, and now there is a project of autonomous Arabia.

"Great Britain has been making hay while the sun shone. But Russia cannot hold her hands and see Tibet and Afghanistan converted into Bhutans or Nepals nor Persia placed completely under British influence. I have no personal knowledge of what if any steps have been taken in Turkestan, but Great Britain will find Russia is not so engrossed or helpless as to be obliged to relinquish border states to her mercy without a struggle."

Verifies Military Reports.

Sensational rumors of the dispatch of reinforcements for Russian Turkestan were current two months ago, but they were then denied. These reports now are affirmed on the authority of a traveler of unimpeachable veracity, who has just arrived from Tashkend, and who was a personal witness of military activity on the recently completed Orenburg-Tashkend and other strategic railroads through Merv to Krasnovodsk. Troops, guns, and munitions of war have been moving southward for two months. Between the middle of January and the middle of February fifty-six military trains, mostly carrying artillery, arrived at Tashkend.

The guns were mostly sent from Merv, from whence a purely military railway line goes to Kushk. The traveler in question was informed, although he had no personal knowledge on the point, that Russian troops had crossed Pamir through Terek pass and garrisoned Kashgar. The Orenburg-Tashkend railroad was so crowded that the traveler was forced to return by way of Krasnovodsk.

Great Secrecy Observed.

The informant states that the greatest secrecy is observed. Travelers, who are rare, must be provided with special permits from the minister of war, and are kept under the closest surveillance. The baggage of this traveler twice was seized and searched, although his papers were regular. It is most significant that local officials have been ordered not to permit Englishmen to travel in Russian Turkestan, and steamship captains on the Caspian sea have been forbidden to allow Englishmen to land on the eastern shore. At Krasnovodsk the informant was told that two English officers who were traveling in disguise are languishing in prison.

The informant said the greatest tranquillity prevailed in the Turkestan region. At Bokhara there were only vague rumors that a war was in progress, and absolutely nothing was known regarding political developments in European Russia. The only explanation of the renewal of Russia's military activity there is that it probably is a demonstration to impress Afghanistan.

Attempt to Slay Governor.

Col. Progoulbitsky, governor of the province of Kutais, has been the object of an attempted assassination by two men at Sukhum. The would be murderers fired six shots from revolvers at the governor, but he was not hit. The motive is believed to have been political.

A telegram from Ekaterinoslav, South Russia, says five miners have been killed and fifteen wounded in a conflict between strikers of the Shoerbinoff mines and the Auerbach quicksilver mines and soldiers in the district of Bakhmut.

Revolutionary disorders have broken out at Smolensk, middle Russia. Bands of demonstrators are marching through the streets carrying red flags.

WARSAW, March 10.—One of the assistant commissioners of the police was fatally shot at 1 o'clock last evening by an unknown assailant, who escaped.

Peasant Army Burns and Loots.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Kieff states that 3,000 peasants from the Orlovka district are marching southwest burning and looting estates. Nineteen places have been devastated. The peasants are accompanied by carts in which they carry their plunder. They burn what they cannot remove. They burned the Mikhailoffsky sugar refinery. They also robbed the employés. It is reported they also burned the Derniginsky refinery, which belonged to the crown. The peasants sell their loot to local peasants at trifling prices. Thus far they have met with no resistance, but troops now have been sent to deal with them.

The correspondent at St. Petersburg of the Morning Post says Minister of the Interior Bouligan resigned, but that the emperor requested him to remain in office and that he consented to retain the portfolio temporarily.

London Report That Rojestvensky's Position in Indian Ocean Is Weakened Owing to Difficulty of Coaling Vessels—Fear of Togo Declared to Be Factor—Russia Cancels Orders for Supplies for Vessels — Seek Crews for Chartered Craft.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 9.—It is reported at Dover that all Russian fleets have been ordered to concentrate in the English channel to await instructions. Admiral Rojestvensky's position in the Indian ocean has been made impossible by the difficulty of coaling his vessels.

Despite the fact that Russian agents are offering enormous premiums they are unable to secure insurance on numerous steamers bought from Great Britain and Germany as colliers.

Fear of Togo Factor.

It also is reported that the uncertainty regarding the whereabouts of Admiral Togo, combined with the coaling difficulty, will hasten Admiral Rojestvensky's departure from Madagascar.

The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says Admiral Rojestvensky telegraphed the ministry of marine that four of his warships are unable to fire their guns owing to the fact that they are too heavily armed.

Russia Stops Fleet Supplies.

PARIS, March 9.—The Temps dispatch from Madagascar announcing that Rojestvensky's fleet was returning to Jibutil, French Somaliland, is generally accepted as being a fact, and appears to be coincident with Russia's canceling large orders for supplies and munitions to be forwarded to the Russian second Pacific squadron.

Capt. Clado, who is Rojestvensky's tactical chief of staff, was expected to join the squadron on the conclusion of the inquiry into the North sea incident, but has received orders to return to St. Petersburg. Before his departure, Clado published a personal pamphlet in which he set forth the imperative necessity for strengthening Rojestvensky's squadron before the latter was compelled to engage Admiral Togo.

Clado maintained that this required the speedy concentration of a third squadron and also adding the best ships of the Black sea fleet to Rojestvensky's squadron.

Seek Crews for Chartered Ships.

BERLIN, March 10.—Hamburg specials say the Hamburg-American Steamship company again has begun to employ crews for the fourteen steamers chartered by Russia, and is loading coal. The Lokal Anzeiger's Hamburg correspondent says the vessels were sold to Russia, but other correspondents say they were chartered. One dispatch says the Palatia and Armenia will return to Hamburg immediately after going to Libau.

34,000 DIE OF PLAGUE IN WEEK.

Bubonic Infection Has Claimed Nearly Three Million Victims in India in Few Years.

CALCUTTA, March 9.—The deaths from the plague last week numbered 34,000. Statistics show that the deaths from bubonic plague in India within a few years reach nearly 3,000,000. In 1903 the mortality in India from the plague alone was 850,000. The number of deaths recorded last week while extraordinary is not unprecedented.

The infection recently spread to Burmah, where it is making rapid strides. This season of the year always favors its spread.

The Indian government is making every effort to eradicate it, destroying by burning whole sections of towns and segregating the inhabitants. But owing to the climate and the sanitary conditions of the outlying districts and native sections of the towns, it is difficult to cope with the epidemic, which breaks out continually at fresh points. The deaths are said to be 90 per cent of those infected.

NORWAY CABINET IS FORMED.

Coalition Ministry Is Result of Crisis, M. Micholsen Becoming Premier.

COPENHAGEN, March 9.—The cabinet crisis in Norway has been settled by the formation of a coalition ministry, of which M. Micholsen is the premier. Lovland, a former minister, will head the section of the state council sitting at Stockholm. The other members are Gen. Olssen and Messrs. Lehmkuhl, Vogt, Hagerup, Bull, Vinjo, Arctander, Wexelsen, and Knudsen. The distribution of portfolios has not yet been announced.

RUSSIANS AT WRONG PORT.

Emigrants Are Landed at Buenos Ayres Instead of Los Angeles, and Are Penniless.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—A party of twenty Russian emigrants on their way to Los Angeles have been landed from a steamer at Buenos Ayres, Argentine republic, by mistake. The mistake was made by the emigration agent in Russia, who booked the party for the wrong port. Their condition is pitiable. They are unfamiliar with the country and language. The local Russian colony will bring them here.

KAISER PRAISES JAP SOLDIERS.

BERLIN, March 9.—Emperor William, addressing the naval recruits at Wilhelmshaven today, held up the Japanese soldiers as a luminous example of patriotism and soldierly fidelity.

CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND.

Walter Hume Long, Secretary of London Government Board, Accepts Office.

LONDON, March 10.—Walter Hume Long, president of the local government board, has accepted the office of chief secretary for Ireland.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

LONDON.—The question of home rule for Ireland was the feature of the speech of Lord Rosebery before the City of London Liberal club. He said while the liberal party sympathized with Ireland and was willing to proceed along the lines of administrative reform, "there is one thing to which no wise statesman ever will expose the country—namely: the curse of a dual government. We have sufficient warnings in the example of Norway and Sweden and Austria and Hungary to avoid the peril of having the vulture gnawing at our vitals."

BARCELONA.—Rioting among the unemployed here following a meeting to protest against the carnival while 40,000 persons are starving, occurred near the Fine Arts building. It resulted in the destruction of a painting by Goya and some sculptures.

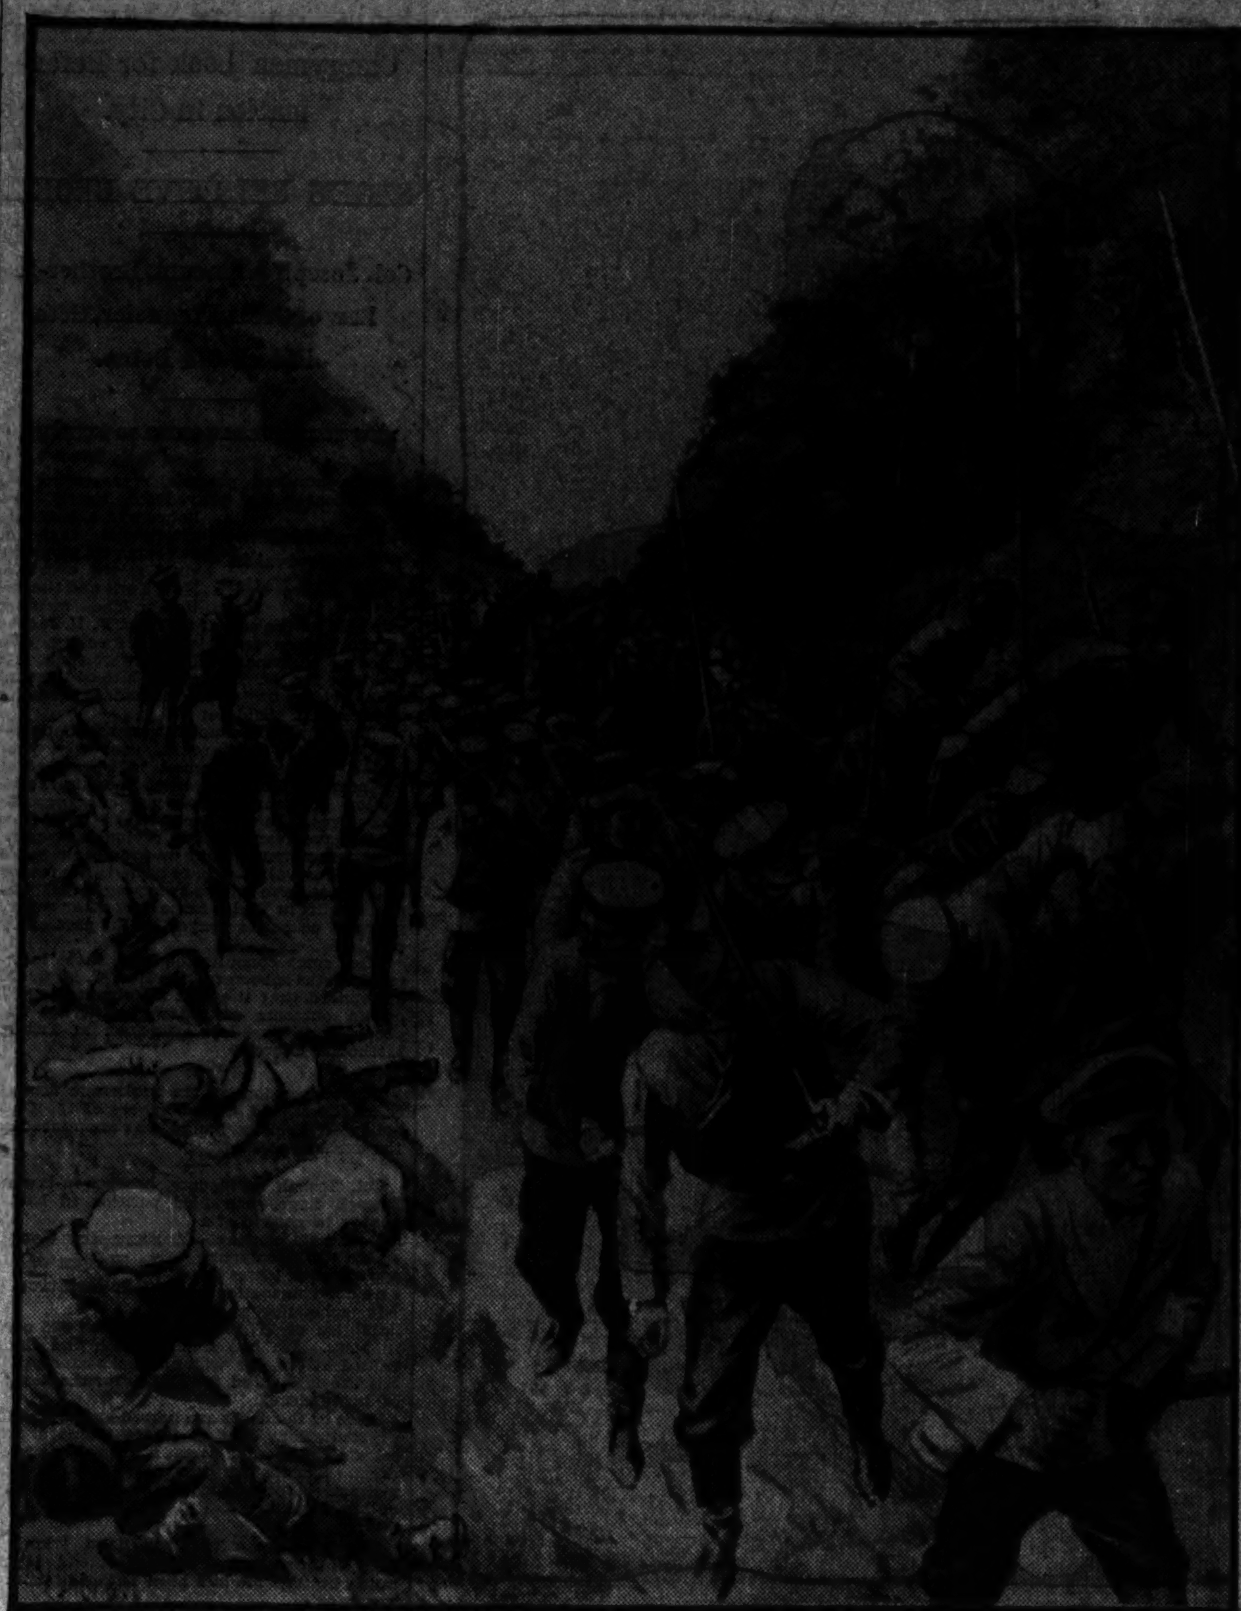

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies.—The Italian third class cruiser Calabria has arrived here from Gibraltar, having on board Prince Ferdinand (Prince d'Udine), son of the duke of Genoa, who is on a voyage around the world.

MADRID.—It is officially stated that nearly half the mortality here last month was children under 4 years of age, their deaths numbering 615. Starvation, misery, and carelessness are given as the chief causes.

LONDON.—Sir Henry Irving has signed a contract for an American tour under the management of Charles Frohman and beginning in October. He probably will open in New York between Oct. 10 and Oct. 15.

MAN DEAD; FUNDS SHORT.

CHARGES MADE IN CASE OF LATE TREASURER NEILL OF ARCANUM.

After Short Illness Official of Progressive Council of the Society Passes Away—Investigation Shows Accounts Irregular, It Is Said, and Secretary W. A. Miller Estimates More than $3,000 Is Missing—Organization Protected by Indemnity.

An apparent shortage, estimated at $3,500, in the accounts of James D. Neill, treasurer of Progressive council, Royal Arcanum, was not discovered until it was too late for Mr. Neill to explain. The treasurer died suddenly last Saturday, under circumstances that made a coroner's investigation advisable. A verdict of death from natural causes was returned.

The books of the dead official are being investigated.

Secretary W. A. Miller of the council said yesterday the exact amount of the shortage had not been determined. The council is protected against loss by a bond in the Fraternal Societies' Coöperative Indemnity company.

The family and friends of Mr. Neill, who was 43 years of age, are unable to account for the seeming deficit. The late treasurer was devoted to his family. He did not play the races or cards. So far as is known, he was not a speculator. He did not live extravagantly.

Books Straight in January.

To add to the mystery, Mr. Neill's books, when they were audited Jan. 14, showed no shortage. A little over a month later, when he sent checks for the January assessment of members of his council to the supreme council, it was discovered he had overdrawn his account at the Union Trust company bank.

The shortage was not found out definitely until last Friday. Mr. Neill had seemed in mental distress for some days, and complained also of physical illness. Saturday afternoon he said he would lie down for a few moments. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Neill discovered her husband was unconscious. He died in a few minutes. Mrs. Neill, the widow, and seven children live at 6427 Jefferson avenue.

Secretary Tells of Trouble.

"So far as we can learn," said Secretary Miller, "the shortage is between $3,000 and $4,000. Mr. Neill was liked in the order, and the blow was a severe one to us."

The first intimation the members of Progressive council had that anything was wrong followed their receipt of a circular letter asking them to pay their dues for the coming quarter a month in advance.

The Progressive council, with 2,500 members, is the largest in the Royal Arcanum. Last December, after a hot election, the old regent, Harvey Strickler, and Secretary J. K. Taylor, were defeated. Of the old officers the only ones retained were Mr. Neill and the collector, George Roth. Two weeks ago Mr. Strickler became regent of a new council, called the "I Will."

BRYAN LOSES IN WILL FIGHT.

Connecticut Supreme Court Sustains Ruling Against the Sealed Letter in Bennett Case.

Hartford, Conn., March 9.—In a decision handed down by the Supreme court today the Superior court is upheld in declaring that the sealed letter in the Philo S. Bennett will containing a bequest of $50,000 to William J. Bryan is not a part of the Bennett will. The case went up on Mr. Bryan's appeal from the Superior court's decision.

MAY BE "RING BURGLAR."

GORDON JOHNSON ACCUSED OF VERA FOWLER ROBBERY.

Mrs. E. H. Fishburn and Her Granddaughter See Prisoner at Maxwell Street Police Station, but Girl Is Not Certain He Is Man Who Entered Huron Street House—Another Suspect Taken, and Jewelry Recovered, Much of Which Is Identified.

The "kind hearted burglar" who returned to Vera Fowler a ring which he thought was her mother's is a prisoner at the Maxwell street station, the police say. He is Gordon Johnson, known to the police as "Canada Johnny." With George Cramer, also a prisoner, Johnson is accused of many recent robberies and a quantity of stolen property has been identified.

Mrs. Eugene H. Fishburn, 422 Huron street, Vera Fowler's grandmother, took the girl to the station yesterday to identify the prisoner if possible. When the Fishburn residence was robbed recently the thieves entered the young girl's room and tore several rings from her fingers. It was thought she would know the robbers, but as she left the station after viewing Johnson she said: "I don't know whether that's one of the men or not."

How Man Was Captured.

Sunday night Lieutenant Larkin and Detective O'Donnell met Johnson and May Brown at Halsted and Twelfth streets. The lieutenant recognized the woman as a former "panel worker." The suspected man and woman ran when they saw they were recognized with the policemen in pursuit. Johnson ran into a man and fell. Larkin overpowered him before he could regain his feet. O'Donnell captured the woman. The police suppressed the fact of the arrest and began a thorough search for Johnson's associates.

Cramer and Olive May were found at 100 Aberdeen street and in the room the police seized a quantity of jewelry.

Much Property Is Identified.

Some of the property recovered was identified as part of the plunder secured in the following burglaries:

Wilson M. Backus, 1519 Adams street, house broken into and robbed of $300 worth of jewelry and silverware a week ago. Mr. Backus' gold watch found in Cramer's room.

W. H. Miller, 1540 Jackson boulevard; burglary committed Jan. 28 and $400 worth of property taken. Silverware found in Cramer's room.

A. J. Fuller, 1148 Wilcox avenue; house robbed on March 5. Gold watch, souvenir coins, and other jewelry valued at $200 stolen and found in Cramer's room.

The return of Miss Fowler's ring was the climax to a startling robbery. Two days after the publication of a statement that one of the rings taken had belonged to her dead mother the girl received a letter. It explained that the ring reminded the thief of his own mother and so he was returning it. A ring was inclosed, but not the right one.

PRISONER HEADS OFF BURGLAR.

Man Confined in County Jail Sees Attempt to Break Into Saloon and Policemen Make Arrest.

A prisoner in the county jail turned detective last night, and as the result a man giving the name of Daniel McGuire, was arrested while trying to break into the saloon of Peter Johannes, 67 Dearborn avenue.

The prisoner, whose name the jail officials refused to make public, was looking through an east window in the big building at 9 o'clock, and saw McGuire at work on the lock of the front door of the saloon. He called the attention of a guard to the man's movements, and the latter promptly telephoned the Chicago avenue station.

Detective Sergeants Pearsall and Stift and Detective Buttimer responded. The would be burglar was alarmed in time to try to escape, and shots fired by the policemen only made him run faster. After a chase of several blocks he was overtaken, and captured in a rough and tumble fight.

SECRET IN RICH SUICIDE.

HE HAD BEEN SUMMONED IN FIRE INVESTIGATION.

Wholesale Millinery Man Was Expected to Appear Before Department Attorney on Morning He Ended His Life—Blaze Said to Have Started in His Office—Three Other Suspects in the Case—Inquest Discloses No Further Light on Deed.

Henry M. Rich of the firm of Henry M. Rich & Co., wholesale milliners, who committed suicide on Wednesday, had been summoned to appear that morning before Fire Inspector Johnson, it was learned yesterday, to explain the mysterious fire in the Browning, King & Co. building last November. Evidence is in the hands of the fire department tending to implicate Rich in the starting of the fire.

It was said also that Rich had no reason to worry over financial losses sustained in the fire, as the insurance which he had received amounted to more than $7,000.

"The fire started in Rich's private office," said Inspector Johnson. "He was away at the time, it is true, but some one had been in the office, and we think he could have explained it. The fire was a 'touchoff.'"

Four Men Are Suspected.

"There were four men at the bottom of the plot. One is a reputable young business man whom we have under surveillance. Rich was directly implicated. Several of his accomplices have left the city."

On the day he killed himself Rich was expected at the fire inspector's office. He promised Detective Joseph Kinder he would be there and bring another man whom the detective wanted.

"On Monday," said Kinder, "I found Rich in his new store in the Powers building. He said he would have to consult with his attorney. I told him that if he was an honest man he did not need an attorney, that we simply wanted him to help us in the investigation. I even went so far as to tell him some of the evidence we have.

"Rich told me to meet him at the Palmer house café at luncheon time, and he would talk to me. He said he would bring the other man I wanted to see. I told him if he would deliver my message it would not be necessary for me to come. I understand he never showed up at his store after my visit."

Letter from Rich Is Read.

At the inquest held in the morning a letter which Rich had written to his wife just before his death was read. It stated:

"Mrs. H. M. Rich, 622 East Forty-sixth place.—My Own Darling Lillie and Children: I am tired of living. HENRY."

Henry Weiner, 195 Thirty-seventh street, a brother-in-law, said he knew no reason why Rich should commit suicide. Manager Dryburgh of the New Southern hotel, where the suicide occurred, told how Rich came to his death.

PUBLISHER IS STRUCK BY TRAIN.

David C. Herndon Dangerously Injured While Near Illinois Central Station at Bryn Mawr.

David C. Herndon, 52 years old, a publisher living at the Palmer house, was struck by a train at midnight while near the Illinois Central station at Bryn Mawr. He may not recover from his injuries. He had been attending a card party at the residence of Mrs. Evan Pusey, 7116 Euclid avenue, and was taken there after being injured.

NEWPORT DIVINE EXPECTS CALL

Dr. Gilbert W. Laidlaw May Become Assistant to Dr. Cawthorne at St. Paul's Church.

A telegram from Newport, R. I., last night announced that the Rev. Gilbert W. Laidlaw, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, has been advised that he will receive a call to become associate rector of St. Luke's church, 388 South Western avenue. If he accepts he will be the assistant to the Rev. H. L. Cawthorne.

PLAN CLASH IN NEW YORK.

CAR LINE STRIKERS ALARM THE POLICE BY DEMONSTRATION.

Meet in Force Early This Morning and Rumors Are That They Intend to Attack Cars and Cut the Feed Wires, Doing as Much Damage as Possible—National Leaders Disown Walkout—Trains Are Run More Regularly.

New York, March 10, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Seventy policemen detailed to strike duty around the subway barns at One Hundred and Forty-fifth street and Lenox avenue were notified by their roundsmen shortly after midnight that the strikers intended to try to stop all trains on the subway and elevated roads early this morning. The union men, the policemen in charge of the squad said, planned to do as much damage by violence at that hour as they could.

Two hundred strikers assembled at One Hundred and Forty-third street and Lenox avenue shortly before 2 o'clock this morning.

Police reserves were sent to the Interborough company's station at One Hundred and Forty-third street and Third avenue, the Bronx, in response to hurried appeals sent through police headquarters from the Interborough company's watchmen at that place.

There is a rumor that the strikers intend to cut all power feed wires.

National Leaders Disown Strike.

National labor leaders repudiated the strike and ordered the men to return to work at once. The order was disregarded.

Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which the "L" and subway motormen are members, was the first to denounce the strike. He issued a statement, saying:

"The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has no differences between its organization and the Interborough company that could not have been adjusted in the proper manner.

Declares Contract Is Binding.

"The present strike is in direct violation of our law. It is not recognized, nor will it be supported by our organization. The contract entered into in September, 1904, between the Interborough company and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers we recognize to be as binding today as it was when signed. Loyal members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are instructed to report for duty at once, and comply with the terms of the agreement. Members refusing to do so will be expelled from membership.

"This is the first time in the history of the brotherhood that our members have repudiated their agreement with any railroad."

Other officials of the national union took the same stand.

Jencks Refuses to Obey.

William L. Jencks, head of the local brotherhood, said:

"Mr. Stone cannot dictate to me. Shall he tell us whether we shall have supper or not? The men were ordered out, are out, and will stay out until the strike is won. Things are going beautifully, and prospects never were brighter for us since the strike was begun."

Jencks made this statement in the midst of a group of the strikers, who cheered him loudly.

W. D. Mahon, president of the National Association of Electric and Street Railway Employés, said Mr. Stone's attitude would have no effect on his organization of guards and other employés.

Subway Service Almost Normal.

It was evident, however, that some of the men were ready to give up the fight. Several of the old subway motormen were in charge of their regular trains. The service in the subway last night was almost perfect, the local trains being run during the rush hours on schedule time, while the express trains maintained a three minute headway. At no time was there anything resembling a congestion.

On the elevated lines the service was not so good, this, however, being due to the fact that the company had decided first to perfect the running of trains in the subway. It expects to bring the elevated service up to the regular standard today.

Timothy Healy, president of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, declared he would not call out the members of his organization to tie up the power houses.

LINCOLN STORY ACTED OUT.

Attorney Seeks to Prove by Almanac Night Was Dark When Hubert Barnes Was Hurt.

The time honored story told of Abraham Lincoln, according to which he secured the acquittal of a man charged with murder by proving by the almanac it was too dark for witnesses to have seen what they had testified to, bore fruit yesterday in Judge Chatlain's court.

Hubert Barnes, a carpenter, is suing the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad for $20,000 damages. He was injured Sept. 29, 1902, while crossing the Pennsylvania tracks at Western avenue. His attorneys maintained the night was so dark Barnes was unable to see the approaching train.

This statement was disputed by witnesses for the railroad, who asserted the sun had set at 6 o'clock, the time of the accident. Then Barnes' attorney brought forward the almanac, and it was passed among the jurors. It showed the sun set at 5:47 p. m. on the day in question. The jury will return a verdict this morning.

HAS SMALLPOX; WALKS STREETS

George H. Peterson Arrested After Neighbors Had Failed to Induce Him to Stay in House.

On complaint of residents of the neighborhood, George H. Peterson, 35 years old, Milton and Chicago avenues, who has been suffering with smallpox, was arrested last night by Policemen Gallery and Gaffrey of the Chicago avenue station and taken to the Isolation hospital.

Peterson has been walking about the streets, causing much alarm to persons he met. The police were notified, but were unable to find him.

Last evening he left his house and started for his usual walk. He was asked to return, and refused. Then a crowd gathered and threw stones at him. He was only arrested after a chase.

TRACES SOURCE OF "BRAINS."

Former Judge Neely Says Stenographer Furnishes Them in Business Man's Correspondence.

"The stenographer is the business man's brains when any business communication is concerned," declared former Judge Charles G. Neely last evening in an address before the Stenographers' club at its meeting in the Grand Pacific hotel.

"The stenographer has done more in the last ten years to improve the English of the business man than all the text books published on the subject in the same length of time," the speaker asserted.

If all the court stenographers in Chicago were taken away, in a short time the dockets would be ten years behind instead of three years, Mr. Neely said.

SUES PARENTS FOR TUITION.

College of Our Lady of Sacred Heart, Watertown, Wis., Appeals to the Court.

Suits were begun yesterday by the College of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Watertown, Wis., against the parents of several former pupils whose tuition they are alleged to have failed to pay. The defendants and amounts claimed are:

Michael Doyle, 32 North Ashland avenue; $69.
J. Burke, 75 Twelfth street, Oak Park; $48.
Mrs. Helen Szymanski, 378 North Robey street; $327.
Mrs. Mary Morgan, 2923 Prairie avenue; $125.
H. M. Ryan, 608 Oak Park avenue, Oak Park.

The hearings were set for this afternoon.

KANSAS RAILWAYS FAVOR OIL TRUST.

Change Conditions for Transportation So Independent Shippers Are Shut Out.

OLD GAME, SAYS MONNETT

Attorney Declares Standard Used Same Agreement with Eastern Roads.

Topeka, Kas., March 9.—[Special.]—In the depositions taken today in the case brought in Chautauqua county against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company, it developed that all of the Kansas railroads in the transmissouri freight bureau changed their classification and tariff sheets about the time the Kansas oil field began to give promise of becoming important.

By the change made the only petroleum which would be received for transportation in tank cars was that destined to a "consignee who possessed storage facilities for the oil after it reached its destination." This order almost prohibited independent refiners from distributing their oil, as they were unable to erect storage tanks in all of the towns to which they shipped oil.

"It has been the custom of the Standard Oil company," said Frank S. Monnett, "to have this rule adopted by the railroads in which it owns an interest, just as soon as it is evident that independent refineries are getting a foothold in the field. It is the same method that has been used by the company in destroying competition in eastern fields.

"The companies will accept demurrage on any other class of freight than oil. Usually an independent refiner ships his oil to a small town in his own tank car, has the car switched to a sidetrack, and unloads and sells from his wagons until the car is empty.

Would Kill All Competition.

"This rule, which it developed that all the western roads adopted, would present that, and the Standard could have, to itself every town in which the independent man did not want to erect a tank."

The railroads in the transmissouri freight bureau are the Missouri Pacific, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, all of which operate in the Kansas field.

Attorney Monnett introduced a letter, purporting to come from a former employé of the Standard Oil company at Joplin, Mo. The missive alleges that upon the completion of the Standard Oil company's pipe lines an agreement was entered into between the Standard and the Santa Fe, the Missouri Pacific, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railways, and possibly others, whereby the tariff for transportation of oil over these lines should be placed at an exorbitant and prohibitive figure.

The railways were to profit from this transaction through distribution among the railways of 10 cents on every barrel of oil run through the Standard pipe line. This made it impossible for the independent companies to ship crude oil, and had the effect of eliminating competition to the Standard Oil company.

More Disaster for Kansas Fields.

Chanute, Kas., March 9.—The order of the Prairie Oil and Gas company to run no more oil below thirty degrees, which practically means a renewal of the boycott of the Kansas field, will, it is believed, result disastrously to those individuals and companies which, figuring on a return of full buying and better operations, had resumed operations. E. C. Martin, one of the largest producers in the field, said:

"It is another act of defiance. It is another effort to crowd the Kansas producer to the wall. It will bring independent refiners here and make a market for fuel oil."

W. E. Connelly, a member of the advisory board of the Kansas Oil Producers' association, said the order was only another move on the part of the Standard to show its contempt for the Kansas operators.

John O'Brien, assistant manager of the Prairie company, said it was impossible to comply with the laws passed by the Kansas legislature, and took occasion to say that there is no connection between the Prairie company and the Standard Oil company.

Garfield Sees Standard Books.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations spent an hour this afternoon with the lawyers of the Standard Oil company prior to beginning the investigation of the trust and its methods with especial regard to the recent developments in Kansas.

The Rockefeller lawyers were reinforced by the officials of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, the Kansas branch of the Standard Oil company, together with all the books and documents necessary to explain the situation fully to Mr. Garfield.

He was shown the records giving the amount of the investments of the Standard Oil company in Kansas, the cost of the refineries, tanks, pipe lines, and prices paid for oil from the first purchase to the latest sale.

Copies of many of these documents were made for Commissioner Garfield, and a large number of notes dictated to the stenographer as a preliminary to the investigation to be made. Garfield will go to Kansas from here.

Indiana Oil Men Combine.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—[Special.]—Four hundred Indiana oil men have formed the Indiana Oil Men's association, which was incorporated today. It is proposed to get all producers into the organization and present a firm front to the Standard Oil company.

West Virginia Wants Action.

Morgantown, W. Va., March 9.—Incensed at the failure of the legislature to compel the payment of a fair proportion of taxes by coal, oil, and gas interests in the state, citizens of this county appeared today by attorneys and requested the county court to take action.

The court entered an order requiring the assessors to tax all leases for oil and gas as personal property and also ordered the prosecuting attorney to bring suit for their recovery of five years' taxes based upon this method of taxation.

It is estimated that since oil and gas were found in this county the Standard Oil company alone has not paid taxes upon at least $25,000,000 of oil and gas interests.

ALL CHICAGO HIT BY REFORM BILL.

Measure Ready for Passage in House Most Radical Ever Submitted.

TROUBLE FOR IT AHEAD.

Provides County Civil Service Board Shall Name Every Nonelective Employe.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—[Special.]—A complete upheaval of public service in Chicago and Cook county is provided for in a bill which now stands on third reading, ready for passage in the house. It puts all branches of the city, county, and sanitary district service under the jurisdiction of a county board of civil service commissioners.

In its description the bill is ludicrous. Its manner of presentation was mysterious. Its advancement to third reading was farcical, but nevertheless it has been ordered engrossed for third reading and is beyond amendment.

Breakers Ahead for the Bill.

If Chicago gets an idea that the legislature is in earnest about the bill there probably will be the liveliest scurrying toward Springfield that has been seen in a couple of sessions.

The measure grew out of the bill introduced by Representative Richard E. Burke, a democrat, of Chicago, establishing civil service in the sanitary district. Representative Lindly of Bond county, whose philanthropic intentions toward Chicago never have been appreciated fully in that sinful city, loomed up suddenly like a plump bolt of lightning in the peaceful house and presented the substitute as soon as the Burke bill had been given its second reading.

Lindly's substitute proved to be a great uplift for the cause of civil service. It made one morsel of the entire subject matter pertaining to Cook county and abolished city civil service entirely, putting everything, including the schools, under the county commission.

Democrats Bellow in Protest.

Speaker Shurtleff joined the uplifting forces and onward and upward movement and gaveled the substitute through with equanimity, undistrubed by the bellowing of the entire democratic side of the house.

The republicans did not know what they were voting for, and most of them don't know yet. They don't care. They knew that the wise and good natured Lindly had put something in, that the democrats did not like it, and that the speaker was knocking the democrats down with his little parliamentary bung starter. That was a good and sufficient reason for voting for any measure.

Two motives seemed to actuate the republicans. One was a desire to get back at the civil service reformers who are endeavoring to "civil service" the entire state. The other was a wish to take a wallop at the democrats, who are characterized by a "prominent republican" as the worst set of four flushers that ever sat in the house."

The republican organization desired to hand a package to Walter L. Fisher, W. B. Moulton, et al., of the Civil Service Reform association, and to hand another to the democrat filibusters, who have been trying to embarrass republican legislation.

Only a Few Exempted.

What the bill would do to Cook county may be gathered from the following paragraphs:

"The county commissioners of any county in the state having a population of 1,000,000 inhabitants or more, in which is organized a sanitary district having expended from taxes or the sale of bonds the sum of $10,000,000 or more, shall, not less than thirty or more than ninety days after the taking effect of this act, appoint three persons to be known as civil service commissioners for such county. These commissioners shall classify all offices and places of employment in such county, and in any sanitary district therein, except those offices specified.

"Those exempted are officers elected by the people and the treasurer, head of the law department, the chief engineer, and all physicians and surgeons employed and engaged in the public hospital in such municipal body."

School Trustees Are Included.

Just a few of the persons who would come under civil service, according to these provisions, are: School teachers, members of the board of education, members of the library board, assistant state's attorneys, assistants to the corporation counsel, department heads in the city government, excepting city engineer and corporation counsel, park commissioners, chief of police, and, in fact, all public officials and employés not elected by the people.

Aside from special provisions for the extension of unified civil service to all branches of the county and city government, the provisions of the law are the same as those of the present county law with reference to holding examinations and making appointments and discharges.

Lindly said tonight that he has sixty-seven members of the house pledged to vote for the bill on third reading, and he asserts he will gather up the additional ten needed.

Bill to Be Used as a Club.

With this bill in its present position, opponents of the broad civil service bill will offer Chicago and civil service reformers a trade. If the latter insist that the legislature pass the measure extending civil service to all state institutions and departments, then the assembly also will pass the Chicago bill.

If the civil service advocates be willing to accept a measure putting only charitable institutions under civil service, then the latest bill will be dropped.

The measure is a club, and since its framers have Speaker Shurtleff on their side, they can use it effectively. It probably settles for this session all talk of putting all departments of the state government and all institutions under classified service.

The Cook county members either winked at the trick which got the bill on the calendar this morning, or were tricked by their opponents from down the state. The scheme will win, because it is impossible for Chicago to stand for this new bill.

Democrats Fight in Vain.

The democrats stood and filled the aisles as they began to see the drift of the republican plan. They started to send amendments to the clerk's desk. As soon as they were read the speaker ruled them out of order.

"Will the gentleman from Bond explain his extraordinary substitute and the motives back of it," demanded Burke, shouting across to Lindly.

Everybody thought this would draw a speech, but Lindly said only:

"It is in the interest of a broad civil service law."

At last McGoorty drew an amendment providing the bill should be submitted to a vote of the people before becoming effective.

Shurtleff started to put the amendment to a vote, and the democrats began shouting for a roll call. The speaker looked far over the heads of the twenty or thirty men clamoring for their "constitutional rights" until his eyes rested up in the balcony. Then he said:

"Those who believe the amendment should be adopted will say aye."

The republican yell of "aye" drowned the democratic shouts for a roll call, and the speaker declared the amendment adopted. By this time McGoorty was mad.

Attempt to "Murder Civil Service."

"This is an attempt to murder civil service in the home of its friends," he yelled at Shurtleff. "More than the constitutional number have asked you repeatedly, sir, for their right to a roll call on this question, yet you have refused to grant it. We insist on our constitutional rights, and demand that they be respected by you. And we say, sir, that you have no right to usurp the power of your office by denying us a vote on this most material right of referendum."

Thereupon the speaker ordered the bill engrossed for third reading.

Senate Unable to Take Similar Action Because Engrossing Clerks Had Not Finished — Elections Subcommittee Decides to Oust Senator Sucher, a Democrat of Peoria, and Give His Seat to Putnam, a Republican, by Sixteen Plurality.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—[Special.]—The house passed the municipal courts bill today by a vote of 113 to 17 without comment. The prediction of its opponents is that it will be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court, and that Chicago people will denounce the makers when they discover how the bill will work if it should become law. The senate was to have passed its measure, but the engrossing clerks could not finish it.

Representative Lewis Rinaker, one of the Chicago representatives and chairman of the primary law committee, declares the bill as passed by the house will add a burden of half a million dollars on the city.

The new charter bills framed by the council committee were introduced by Pendarvis in the house and by Haas in the senate. Two bills were presented by each, both covering the same details, but one applicable to the state at large, if the cities care to adopt it, and the other to Chicago. Both bills were explained before they were sent down to Springfield.

Decides to Seat Republican.

For the last two days the senate subcommittee on elections has been having "near fights" over the Sucher-Putnam Peoria contest, but tonight it completed its labors and will report that Putnam, a republican, was elected by a plurality of sixteen. The original returns had George B. Sucher, a democrat, elected by fifty-one votes.

Attorney J. A. Weil of Peoria, representing Sucher, jumped over the table during the last of the "near fight" to get at Senator McShane of the stockyards district in Chicago. McShane hated to do it, but nevertheless he had it in mind to put Weil on the floor and sit on him. When the attorney saw the intention sticking out of the senator's eyes he desisted. At the same time Senator Burnett was making passes at Attorney P. E. Mann, also representing Sucher.

At this point Senator Dunlap decided to go into executive session with his committee and see if it could not work peaceably in secret. There has been almost constant quarreling in the committee over rulings of the chairman on the counting of ballots.

Sucher will carry his contest before the full committee and then to the senate, contending 440 ballots were thrown out and not counted. They were not counted because they bore what the subcommittee considered "distinguishing marks."

The federal crowd in Peoria endeavored to defeat Putnam and succeeded in having a certificate of election given to the democrat.

Bill to Regulate Bond Dealers.

In the senate a substitute bill was reported in by the committee to regulate companies doing business in the issue and sale of bonds. It provides that a deposit of $100,000 shall be made with the state auditor, that regular reports of assets and liabilities shall be made, and that the auditor at all times shall have access to their records.

A bill was introduced by McKenzie to terminate the Illinois Farmers' institute and create the Illinois Farmers' institutes, making a change of one letter in the name, but creating an entirely new organization and requiring the old one to turn over all its funds and books. Secretary Hostetter, recently charged the present organization with unbecoming actions, but the bill of McKenzie is said to have no bearing on this.

Representative Sheen introduced a bill requiring that the date of canning shall be stamped on canned goods put up in the state or the date of receipt on canned goods brought into the state.

A bill by Representative Ambrose, a socialist, would establish a maximum of eight hours' labor a day for all men employed on public works.

The house committee on drainage reported out the bill requiring the sanitary district to make an itemized account of contracts and expenditures to the governor and legislature.

INDICTMENTS DUE NEXT WEEK.

State's Attorney at Springfield Says No True Bill Has Been Voted Against Kinsella.

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—[Special.]—State's Attorney Frank L. Hatch tonight declared that so far as he knew no indictments had been returned against Richard F. Kinsella and a Springfield member of the assembly. According to stories, the bills charged the men with offering bribes to members of the democratic caucus, and it was intimated other true bills were to follow.

Former Representative Frank D. Comerford was at the courthouse during the day, but his investigation will rest until a number of witnesses from Cook county have been heard. These were expected to arrive early this morning, but none reported to the state's attorney. It is believed they will be here today to tell their stories regarding alleged pay roll stuffing.

It is believed partial returns in the indictments already voted will be made next week.

Declaring he will ignore the subpœna issued for him by the Sangamon county grand jury until he receives money for transportation, Ludwig J. Nehls, 462 South Sangamon street, yesterday told of his connection with the alleged irregularities of the Forty-third general assembly.

Nehls, who long has been identified with the Nineteenth Ward Republican club, was placed on the state pay roll at Springfield two years ago at the instance of Representative Edward J. Smejkal. He held a sixty day position as watchman, for which he received $120, but he admitted he spent only a few days in Springfield.

William Herrmann, president of the Nineteenth Ward Republican club, said he did not know whether Nehls ever had been in Springfield.

STANFORD SERVANTS IN GRAFT.

Former Butler Tells the Police That He and Miss Berner Divided $2,100.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—Albert Beverly, Mrs. Stanford's former butler, has made a statement to the police, it is said, to the effect that in all, by means of "rake downs" and commissions, he had "grafted" about $2,100. He reiterates his story that he divided his "rake down" with Miss Berner, Mrs. Stanford's secretary, and that her share amounted to between $1,000 and $1,100. The police are working on the theory that these stories may disclose a motive for killing Mrs. Stanford.

OBITUARY.

ALEXANDER VAUGHAN, Chicago, president of the Vaughan-Bushnell company, died of pneumonia yesterday at his residence, 678 Washington boulevard. He was born in West Plattsburg, N. Y., in 1829 and came to Chicago in 1862. Three children, Sanford Vaughan, Mrs. Frank S. Atherton, and Mrs. Glenn Hammon are living. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, pending the arrival of Dr. and Mrs. Hammon from California.

GEORGE W. CURLEY, Wilmette, Ill., died at the Evanston hospital yesterday after a surgical operation. He was 61 years old, and resided in Wilmette during the last sixteen years. He was village clerk one term. He was born in Baltimore in 1844. Mr. Curley was employed by the Chicago Title and Trust company. Mrs. Curley and four children are living. The funeral will be held on Sunday.

MRS. JAMES T. MATTHEWS of Chicago died in Florence, Italy, March 9, of pneumonia, after a brief illness. She was born Feb. 16, 1839, and was the widow of the Rev. James T. Matthews. Her father was Samuel Hale, a pioneer business man of Chicago. Mrs. Matthews left two children, Charles H. Matthews of Kenosha, Wis., and Mrs. William L. Vance of Evanston.

GEORGE H. LOVE of St. Paul, Minn., one of the proprietors of the Ryan hotel, is dead as the result of blood poisoning, following an operation for appendicitis. He was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.

HEADACHES; BANK CLOSES

CASHIER OF AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL LOCKS DOORS.

Disability of George D. Stevens Proves Last Straw for the La Salle Street Institution and Depositors Clamor in Vain for Their Money—Hard to Place Responsibility, but Vice President Groesbeck Is in East "After Cash."

George D. Stevens, "cashier" at the American International bank, 183 Dearborn street, had a severe headache yesterday morning, so he locked the doors and went home. Later in the day he had a chill.

It was the last straw for an institution which has had hard sledding ever since deputy sheriffs started to carry away its furniture last month under a $250 execution, and it caused a run on the bank.

During the day depositors were calling at the bank for their money. Some of them were clamorous, but the majority were sad or only disgusted, for they had been going there for days without getting their money, and it is believed that was one of the reasons why Stevens went home with a headache.

Is in the East After "Cash."

Charles L. Groesbeck, vice president of the bank, and its real executive head, three weeks ago left for New York, taking a dress suit case filled with collars and securities. He said he expected to realize something on the latter and pay all the depositors, but he has not returned with the coin.

W. S. Bell, connected with a firm at 176 Madison street that makes all kinds of uniforms, is reported to be one of the directors. While denying the truth of this he volunteered some information regarding the bank.

"Mr. Stevens, who was in charge, went home sick today," said Mr. Bell, "so he just closed the bank. The bank is in liquidation. It hasn't taken in any deposits for a week and it is trying to pay all claims. Mr. Stevens thought he would be able to come back tomorrow."

Asked concerning the liabilities of the bank, Mr. Bell said he really didn't know.

Bank Is Called a "Free Lance."

The American International is one of those Chicago banks which every once in a while cause agitation for mort stringent banking laws. It is operating under a West Virginia charter and Groesbeck said before he went to New York that it couldn't be held responsible for anything it did, or didn't. That, at least, was the effect of his declarations. No one appears to know who belongs to the bank. Mr. Bell mentioned W. R. Payne, but at Mr. Payne's office in La Salle street it was said he had gone to Elgin.

When Groesbeck departed he left in the bank a $500 note of doubtful value and a safe and fixtures valued around $1,000. The furniture is said to have been transferred to a woman physician, Dr. Danforth, and sometimes she is at the institution, but she couldn't be found yesterday.

Pan-American Man Is Interested.

Wildcat securities are reported to figure largely in the paper supposed to be behind the bank. The American International is successor to the Spanish-American bank, and W. H. Hunt of the defunct Pan-American bank was interested in it. A month ago the American Cotton Picker company with a $250 judgment levied on the bank fixtures and was about to cart them away when the claim was paid.

CARTER ON THE FAIR SCANDAL.

Senator Says Collusion in Sale of Buildings Gave $1,000,000 to Favored Bidders.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana, in speaking tonight of charges of scandal in the affairs of the world's fair at St. Louis, said the matter involved "alleged collusion in the sale of the exposition buildings and all the property of the exposition at what is said to be an inadequate price received on a contract made without fair competition or publicity."

"It is claimed by numerous parties," the senator added, "that through the failure of the exposition company to fairly describe the property for sale a profit of more than $1,000,000 was given to the favored bidders, which would involve a loss to the United States of one-third of that sum.

"It remains for the commission to ascertain and report to the president the facts concerning this transaction."

MINISTERS PRAY FOR BIG REVIVAL.

SAGE'S RELATIVE BROKE.

Col. Joseph J. Slocum, Brother-in-Law of Great Financier, Gets Rid of Old Debts.

Hundreds Pray for Revival in City and Nation.

Eight hundred persons, representing all evangelical sects, prayed for nearly two hours and a half this afternoon that a sweeping religious revival might overtake New York and the nation. The meeting was held on the call of the Rev. F. H. Jacobs of the Fulton street prayer meeting, who acted as chairman. Hymns were sung, and the Rev. Dr. N. T. Dawson, late of London, spoke briefly, urging the immediate necessity of a revival. Said he:

"You can't live much longer without a revival—you, your churches, your city, your nation. A revival cannot be organized or engineered. But you can engineer in the direction of your hearts; you can organise yourselves. In the five weeks I have been here I have heard it said a revival is overdue. That is not true. That we are not prepared for the revival that is to come is the reason we not yet have felt its sweeping force. The great uplift in Wales came only after twelve years of ceaseless prayer on the part of the people."

After some consultation with those interested in the movement the Rev. C. H. Grubb announced that the first meeting to be held as an outcome of today's gathering will occur next Tuesday afternoon at Trinity Methodist church.

Bankruptcy Court Is Haven of Sage's Relative.

Col. Joseph J. Slocum, brother-in-law of Russell Sage, has filed petition in bankruptcy to get rid of a lot of debts contracted twenty-three years ago through losses on stock transactions. His schedules show liabilities of $77,105 and assets of $75 cash in bank. He has a gold watch and chain valued at $25, for which he asks exemption. His life is insured for $10,000 for the benefit of his children.

Some of the debts are barred by the statute of limitations, but they are included and scheduled in order to get a full release from them. Slocum has been director of several railroad corporations as the representative of Mr. Sage.

The condition of Russell Sage, who has been ill for several days, is reported today as much better. He has been suffering from a heavy cold.

Promoter Charged with Fleecing Two Women.

Mrs. Anna B. Bliss, wife of William H. Bliss, a lawyer residing at 6 East Sixty-fifth street, and Miss Cora F. Barnes, Bliss' stepdaughter, who lives with him, have brought two suits in the Supreme court against Thomas G. Condon, who is a broker and promoter at 88 Beaver street, to recover $30,000 which they allege he induced them to invest in stock of a fireproofing company.

On two affidavits made by Lawyer Bliss a commission has been appointed to take testimony in Colorado about the past of Condon, who maintains an elaborate place in Tuxedo park.

Real Estate Brokers Beaten by Girl Rival.

Real estate brokers of the east side learned today that the mysterious rival who got ahead of them in several recent deals is a pretty girl of 20 named Frieda Offner. Tenements and old dwellings for which brokers have been negotiating were sold by a rival to outside investors before the brokers were aware there was a competitor in the field. The last property to be snatched from them just as they were about to sign contracts for it is a five story tenement at No. 5 Irvington street. It was sold to Sigmund Schnee. Today the sale was traced to Miss Offner, who was found in the office of S. Steingut, the "mayor of Second avenue."

During her two years' service as stenographer and clerk for Steingut Miss Offner had learned the real estate business on the lower east side so thoroughly that the "mayor of Second avenue" intrusts her with negotiations which would test the cleverness of experienced brokers. And now she gets the regular broker's commission on all her sales.

Woman's Letter May Block Alimony Plea.

Supreme Court Justice McCall reserved his decision in the application of Mrs. Helen Bloodgood Garretson Gunther for alimony and counsel fees pending the trial of her suit for divorce from Charles Van Valkenburg Gunther, whom she married in January, 1900, but with whom she has not lived since Christmas eve of the same year.

J. Hampden Dougherty, counsel for Gunther, in opposing the application, read to the court a letter which Mrs. Gunther wrote her husband just after they separated. It in part is as follows:

"My Dear Charlie: You know as well as I do we never in the wide world can get along together, so what's the use of beginning all over again? We are not fitted for each other, so why not get together and talk it all over? I don't see why there should be any unpleasant feelings about it. We can at least be good friends or chums. Come up to see me and we will have a nice, long talk about it all. I will meet you wherever you say."

Phipps Will Not Discuss His Marital Woes.

Lawrence C. Phipps, the Pittsburg millionaire, whose marital troubles have been in the news of the day for months, arrived in New York from Liverpool today on the Oceanic. Mr. Phipps, whose wife was said to have borrowed $83,000 of A. Hart McKee to carry on her divorce proceedings, was angry and would neither affirm nor deny the statements that he was to return to his wife and pay her debts.

"Deny such statements," he said. "Why should I? They don't concern me 2 cents' worth. I will not even read them. I don't care anything about them or what the papers have published in this case. I have nothing to say about the matter whatsoever."

Lawyers Lower Steel Stock Assessment to $2,000,000.

The United States Steel corporation, with a capitalization of $1,100,000,000, was assessed for $10,000,000 personal property by the local tax officials this year. This $10,000,000 was in excess of its real estate and debts. The company yesterday made its formal return on the assessment, and its attorney has sworn off all save $2,000,000 of the assessment.

ICE HAMMERS DYNAMITE SHIP.

Crew of Alliance, with 700 Tons of Explosive Aboard, Threatens Mutiny Until Port Is Reached.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 9.—[Special.]—The target for huge masses of floating ice in the lower Delaware river, the steamer Alliance, bound from Philadelphia for Colon with 700 tons of dynamite, put into port at Lewes, Del., tonight. When the vessel will leave is in doubt, but the crew declare at least is will not be until the ice disappeared from the Delaware.

When the vessel put in at Lewes the crew was on the verge of mutiny. The dynamite is designed for work in the construction of the Panama canal. All went well in the trip down the river until the flood tide rushed huge cakes of ice against the vessel. At each blow the collective heart of the crew of the Alliance jumped.

"A little harder blow than the last means death," declared one of the crew. Four of the plates of the Alliance were bent and battered. Finally the crew declared it would stay over the living volcano no longer. When the men became threatening the captain put into port.

HARLAN EXPOSES FOE'S WEAKNESS.

Term "Immediate Municipal Ownership" Shown to Be an Empty Phrase.

LOCATES "ORIGINAL" MEN

Says They Are Democrats Who Long Have Wanted to Possess the City.

John Maynard Harlan and City Attorney Smulski spoke at the republican massmeeting held last night at Phoenix hall, 326 Division street. Each directed the full force of his analytical powers upon the phrase "immediate municipal ownership," as used in the democratic platform. Mr. Smulski said he had been kept awake nights trying to figure out how immediate municipal ownership can be secured in the way the democrats propose. He had given it up after coming to the conclusion that when the democratic party used the word "immediate" it had some reference to the sweet by-and-by.

Mr. Harlan said that the democrats were fond of the term "immediate" when prefixed to municipal ownership. "It is a seductive, masterful phrase," he said, "a full mouthful, and the democrats are fond of it. Even if inconsistent, they are determined to cling to it."

The speaker believed the word as used by his opponents meant either the immediate buying of a lot of old junk at a fabulous price or the immediate going to law to obtain ultimate ownership of the traction properties. The immediate going to law, he said, was to postpone municipal ownership for ten or twenty years and at the same time secure immediate and continued poor service.

Finds the "Original" Crowd.

Mr. Harlan admitted that the democratic party contained the "original" municipal ownership men of the city.

"If you will look over the democratic candidates for the council you will find some of them," he said. "When they were in the council they intended to own the whole municipality. Now they want to get back and take what they didn't get before. They cannot be depended on to help secure the municipal ownership we desire."

Two Questions for Dunne.

The candidate for mayor had two questions which he formally presented to his opponent. He asked if Judge Dunne was willing to pledge himself in a written statement over his signature that he would allow no ordinance to be passed looking toward the solution of the traction question until the people had first had opportunity, through the referendum, to express their approval or disapproval of the same. This question he respectfully submitted to the democratic central committee. He thought they might like to make a formal pronunciamento revising the platform in regard to the referendum.

The other question propounded to Judge Dunne was: "Will he kindly tell us in what particulars the democratic platform is not entirely acceptable to the traction companies?"

The speaker asserted that the traction interests could not have drawn up a plan of settlement with the city more solicitous of their every right than the democratic platform.

Speaking of the democratic proposal to fix the price of the traction properties by arbitration Mr. Harlan said: "The Union Traction company never will be willing to arbitrate anything unless it knows who the arbitrators are going to be. That company never could shake dice with the city honestly. They would want 'loaded arbitrators.'"

Committee Discusses Plans.

Mr. Harlan and his colleagues on the republican ticket met with the new Chicago committee earlier in the day, and went over the plans for the canvass among the employments represented on the auxiliary organization. It was decided to appoint a subcommittee for each business and trade. These subcommittees will have charge of raising the campaign funds and of arranging for meetings for their respective lines and in other ways pushing the work. The total membership of the committees has been brought close to 200.

The central organization started the work of forming Harlan clubs in the lumber districts and the stockyards. In the latter quarter arrangements have been made for a mass meeting at which Mr. Harlan will speak on Saturday, March 25, at 10:30 a. m., in the Exchange building.

The Marquette club announced a series of noonday meetings in the downtown section of the city. Two rooms, so located as to be centers for business men and clerks, will be used for the meetings.

The first result of the strenuous organization program of the committee was the formation of a State Street Harlan club. It starts with a membership of 200, including merchants in the street and their employés. This was the personal work of Chairman Selfridge.

Schedule for Today.

Republican meetings for today will be as follows:

Thirty-fifth ward, Rehberg's hall, North Forty-eighth avenue and West Indiana street—Speakers, John M. Harlan, city candidates, and Ald. Race and Ald. Hunter.

Citizens at Fellowship Club Meeting Demand Safeguard Against Return of Last Summer's "Drought."

Municipal ownership of the Oak Park water plant, and water from Lake Michigan as a safeguard against any recurrence of a water famine in the village were advocated at a meeting of the Fellowship club of Oak Park last evening.

"Sooner or later the Oak Park water facilities will fail as they have done on several occasions in the past," said Samuel Kerr. "The city of Chicago is bound to furnish Oak Park with water from Lake Michigan at the lowest charge made to consumers in the city, but it is not bound to supply water to the Oak Park Water company for it to supply us at exorbitant prices."

John Lewis advocated the installation of an entirely new system of pipes by the village paralleling those of the Chicago Suburban Water and Light company and the erection of a new pumping station near Austin avenue, where it could connect with the city mains. It would be useless, he said, to get a fire engine for the village under the present system, as an engine such as is used in the city would pump the mains dry.

At one time last summer the pressure in Oak Park was so low that it was necessary to secure fire engines to pump water from the city mains into the mains of the Oak Park company. It has been urged also that the present pressure is inadequate to furnish sufficient fire protection, as the village has no fire engines, and the present pressure is seldom sufficient to force the water above the second story.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB QUARTET
MAURYA GRAHAM IRENE SCANLON EILEEN GRAHAM VERONICA GRAHAM

Fifty children went to a party yesterday given by the Neighborhood House Woman's club. They had been excused early from school in order to enjoy their annual "children's day." The girls were arrayed in white and wore pink ribbons in their hair, while the boys' faces shone above their tight collars.

The musical program they furnished for themselves. Most of the recitations savored strongly of prohibition sentiment, but this, as Miss Gwendolyn Williams explained, was because the little entertainers recently had competed in a temperance oratorical contest.

Miss Emmie Davis, whose fingers hardly could "stretch an octave" on the piano, "rendered the opening number of the program." Arthur and Mildred Conrad, who wore medals they had won in the recent contest, sang, recited, and swung Indian clubs. As a reward they were given their ice cream first—ice cream of three different colors—and had two helpings, besides.

WARD MEN HEAR DUNNE.

NEARLY 3,000 WORKERS GREET THE CANDIDATE.

Meeting in Burke's Dancing Academy, the Judge's First Public Appearance, Is an Enthusiastic One—Speakers All Urge Necessity of Getting Out the Party Strength on Registration Day—Will Decide This Week Question of Speaking Tour.

The democratic organization was paraded before Judge Edward F. Dunne last evening. It was the largest gathering of workers of that party ever had in Chicago, nearly 3,000 ward and precinct officers being present. It was an enthusiastic gathering also and the leaders attributed its size and enthusiasm to an expectation of victory.

It was Judge Dunne's first appearance in public since he accepted the mayoralty nomination, and a demonstration took place when he climbed up on the high platform in Burke's dancing academy, Pacific avenue, near Van Buren street. The crowd cheered and waved its hats and then cheered again, and it was some little time before the candidate was allowed to speak.

He compared the gathering to a council of war and his hearers to the major and brigadier generals, the colonels, the captains, and the lieutenants of the democratic army.

"For four years," he went on, "I have been engaged in the work of trying to place this army on a high plane. With the aid of that grand old man who first suggested my name as a fit one for your leader, I succeeded two years ago in getting the principle of municipal ownership engrafted on its platform.

Deals in Warlike Comparisons.

"The democratic army is composed of some 175,000 men. It is intrenched in the citadel which commands the pass to public favor and public approval, and above its battlements flies the flag of truth.

"Opposed is an army of equal, if not greater, size. But it is encamped in the morass and above it hangs the banner of deceit.

"We are in the right. They are in the wrong; and we will win the battle because we are in the right.

"But there are 50,000 soldiers not allied with either force. It is the duty of you men to go out and see the stragglers and the indifferent, the men who did not shoulder a musket last fall when some of them perhaps thought the democratic army was encamped in the morass. Enlist them for this war. If you do your duty there is no doubt of the victory.

"In the past there has been talk of Harrison democrats and anti-Harrison democrats, of Burke democrats and Hopkins democrats and Sullivan democrats. But that is all gone by. Neither are there any Dunne democrats now. We are all municipal ownership democrats."

Frank Wenter presided at the meeting. It was composed exclusively of the "workers" of the party. Mr. Wenter told them that it was at their request Judge Dunne had taken the nomination, and it was now their duty to elect him. "He is your own candidate," said the speaker. "You picked him out, and if you do your duty he will win."

Decision on Speeches This Week.

Judge Dunne told the committee from the democratic county committee which called on him in the afternoon urging him to take the stump he would give it an answer today or tomorrow. "There is no hurry about the matter, as I understand it," remarked the judge, and the committee assured him there was not. "We do not intend holding any general meetings until after Tuesday anyhow," said Chairman Wenter.

The candidate took occasion to reply to some of the remarks his opponent has been making on the stump. "If Mr. Harlan means to declare," he said, "that I have fixed on $80,000,000 or any other certain sum as the price to be paid the street car companies for their properties he is giving out a wrong impression. He speaks, however, as if a price had been agreed upon.

"What I have said is that they ought to be secured for some price under that figure, using it as a maximum, but what the exact sum should be I never have pretended to say, as I am not expert enough myself to fix it. The intimation that any agreement has been reached as to the price is absolutely without justification."

Roger Sullivan and John P. Hopkins arrived home in the afternoon. They had stopped at New Orleans on their way from California. Sullivan, who is the national committeeman from Illinois, said he had not been in Chicago long enough to know anything from personal observation, but from what information had been sent him while he was away he was of the opinion Judge Dunne would win.

Another Candidate in the Third.

John J. Fitzpatrick, general organizer for the Chicago Federation of Labor, announced his candidacy yesterday for alderman in the Third ward. Petitions prepared by the Municipal Ownership association will be circulated this morning. Fitzpatrick is seeking democratic support in the ward. He was one of the "original" Prentiss men.

GREENBERG PLOT IS SEEN.

HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW A CANDIDATE FOR CONSTABLE.

Storm of Protest Follows Discovery That Harry M. Hertzberger, on Republican Ticket, Is Related to the "Notorious One"—President Brundage of County Board and Justice Roth His Sponsors, but Party Leaders May Drop "Harmless Man."

A storm of protests was raised yesterday when it was learned that Harry M. Hertzberger, a candidate on the republican ticket for north town constable, was a brother-in-law of the notorious Constable Louis Greenberg. It may result in Hertzberger being taken off the ticket.

Notwithstanding all denials, there is a feeling among citizens that Greenberg—for whom neither the republicans nor the democrats would stand—will have a hand in the work of Hertzberger if the latter should be elected.

Hertzberger's sponsors were Justice Henry Roth and Edward J. Brundage, president of the county board. In explaining Hertzberger's relationship to Greenberg they said the kinsmen had nothing in common, though they lived in the same house at 293 Bissell street, and that Hertzberger was "harmless," and only 24 years old.

"If sufficient 'roar' is raised about the nomination," said Mr. Brundage last night, "I suppose steps will be taken for Hertzberger's removal from the ticket, but I investigated the matter and I can assure the people that he is harmless. If it were known generally how insignificant he is there would be no complaints.

"I have known him a year. He is in my ward, and I know he and his brother-in-law are not on good terms. It's an unfortunate thing that they are related."

How Justice Roth Explains.

"Are you sponsor for Hertzberger?" Justice Roth was asked.

"I don't like to have it put that way," replied Roth. "I know him and all his family. He runs a little collection agency, and he had an idea that if he could get the office of constable he could make his own collections. He has brought me fifteen or twenty cases, and not one of his executions was served by Constable Greenberg. They all were served by Constable Adolph Mueller.

"Hertzberger is a worker in the Twenty-fourth ward, and naturally he asked me to see the ward committeeman, Mr. Brundage, which I did. I also saw Fred Busse, and they were willing that Hertzberger should go on the ticket. I told Hertzberger at that time that his relationship to Greenberg would be a handicap and he might expect to have it brought up against him."

May Have to Drop Him.

The talk yesterday afternoon was that the republican politicians would not be able to "stand for" Hertzberger after "Jimmy" Quinn had purified the democratic north town ticket by driving Greenberg, "the notorious," off it.

LIVERYMEN REFUSE DEMANDS; DRIVERS DISLIKE TO STRIKE.

Each Side Announces Plan to Disrupt Other's Organization—Negotiations Off After Many Joint Meetings.

Liverymen and undertakers yesterday at a joint meeting at the Sherman house refused the demands of 1,500 cab drivers for better working conditions, and warlike threats on both sides followed. The drivers' union took steps to disrupt the employers' association, while the liverymen retaliated with plans for reciprocal hostilities. Negotiations, which have been on since Feb. 15, were declared off.

Strike talk was of the reluctant sort. The recollection of the trouble when the drivers were on strike at the time of the Iroquois fire prevented open statements on this score. The promise of President Cornelius P. Shea of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters that Chicago never again would witness a "funeral" strike also was recalled.

The drivers are seeking a twelve hour day with full pay for overtime. They also demand that "trippers" or funeral drivers shall receive 25 cents commission on every dollar, while the liverymen wish to deduct 10 per cent for the benefit of the undertaker. Agreements with individual employers will be sought today by the drivers.

The strike of teamsters against the George A. Fuller Construction company was ended by order of President Shea of the union. Shea announced that peace had been restored between the drivers and the company in Boston, and that preference in the future will be given to the union men. Work was resumed on the Rector and Northwestern railway office blocks.

Zion City employés in the publishing and printing departments have been informed that beginning today they must pay tithes regularly into Zion's storehouse or lose their jobs. The order, issued by Manager Arthur W. Newcomb, declares the men must live in Zion City. With the exception of a few bookbinders the employés are nonunion men.

CURE IN PEOPLE'S HANDS.

MAYOR HARRISON TELLS YALE STUDENTS OF CITY'S PROBLEMS.

Declares Commercial Politics and Commercial Politicians Are Cause of Evils of Municipal Mismanagement, Boodle, and Graft—Plan, He Says, Is to Make Their Calling Unprofitable or Crowd Them Out, as Was Done in Chicago.

New Haven, Conn., March 9.—[Special.]—Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago, in a speech here tonight said that "commercial politics" and the "commercial politician" were responsible for most of the evils in the American government. They are the cause, he said, of the election of aldermen who are "good fellows" instead of good citizens; and of public corruption, boodle, and graft. Mr. Harrison said the way to rid the country of the commercial politician was to crowd him out or to make his calling unprofitable.

Mr. Harrison was a guest of the Yale Law School Political club, and his subject was "Some Phases of the Municipal Problem." He said in part:

"Were I asked to indicate, up to a comparatively recent date, at least, what had been the sorest spot in public affairs, I should unhesitatingly point with one hand to the conditions obtaining until the beginning of the preset decade in the average American city, and with the other hand to the cynicism with which the average citizen regarded his shameful servitude.

Most Hopeful Promise Seen.

"Were I to be asked today to lay my finger on a single circumstance which offers the most hopeful promise of a higher trend in our national life, without hesitancy I should cite the increasing healthy interest in municipal affairs taken in many of our cities by all classes of citizens. When the mismanagement of municipalities reached its lowest level the healthy minded American girded up his loins for a battle of reform. The change has been apparent."

Mayor Harrison described past and present conditions in Chicago, laying emphasis in the present centralization of power in the city's executive, the tremendous power it gave him, and the equally tremendous responsibility vested in him. He said that the day may come when the mayor of a great city will be permitted to manage the affairs under his direction without interference from irate citizens or suspicious taxpayers.

Evils Many and Apparent.

"The evils of American government are many and apparent," he said, "nor is the cause of their existence difficult to trace. Within a decade municipal government in practically every city of the land has been openly indicted as corrupt and criminal. The blame for these conditions may fairly be laid at the door of commercial politics. It is because these conditions exist that nominations for aldermen in great cities are so frequently given to men who bear the unenviable and questionable name of "good fellow"; because of these conditions corruption of public officials is of notoriously frequent occurrence and charges of boodle and graft are commonly bandied about.

Problem of Commercial Politician.

"There are two methods of ridding the country of the commercial politician. The one way is to crowd him out and the other method is to make his calling unproductive. Only under a bad system of government can the commercial politician thrive and prosper."

Mayor Harrison here gave examples of the manner in which Chicago, during the last eight years, has rid itself of the clutches of the boodler and has given to the office of alderman a genuine dignity, until today the title is sought by men of education, probity, and distinction.

Cure Is in People's Hands.

"The cure for commercial politics is in the people's hands. Call popular attention to what patient effort may accomplish, and the remedy will soon be applied. A large proportion of municipal corruption is directly attributable, first, to the method of performing important municipal work by the contract system; and second, to the giving of control of public utilities to private hands."

EX-ALD. HART NOT GUILTY.

Charge of Asking a Bribe Dismissed by Judge Barnes After One Witness Is Heard.

Former Ald. Frederick A. Hart, indicted two years ago, while a council member, was found not guilty of the charge of having attempted to solicit a bribe. The order was entered by Judge Barnes yesterday afternoon, after he had heard the testimony of one witness, E. R. Graham. Hart is the democratic aldermanic candidate in the Twenty-ninth ward. He was charged with having asked a bribe from Graham of D. H. Burnham & Co. The accusation was that he offered for a consideration to get an order through the city council allowing the bank building to exceed the height allowed by law.

JOLIET'S MAYOR IS AFTER FRAUDS

ARE HELD FOR PERJURY.

Declares It Impossible to Get Justice from the Will County Grand Jury.

Protesting that it is impossible to secure justice before a Will county grand jury, Mayor Crolius of Joliet has appealed to the United States authorities to assist him in exposing wholesale naturalization frauds which he asserts have been perpetrated there during the last three or four years.

As a result of his action Luigi Antonucci and Nunze De Lorenso have been arrested at the instance of United States District Attorney Bethea, and a third, Pasquale Mantenutio, will be brought to Chicago from Colorado. The men are charged with perjury in connection with the naturalization papers issued from Will county to Antonucci on March 22, 1902. The prisoners were released on $3,000 bonds.

Mayor Crolius says he has made repeated attempts to prosecute the offenders, but has been thwarted by the Will county state's attorney's office, which, he asserts, for political reasons, has shielded the criminals. He also declares the grand juries have evaded every effort of citizens to call their attention to the naturalization frauds.

Antonucci Makes a Confession.

Antonucci is declared to have made a confession which has been verified by intelligence received from his native town in Italy. De Lorenzo's name appears as witness on nearly 100 other papers issued during the last three years.

The contentions brought out in the confession of Antonucci are:

That he arrived in this country Nov. 4, 1901, when 16 years old.

That he took out naturalization papers in Will county on March 22, 1902, less than five months after landing in the United States, and after residing in Illinois less than three months.

That he voted at the town election in 1902, and has voted four or five times since.

That when he went to the courthouse to get his papers he told De Lorenzo he was less than 21 years old, and the latter instructed him to swear he was more than 21.

The confession was secured in Joliet through Patrolman Mandelli, who acted as interpreter. Although told the statement would be used against him, Antonucci insisted upon telling his story.

Crolius Promises More Arrests.

"There probably will be twenty more arrests within a few days in connection with the naturalization frauds in this county," said Mayor Crolius. "A full investigation will reveal crookedness in high political circles. I have known of what was going on for two years or more, and have made repeated efforts to secure indictments for men whom I have had arrested on charges of illegal naturalization. The state's attorney has turned a deaf ear, and the grand juries have refused to take action.

"I became convinced that the only way to prevent this crime against the government was to appeal to the federal authorities. De Lorenzo is the ringleader. He has helped scores of Italians to secure fraudulent papers by swearing he has known them the required time—five years or more—as residents of the United States."

Clerks Explain Plan of Procedure.

At the Will county courthouse William F. Hutchinson, who was county clerk at the time papers were issued to Antonucci, said the proceedings themselves were regular in every particular.

Hutchinson and a deputy clerk said they long had been suspicious of the manner in which Italians obtained naturalization papers, because most of them took out what they termed "minor papers." A foreigner entering the United States while under age does not have to take out any preliminary papers stating his intention to become a citizen. After he has lived here the necessary five years he can become a full fledged citizen. Many Italians of advanced age, who could not speak a word of English, have taken out "minor papers" stating that they have lived in the country since they were under age. The clerks have wondered why these men were unable to speak better English after having lived in the country so long.

The clerks say they spoke of the suspicious circumstances to the judges, but the latter said that so long as the law was complied with they could not refuse to grant the applicants' requests for naturalization papers.

"Politics," Says Joliet Attorney.

Attorney Downey of Joliet, who appeared before Commissioner Foote and gave bonds for the men arrested, said he is opposing Mayor Crolius because of the latter's record.

"Mayor Crolius has been in trouble over his interference with Italian voters in the last election," he said, "and there are matters still pending in court in this connection. He is now attempting to convict these Italians and thus show that he had grounds for interference."

Judges Have Naturalization Puzzle.

Another naturalization puzzle has been offered to judges of the Circuit court for solution. On the answer depends the future status of Andrew Alguba, 2056 Archer avenue, native of Manila.

The petitioner is a lead worker who came to the United States five years ago with the Forty-fifth volunteer infantry, in which he served.

If Alguba needs naturalization papers to vote, according to one judge, he cannot secure them, because members of the malay race are barred from citizenship by law. If he became an American by annexation he needs no naturalization papers, and has only to go and register, after establishing a residence, and vote.

For the board of election commissioners Judge Carter has decided men in Alguba's class are not entitled to citizenship.

WOMAN'S PLAN TO DEFRAUD ENDS WITH HER ARREST.

Mrs. Bertha Gorman Is Charged with "Raising" and Passing Postoffice Money Orders in Department Stores.

Charged with "raising" and passing money orders, Mrs. Bertha Gorman, 5636 Sangamon street, daughter of a mail carrier, and who became the wife of James J. Gorman, an employé of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company, last June, was arrested yesterday afternoon by postoffice inspectors. She was released on $2,000 bonds by Commissioner Foote, and the hearing set for March 16.

The woman offered a forged money order for $1 "raised" to $100 to a clerk in a State street store. She was kept waiting while a telephone message was sent to Postoffice Inspector Stuart, who arrested her.

Mrs. Gorman is said to have confessed that she has passed "raised" money orders, but she refused to tell what caused her to attempt to defraud the government, except, the officials say, that she had handled money orders for her father, who was secretary of a lodge, and decided that it was easy to get cash by "raising" orders for small amounts to greater figures.

The woman declared the first money order she "raised" was on Dec. 9, 1904. The authorities, however, say that since last August complaints have been frequent from department stores, which were losers of large amounts.

SHAKSPEARE INSULTED AT WEIMAR.

In England they speak of the "ragging of statues." The verb "to rag" is more popular over there than it is here. Its field of action extends between the lines drawn by the two other verbs, "to guy" and "to insult."

The Shakspeare monument in Weimar has been "ragged." Some person inspired either by a whimsical fancy or by a Teutonic hatred of England has covered the monument with black corrosive. It is a kind of Nessus shirt and has ruined the monument for life.

This is not the first time that Germany has "ragged" England during the last few years. The English papers cannot forget the ships that Germany is building. No nation can build ships without evoking English articles on "far reaching plots," "insidious designs," and "anti-British feeling." To compete with Britannia on the waves is an unfriendly act.

It is natural, therefore, than many Englishmen see in the "ragged" statue of Shakspeare another indication of German sentiment against England, and it may well be that the act of vandalism was performed by an excitable Anglophobe. There are such persons in every country. It is a matter of record, however, that English statues of Julius Cæsar have been daubed with dishonoring paint by fanatical Englishmen who seemed to resent the Roman invasion which took place about half a century before the birth of Christ. Was it an insult to Italy?

The fact is that every country breeds men whose top pieces are not securely screwed together. A statue is usually in an exposed place. It is easily reached by malice and lunacy. No country should feel resentful against another because it has been unable to get all its mild maniacs into asylums.

That the insult leveled at the Weimar Shakspeare was the work of an irresponsible, half-witted person is proved, if proof were needed, by the fact that the Germans have always had a special affection for Shakspeare. Wellington might be insulted by a sane German. So might almost any other great English warrior or statesman. But Shakspeare never. The Germans have claimed at times that they discovered Shakspeare. The authoritative Shakspeare lexicon is the work of a German scholar, and the German commentaries on Shakspeare are innumerable. So are the German stage revivals of Shakspeare's works. It is probable, in fact, that much more grubbing into Shakspeare has been done in the German universities than in the English ones.

On the whole, the English papers that are looking for German insults would better stick to the ships which Germany is maliciously and contumaciously building.

NOGI.

Nodzu gripped Kouropatkin's army and held its shoulders in a vise, while Kuroki broke its back and Nogi crushed its head. That tells the story of the battle of Mukden.

Nogi marched his army of Port Arthur veterans around behind the screen of battle raised by Oku's attack on the Russian right, and unexpectedly knocked at the gates of Mukden with the bursting shrapnel from his guns.

Nogi attacked Mukden from the west. He chose for his battle ground a bare, treeless plain, twenty miles long and seven miles broad. This plain he converted into an inferno. He sowed the frozen soil with shrapnel and bursted shells, fertilized it with melinite, lyddite, and shimose, and irrigated it with Russian and Japanese blood, and then he mowed his crop with the scythe-like sweep of six inch guns.

Out to this plain of the inferno went Kaulbars and his men, to be welcomed by Nogi with bloody hands. The Russian divisions were reduced to brigades, brigades to regiments, regiments to companies, companies to squads. Nogi's men had no shelter. The soil was frozen too deep for earthworks, and so they piled up their dead in heaps and fought their enemy from behind ramparts of human bodies.

For six days and nights Nogi's men clung to that inhospitable expanse of brown frozen earth—not only clung there but extended their lines, inch by inch, to the northward, until they reached out and covered with their guns the railroad that was Kouropatkin's line of retreat to the haven of refuge at Tie pass. Finally they cut and destroyed that road.

Oyama has other generals. There is Oku, who swept over ground mines, through barbed wire entanglements, and drove the Russians from the fort crowned slopes of Nanshan heights. There is Nodzu, who carried the redoubts in front of Liaoyang. There is Kuroki, who from the beginning of the war has scarred and seared and seamed the Manchurian landscape with battle all the way from the Yalu to the Hun.

But above all these there is Nogi—who fought and tunneled and blasted his way into Port Arthur, who destroyed a fleet of battleships, who captured fifty of the strongest forts ever constructed by a military engineer, and who turned the Russian flank at Mukden.

No wonder Nogi's men swept the Russians from that treeless plain west of Mukden. They would not be denied. They went into battle shouting, in Russian:

"Out of the way for us. We are Nogi's men. We are from Port Arthur."

CHICAGO AS A SUMMER RESORT.

A blue sky flecked with white clouds, the blue of the lake gently rippled, a feeling of drowsiness and languor in the air, thrills of vacation longings interrupting toil, the mild southwest wind with its unmistakable warmth, buds bursting and flowers opening before their time, and robins and blue birds singing in the parks, all proclaim not only that Chicago is enjoying spring's ethereal mildness and has escaped the customary unpleasantness of March and April, but that summer is hastening up this way and will be upon us before we are aware.

THE TRIBUNE for many years has felt it a pleasurable duty to call attention to the superior and now almost universally conceded attractions of Chicago as the great American summer resort, but never before has that duty been apparent at such an early date. The "leafy month" of June has usually been set apart for the opening of the great summer hostelry. Once or twice announcements have been made in May, but never in April, and yet here in March, that stormy month of "wind, and cloud, and changing sky," and the "rushing blasts through the snowy valleys," it has become necessary for THE TRIBUNE to issue its annual proclamation to pleasure seekers and health seekers that the summer resort is already open, not for three months, like those ephemeral resorts by seaside and mountains, but for six months, and for nine months for those who would enjoy the most perfect autumns in the world, not the "saddest" but the gladdest days of the year. Doubtless ere long it will be possible to keep the resort open the year round, rendering it unnecessary to go to Palm Beach, Santa Barbara, Pass Christian, Magnolia, Bar Harbor, Rye Beach, or any of those short lived resorts, where much discomfort is to be had at the maximum of expense.

Early as it seems, it is not too early for the summer pilgrims to make their arrangements and begin packing. Attractive as Chicago always is, she will be more attractive this year, because the season of attraction is so much longer than usual. Chicago this year will be semi-tropical, with many of the physical allurements of the Bermudas and the Sandwich islands, but, of course, with spectacles, functions, and revels not known to the "isles of the sea." Visitors need not fear about accommodations because of the unusually long season in prospect. Chicago cannot be overcrowded. There will be room for all.

Visitors will find here a perfect climate, a great lake, beautiful parks and boulevards, markets supplied with all the delicacies of the ocean, the lakes, and the gulf, a great university for the scholars, churches, settlements, and schools for the seriously inclined, and social functions of every kind.

It is not necessary to dilate upon the attractions of Chicago. Her claims as the great place of summer resort are never seriously disputed. The extraordinary feature of THE TRIBUNE'S annual announcement is the length of the season. Instead of three months, the resort will be open six and perhaps nine months.

A FRIEND TO THE CITY.

State Senator Burnett represents an Egyptian district where there are no large cities, where the sky is not clouded with smoke and the air is not poisoned by the noxious gases that are allowed to escape from the chimneys of rendering houses. The bill which he has introduced for the regulation and licensing of rendering plants and other breeders of stenches now in operation, and forbidding the erection of new ones nearer than one mile to any municipality, is not for the benefit of his constituents. It is the work of a benevolent statesman who has visited Chicago, has been shocked by its noisome stenches, and has concluded that he can confer no greater boon on residents and visitors than pure air. Senator Burnett is a genuine philanthropist.

If his bill shall pass the Chicago rendering establishments will have to apply to the state board of health for licenses to carry on business, which will cost $1,000 a year, and they will be subject at all times to the inspection of the state board. One of the packers, actuated by sentiments of acute civic pride, disapproves of the measure. He says "it strikes me that it is taking away from the cities the power to look after their own interests in these matters."

So far as Chicago is concerned the bill would merely cancel an unused power. What have city officials done in the matter of stenches to protect the interests of the people? Absolutely nothing. They have allowed the packers to poison the atmosphere as much as and whenever they please. One can see why the packers are satisfied with the present situation. They can trample without interference on the rights of their fellow citizens.

Sometimes a new broom sweeps clean. It may be that the state board of health would do what city officials have persistently failed to do. Chicagoans believe in home rule. They do not wish to have anything done for them by others which they are able to do passably well for themselves. They will not make a fight for home rule in the matter of stenches if local agencies are impotent to suppress them.

Chicagoans will not share the packers' objection to the Burnett bill. If it shall pass and the air be purified they will have great regard for its author and will name a street after him as a testimonial of esteem.

A SEATED AGE.

Motormen are to have seats. The Chicago City railway company is a reformed character, and it is bringing forth fruits worthy of repentance. It announced a few days ago that it was in a benevolent state of mind toward its patrons. This benevolence is a tidal wave. It has burst its confines, and while it threatens to drown the company's patrons is casting a fine spray over its employes.

We are almost all of us seated now. The farmer no longer plods his weary way. He sits on the harrow and gets his exercise shaking the lines over the horses. He used to have to go to town for his mail. Now he gets his letter by rural free mail delivery. When he wants to find out what Cousin John is doing he telephones.

Most men used to walk to work and walk back home for lunch. Now they live in apartment buildings that nestle coyly up against the elevated railroad. They would rather listen to metallic thunder than get out on their feet and do what the French call burning the pavement.

So what has happened to the life of action? The man who was engaged in important business used to be called a man of action. The university professor in his library was a man of inaction. But business has grown. The head of a corporation no longer repairs his machinery or helps to load his goods on his wagons. He sits in his office and receives diurnal tabulated reports on the cost of each item of manufacture. He is becoming every day more and more of a statistician. He looks over large masses of figures. He can in many cases find out whether or not a certain department of his business is efficient by simply glancing at the records which his subordinates have prepared. He initiates and administers and reforms from the center of his web. A professor of political economy could hardly have more to do with papers and documents and written evidences of unseen fact.

Meanwhile many a mechanic has taken the same route. He used to be all over the shop. He now stands in one place, receives his work from his right hand neighbor, and passes it on to his neighbor at his left.

Therefore this is the age of exercise. The early Illinoisan would have looked with amazement and bewilderment at a man who wanted to take ten minutes of dumbbells before breakfast. The Gauls and Germans used to ask the Roman commanders why they walked up and down in front of their tents. They weren't going anywhere? Why did they walk? Was it a religious rite? On being told that it was for the sake of exercise they were unconvinced. They couldn't understand.

A complex civilization is a civilization of seats and dumbbells. If we are crazy about physical culture it is because we have to be. As soon as we are a generation or two from the men who used to get their exercise largely in the course of their daily work we have to do our work and then take our exercise. The motorman needs golf as much as the bank president. Poverty no longer means a life of violent physical exercise and therefore robust health.

Proper exercise, outdoors and indoors, is one of the problems of a seated age.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD CAWDOR, the new first lord of the admiralty, is the owner of Cawdor castle, at Nairn, in Scotland, where Lady Macbeth is supposed to have murdered King Duncan while the memorable meeting of the "Thane of Cawdor" with the three witches took place on the "blasted heath" in the immediate vicinity of the castle. It is a gloomy pile, this grim and massive fortress, so strongly suggesting by its gaunt and menacing aspect the fierce and troublous times which Shakespeare has depicted in his most famous tragedy, and in an old chamber of the castle tower visitors are still shown the spot where "the silver skin" of King Duncan was "laced with his golden blood." The present earl of Cawdor and his family constitute a branch of that historic house of Campbell of which the king's brother-in-law, the duke of Argyll, is the chief. In the fifteenth century the "wild Campbells of Argyll" carried off Muriel Calder, the infant heiress of Cawdor, and when she grew up they married her to John Campbell, the fourth son of their chieftain, the MacCallum More.

Besides his estates in Scotland, the present earl of Cawdor has immense territorial possessions in Wales, which bring him a rental of a quarter of a million dollars a year, and which came into his family at the close of the eighteenth century through a wager with the last of the Vaughans of Golden Grove, earl of Carbery. Lord Cawdor spends most of his time at one or another of his beautiful places in Wales, but every year in the fall entertains house parties at Cawdor castle, where any guest who cares for the experience is permitted to sleep in the great high four poster bed on which King Duncan lay when he was murdered by the Macbeths. It is only now and again that guests, however, are bold enough to expose themselves to the risk of a midnight visitation on the part of Lady Macbeth, with a candle in one hand and a dagger in another.

The present Lord Cawdor has been until now the president and chairman of the Great Western railroad, to which he was elected by reason of his remarkable business ability. Of course, one of his daughters bears the name of Muriel. There has always been a Muriel at Cawdor castle; indeed, ever since the abduction of the little heiress of the Macbeths through whom the castle passed into the possession of the Campbells. It is said that the child had a piece of her finger bitten off by her nurse on the night of the abduction in order to insure her eventual identification.

A feature of the castle is the historic hawthorn. It seems that the original Thane of Cawdor was directed in a dream to load an ass with gold, turn it loose, and build the castle where it stopped to rest. The donkey halted beneath a hawthorn tree, round which the castle tower was accordingly erected, and the venerable trunk is still to be seen in the dungeon of the tower, its roots spreading out beneath the floor and its stalk penetrating through the stone walls above. Each year Lord Cawdor assembles his guests around it, who drink "health to the hawthorn," in other words, prosperity to the house of Cawdor. Against the wall in this same dungeon is the ancient iron bound oak chest which contained the gold loaded on the donkey's back, and which was used to build the castle.

It must be added, by way of explanation, that Macbeth, on becoming the Thane of Cawdor, on becoming king of Scotland through the murder of Macbeth, resigned the thaneship of Cawdor to the Calders, and it was Muriel Calder whom the Campbells abducted. Curiously enough there are still a large number of peasants employed on the estates bearing the name of Calder, and this is ascribed to the fact that after the abduction of Muriel the Campbells reduced all the members of her clan to the position of serfs.

The late Lord Cawdor was one of the most influential figures on the English turf, and the owner of Perdita II., and, like the duke of Portland and the late Lord Falmouth, made it a matter of principle never under any circumstances to bet. Lord Cawdor's eldest son bears the name of Viscount Emlyn, has been in this country on several occasions, served in the South African war, and occupied a seat in parliament.

Old Lord Southesk, who has just been gathered to his fathers, was the most learned antiquary of the house of lords and the head of the great Scottish house of Carnegie, founded away back in 1358, when King David II. of Scotland made a grant of the lands and barony of Carnegie in Forfarshire to John de Balinhard, a noble of the day, who thereupon took the name of Carnegie. The Carnegies have figured repeatedly in the pages of Scotch history and one of them in particular was one of the most faithful adherents and retainers of the ill fated Mary Queen of Scots. Another fell at the battle of Flodden, and then in the Jacobite rebellion the earldom of Southesk, which had meanwhile been conferred upon the family, was attained by act of parliament. Fortunately, one of the heirs of the earl, whose loyalty to the Stuart cause had brought about the forfeiture of his rank, managed by means of his services to the Hanoverian dynasty to recover the ancestral estates of the Carnegies, and, at the same time secured a baronetcy. His son, a grandfather of the late Lord Southesk, married Miss Agnes Elliot, daughter of Andrew Elliot, lieutenant governor of New York at the close of the eighteenth century.

The late peer succeeded in obtaining through the favor of the late Queen Victoria a reversal of the attainder against the earldom of Southesk, and this dignity, as well as the barony of Carnegie, was revived in his favor, while he was also honored by the queen with a united kingdom peerage—namely: the newly created barony of Balinhard, which gave him a seat in the house of lords. Prior to the restoration of the earldom, and while he was still known as Sir James Carnegie, he traveled extensively in this country at a time when tourists here were rare, wrote several pleasant books about the United States, and afterwards devoted much time to exploration in the more remote districts of Canada, where there are today several towns that bear the name of both Southesk and of Carnegie.

Lord Southesk's tastes for travel and adventure were inherited by his fourth son, the Hon. David Carnegie, who succumbed to the wound of a poisoned arrow while administering one of the most barbarous districts of northern Nigeria as magistrate. He had earned his appointment to the post by his services as a geographical explorer in Australia. He went out to the antipodes with the present marquis of Queensberry in the first place on a sheep farming venture, but abandoned it after a time in order to devote himself to gold mining at Coolgardie. This undertaking turned out more profitably than most enterprises of this kind, and he devoted a portion of the profits to the fitting out of an expedition with which he explored for the first time the then totally unknown desert region in the northern half of western Australia, which many had attempted to explore before him, their efforts invariably being attended by lamentable failure and often by fatal results. David Carnegie started from Coolgardie and terminated his eventful journey at the town of Derby at the mouth of the Fitzroy river. One of his brothers greatly distinguished himself during the siege of Ladysmith in the South African war. The eldest of the late peer's sons, who has until now been known as Lord Carnegie, succeeds to the earldom. He is an able man, devoted to scientific pursuits. His 12 year old boy, who has hitherto borne the title of "master of Carnegie," in accordance with Scotch custom, now becomes Lord Carnegie.

Princess Stephanie of Belgium, Countess Lonyay, has not only been defeated in the suit which she brought against her father, King Leopold, for her share in her dead mother's fortune, but what is far worse, has been condemned to pay the enormous legal costs of the proceedings, which, amounting to many hundreds of thousands of francs, have completely swamped the relatively meager resources of the ex-crown princess. As she insisted on going to law against her father in the face of the protests, the recommendations, and the urgent entreaties of the old emperor of Austria and other of her relatives who had formerly befriended her, she can no longer appeal to them for assistance, the more so, as they all bitterly resent the grave scandal which she has brought upon royalty in general by her unsavory lawsuit at Brussels.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

[Copyright: 1905: By Tribune Company.]

And like a wounded serpent the bloodstained river runs
Between the crouching armies, whose bugles sing of hate,
Whose great guns shout defiantly at city wall and gate.
But the dead they lie together, for them the fightings cease,
They sleep the last long sleep upon the mile-wide path of peace.

Yea, these who floor the valleys and these who line the hill,
They make a path that reaches all strangely calm and still Far down the reddened river with ruin on each side
To where the blackened shores are lapped by each slow, stately tide.
And the dead they lie together, unknowing friend or foe—
They are the path of peace that trails the armies as they go.

The colors that they fought for—the eagles or the sun—
Are flung across their faces now that their work is done;
And some whose arms were gripping in warfare's bitter clutch
Now sleep the sleep of brothers with hands in careless touch.
For the dead they lie together—Commander Death is kind.
He has the one great company where all men are assigned.

Their drums no more are beaten, their sabers sink in rust,
And glory rides above them—but they, they do not know
Nor care for glory's coming, nor dream of friend and foe;
For the dead they lie together and day by day increase
The breadth and length of that great road—the armies' path of peace.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Beresford Recital.

A song recital given in Music hall last evening by Arthur Beresford attracted an audience of fair size and kindly disposition. The young basso had arranged a program well calculated to test his abilities both as vocalist and as interpretative artist. Beginning with two of the "Serious Songs" of Brahms and two lieder by Bruckler, it further contained "Das Thal" of Richard Strauss, one of the more somber of the Dvorak songs, the Verdi "Eritu" from "Masked Ball," the "Pipes of Pan" and "Sword Song" of Elgar, an old English ballad, and songs by Foote and Colyn. It was a list in which the serious and the dark colored predominated, but the audience received the singer cordially and accorded him generous approval.

Mr. Beresford's voice is one of wide range, enabling him to compass successfully the Strauss lied, which is for deep bass, and the Verdi aria or the Elgar "Sword Song," which are comfortable only for the baritone. The voice is powerful, and certain soft effects, obtained legitimately in some of the songs—the Colyn "Persian Serenade" particularly—show that it is by nature flexible and fitted to lyric work. Lack of consistency, however, in the manner of producing the higher tones of the voice result in forcing and overtaxing, and tonal roughness ensues.

When the higher tones are properly covered they have sweetness, purity, and beauty, but a disposition to sing them "open" robs them of these virtues and works unfavorably upon the rest of the voice. For this reason much of Mr. Beresford's singing is wanting in tonal charm. Viewed from a musical standpoint, his work is in high measure commendable. He phrases intelligently and with taste, shades well as a rule, and in more impassioned selections shows emotional warmth and temperament. His best achievements last evening were in the Verdi aria, in the Elgar "Pipes of Pan," in the Colyn "Serenade," and in the old English "Quaff with Me the Purple Wine." The accompaniments were intrusted to Mrs. Bertha Smith Titus and were in competent hands.

There is another change in the opening date of "The Earl and the Girl," the new Shubert production which is to be seen at the Garrick theater. After having been twice postponed the date finally has been fixed for March 18. It was the intention to open the following evening, but the managers decided to give their new production a Saturday night opening. The company, including more than 100 people, will arrive here next Monday and from that time up to the time of the opening performance the company will be busy with rehearsals.

The nineteenth public rehearsal of the Chicago orchestra will take place this afternoon in Music hall. Vladimir De Pachmann will be the soloist. He will be heard in the Chopin F minor Concerto for piano. The orchestral numbers Mr. Stock has selected for performance are the Overture to Weber's "Euryanthe," the Sinfonietta (Overture, Scherzo, and Finale) of Schumann, and the great C major Symphony of Schubert.

NOT THE ONLY REPUBLICAN BOY.

Danville, Ky., March 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As I am probably your only subscriber in this place, I wish to correct one of your statements in regard to Gov. Hoch of Kansas, which appeared in the issue of March 3. Gov. Hoch was far from being the only republican boy in Danville. This community was known throughout the state as a "hotbed of abolition," being the residence of James G. Birney, the noted agitator; of Robert Breckinridge, the temporary chairman of the convention which renominated Lincoln for president; of S. S. Fry, a brigadier general in the federal army, who killed Zollicoffer, the confederate commander, at the battle of Mill Springs, and also of Gen. Boyle. Mr. John W. Yerkes of the Republican national committee, and United States commissioner of internal revenue, was a republican boy here at that time.

I think you'll regard this as ample proof that Mr. Hoch could not have been "almost the only republican boy."

CARNEGIE INSTITUTION SOLVES SOME "LIVE" SCIENTIFIC TOPICS.

Part of Revenue from $10,000,000 Endowment Devoted to Determining "Coat Characters in Guinea Pigs and Rabbits" and Study of Snake Venom.

BY RICHARD WEIGHTMAN.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—The Carnegie institution of this city is not as insignificant as it is bashful. Andrew Carnegie endowed the concern about three years ago, giving $10,000,000 in registered bonds, which yield 5 per cent in the way of income. This, as I figure it in my humble way, represents $500,000 of annual revenue.

The founder stated that in a general way his purpose was to establish "in the city of Washington an institution, which, with the coöperation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research, and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, etc."

So far as I know, the trustees have spent no money worth mentioning on offices, temples, luxurious structures of any kind. They seem to be devoting almost the entire income of the endowment fund to the encouragement of useful investigation and to the publication of works of great scientific value, which, without such financial assistance, would never see the light. All of which seems to be in exact accordance with Mr. Carnegie's declared wishes and is deserving of the highest commendation.

C. D. Walcott Is Head.

As is usual in such cases, there is a board of trustees, populated by distinguished gentlemen, most of whom live elsewhere, and few of whom ever attend a meeting or take more than a passive and perfunctory part in the management. The real head of the Carnegie institution is Charles D. Walcott, who happens to be also the director of the geological survey, department of the interior, and is therefore in Washington a great deal. I think it quite safe to say, indeed, that Mr. Walcott, known officially as the secretary both of the board of trustees and the executive committee, is the real executive head of the institution, with plenary powers in every detail of its conduct. And it must be a mightly useful arrangement, too, for I hear on all sides that Prof. Walcott stands in the front rank of government scientists.

Some of the trustees live in Boston, others in Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, or New Orleans, as the case may be. Two or three of the twenty-four have residences here, and may or may not attend board meetings occasionally, but Prof. Walcott is the head of the concern, as I gather from certain correspondence which I have had occasion to examine recently.

Letter Self-Explanatory.

About two years ago, then, he received the following communication, which explains itself:

Office of the president Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1903.—Gentlemen: In view of the fact that the leading object of the Carnegie institution is to encourage original research in all branches of human inquiry, I desire to call to your attention the lifelong studies in logic and philosophy of Charles Sanders Peirce of Milford, Pa., with a view to securing the publication of the valuable results which he has reached in this field.

Mr. Peirce has been a lifelong student of these subjects, and those who are best acquainted with his work feel assured that he has views to present which it is of the highest importance to have fully set forth by this author. He is acknowledged in Europe as well as America to be one of the foremost living authorities on the subject of logic and is looked upon everywhere as a man of a high order of intellectual power. He already has published a number of articles of great value on logic and the logic of the sciences in Monist and has contributed extensively to the Century dictionary, the logical department of Baldwin's Dictionary of Psychology and Philosophy, and to other encyclopedias.

He has also a high standing as a mathematician, chemist, and physicist. He is a profound scholar and a genius of the first rank, and I feel that the world of science should have recourse to his conclusions published in some systematic form, and as Mr. Peirce is not in a position, without some aid, to devote the necessary two or three years to the labor of preparing a book, which could never be remunerative, I strongly and confidently recommend that your committee give his application the most favorable consideration.

J. G. SCHURMAN.

To the Executive Committee of the Carnegie Institution.

Other Indorsements Received.

Similar letters were written by such scholars as W. E. Story of Clark university, Benjamin Ives Gilman of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, N. S. Shaler and Josiah Royce of Harvard, professors of Princeton, Chicago, Pennsylvania, and California universities, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, and Justice Holmes of the Supreme court. One indorser of Mr. Peirce, writing subsequently to a mutual friend, said:

"It is so exactly what the Carnegie institution ought to help that I am afraid it will not do so."

This is malicious, but it happened to be prophetic. Mr. Peirce was not assigned a place among the elect. Please do not jump to the conclusion, however, that the income of Mr. Carnegie's ten millions is wasted or improvidently applied. Looking over a list of the awards made about the same time that Mr. Peirce was rejected, I note with pleasure and encouragement the assignment of $[illegible] to Herbert Putnam to enable him to prepare a handbook of learned societies. Mr. Putnam is already the head of the library of congress, with a comfortable salary, luxurious offices in the finest of all the public buildings here, and no doubt a government horse, carriage, and flunky besides. Moreover, it is a dead safe bet that he can compile that handbook to the queen's taste without half trying.

$10,000 for Index Medicus.

Then there is $10,000 to somebody in the army medical museum for preparing the "index medicus"—whatever that may be. Prof. Bailey Willis of the geological survey—of course a friend and fellow worker of Prof. Walcott—gets $12,000 for "geological exploration in eastern China," while Leonard Waldo of New York is asked to make a "study of aluminium bronzes," with $[illegible] to support his system under the strain.

Raphael Pumpelly of Newport, R. I., is offered the beggarly sum of $6,500 for "a preliminary examination of the transcaspian region," and Prof. L. O. Howard of the department of agriculture receives $2,000 for "a monograph on American mosquitoes."

As a matter of further pride and reassurance, I may tell you that a great many ingenious and profound works of research already have been completed—and, presumably paid for. Before me is a catalogue of the recent publications of the Carnegie institution, for sale, not for free distribution, and from them I select for honorable mention—No. 4—"The Waterlilies." No. 1[illegible]—"The Influence of Grenville on Pitt's Foreign Policy." No. 21—"Mythology of the Wichita." No. 22—"Diplomatic Archives of the Department of State" (especially interesting just now in connection with Santo Domingo and Venezuela). No. 23—"Heredity of Coat Characters in Guinea Pigs and Rabbits"—and lots more of priceless value to the human race.

Guinea Pig Issue Vital.

I am not a scientist. There's no pretense about me. But I can understand that life must take on mighty beautiful and alluring hues to those who master the subject of "Coat characters in guinea pigs and rabbits" or stimulate and refresh a once jaded mind with complete information as to the American mosquito.

What Charles S. Peirce thinks about logic and philosophy may possess a certain academic interest. As it happens, however, he is starving on a little Pennsylvania farm and doesn't belong to the mutual admiration society in Washington.

But as long as Mr. Carnegie's $10,000,000 worth of bonds continues to yield 5 per cent we may be sure of keeping up with the geology of eastern Asia, the action of snake venom on cold blooded animals, tulips, the behavior of the lower organisms, and all the rest of the really poignant questions of the day.

WHAT THE HOTEL CLERK SAID.

[From the Washington Post.]

"Let me tell you something about this inauguration," said the chief clerk of one of Washington's best hotels. "This makes the fifth one I have gone through, and this one is incomparably better than any of the others in respect to the personnel of the visitors. Two weeks before it arrived our house was fully contracted for, and after that I busied myself filling up other hotels. Later still I must have done the same thing for twenty boarding houses. The night of the 3d a prosperous New Yorker who wanted a room and bath called me out for private conference.

"'My son,' said he, 'I am bound to secure lodging with you. I shall only be here three days, but am willing to pay this,' and he offered me a crisp new $100 bill. It was a real grief to turn down such a liberal hearted man, but it could not be helped.

"I merely mention this to show what sort of people came to see Col. Roosevelt made president. It was the finest looking, the best dressed, the most prosperous, the most intelligent assemblage of American citizens who were ever congregated in this town, and I don't think the equal of it could be seen in the capital of any other nation on the globe."

One Less Temptation.

"Did you notice how that Pittsburg millionaire removed a temptation from the pathway of his susceptible son?"

"No. How did he do it?"

"The boy wanted to marry an actress and the father objected. Then the father married an actress himself."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

COST OF WOMEN'S EDUCATION.

The following interesting figures, computed by the Association of Collegiate Alumnæ, show the cost of education in distinctly woman's colleges and those admitting women:

PLAN TO RETAIN ADAMS IN OFFICE.

Democrats Will Vote to Seat McDonald, and Court Tangle Will Help the Governor.

PEABODY'S FIGHT LOST?

Bribery Inquiry Halted Until the Governorship Question Is Settled.

Denver, Colo., March 9.—[Special.]—The Adams men are jubilant tonight and will support a plea which they have been advised by their attorneys will keep Gov. Adams in office until the end of his term.

In order to do this many democrats are planning to vote for Lieut. Gov. McDonald, republican. Democrats believe that if the legislature elects McDonald the federal courts will back Gov. Adams when he refuses to surrender his office. The theory of the democrats is that the legislative action in declaring McDonald governor will not be constitutional. At any rate, they say the matter can be kept in the courts until Gov. Adams' term has expired.

Questions for Supreme Court.

State Senator Alexander today introduced a resolution declaring that because of gross frauds by both parties there was no election in Colorado. The legislature decided not to adopt this without ascertaining just what its effect would be, and consequently it was amended to ask the Supreme court to decide the legality of declaring the governorship vacant before deciding the other questions involved. A decision is expected tomorrow. Yet the court may refuse to pass upon the matter at all.

The following questions were propounded to the Supreme court:

"Would Alexander's resolutions cause Peabody to be reinstated, because no successor having been elected, his former term would continue?

"Will it make Adams de facto governor by eliminating the Peabody claims?

"Will it make McDonald governor?

"Can we legally adopt it?"

It is believed the Supreme court will answer that McDonald can be declared governor. In that case the democrats will vote for McDonald and Adams will take the matter into the federal courts, which he has been advised can be done on a dozen different pretexts. The legislature must adjourn on April 1, and it is argued Adams easily can hold office that long, and after that there will be no way to force his removal.

Halt in Bribery Case.

In the meantime the allegations of Senator Richard W. Morgan in regard to bribery will be held in abeyance. The committee which has charge of the investigation of this matter held a brief meeting this afternoon, after which Senator Cornforth, its chairman, announced that, at the request of the attorneys on both sides, an adjournment had been taken, subject to the call of the chairman, or practically until the governorship tangle had been straightened out.

MAKE THE NEGROES LABOR; END CRIME, SAYS VARDAMAN.

Governor of Mississippi Orders Officials to Enforce Law Against Vagrancy and Thus Prevent Lynchings.

Jackson, Miss., March 9.—In an "address to the peace officers of the state," Gov. James K. Vardaman today called on them to prevent lynchings.

"The negro is the barbarian still, with a thin veneering of civilization," says the address, "and the education afforded him by the white man's money over a period of forty years seems only to have increased his capacity for crime. In his educated condition his aspiration to rise in the world and stand on a level with the white man, socially and otherwise, manifests itself in beastly assaults upon white women.

"I want the law enforced. I want the negro protected in the enjoyment of life, liberty, the product of his labor, and the pursuit of happiness. I want the mob spirit discouraged in every way. And the only way to do it is to enforce vigorously the law against the vagrants. If this is done I feel safe in saying that crime among the negroes in the state of Mississippi for the year 1905 will decrease 75 per cent.

"Officers of Mississippi, I expect you to do your duty. Most of the crimes that have been committed by negroes upon white women are traceable to your neglect of duty. I have yet to learn of a single case of this kind of crime being committed by a negro who made his living by honest toil, and had you done your duty in enforcing the law against vagrancy, the beasts who have blighted the lives of good women might instead have been in the county farm, working on the streets, or locked in prison."

NEGRO GOES TO HEATHENISM.

Dr. Daniel Flickinger Wilberforce Forgets Twenty-five Years' Christian Service and Is Chief in Africa.

Huntington, Ind., March 9.—The executive committee of the missionary board of the United Brethren in Christ has dropped from the rolls of the church Daniel Flickinger Wilberforce, a native African, who, after a service of twenty-five years as a missionary, was lured back to heathenism. He became chief of his old tribe of devil worshipers, and contracted plural marriages in the wilds of Africa.

Nearly fifty years ago Dr. Daniel Kumler Flickinger, secretary of the missionary board in West Africa, was in a village when the boy was born. He was christened Daniel Flickinger Wilberforce. Twelve years later the boy was brought to America by a returning missionary. Dr. Flickinger took him to Dayton, O., sent him to school, then to high school, and later to a medical college at Cleveland.

He married a negress at Dayton, and the two went to Africa to do missionary work among his old tribe. Later the family returned, and Wilberforce lectured throughout the central states. Then went to Africa. His two sons and two daughters attended Central college here.

AFTER BEEF TRUST IN IOWA.

Government Inspectors Are Busy in Des Moines Securing Evidence from Meat Shops.

Des Moines, Ia., March 9.—Three government inspectors are here to investigate the operations of the beef trust in Iowa. Many meat shops have been visited and efforts made to secure evidence that the local independent packing plant has been discriminated against in favor of the trust.

The inspectors will go from Des Moines to Sioux City, Kansas City, and South St. Paul before returning to Washington.

Iowans look upon the sending of the inspectors as a practical move inspired by the agitation among live stock dealers and independent packers.

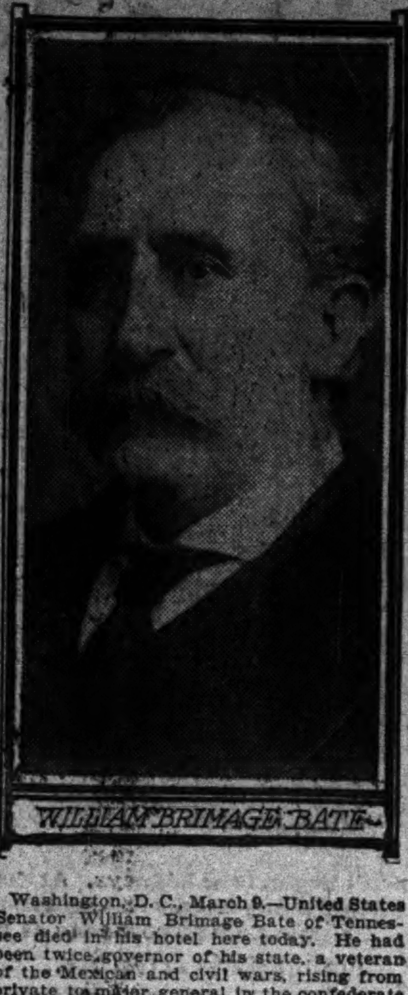

BRIEF COLD WAVE ARRIVES.

Thermometer Drops 18 Degrees in Five Hours—Will Be Lower Today—Warmer Next Week.

A March cold wave dropped down on Chicago last evening. The temperature fell from 48 degrees at 3 p. m. to 30 degrees at 8 p. m. Today it will be cold, with fresh northwest winds. A return to warmer weather early next week is predicted.

Senator Bate Dies Suddenly.

WILLIAM BRIMAGE BATE.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—United States Senator William Brimage Bate of Tennessee died in his hotel here today. He had been twice governor of his state, a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, rising from private to major general in the confederate army, and for eighteen years a member of the United States senate. He was 78 years old. Death was due to pneumonia and defective heart.

Senator Bate had attended the inauguration ceremonies on March 4, and his death is believed to be due to exposure on that occasion, when he suffered a slight chill. He became suddenly ill at the dinner table Tuesday.

Despite the efforts of his physician, he became steadily worse. Realizing that the end was near yesterday, he asked that he be buried at his old home in Nashville. At his bedside this morning when death came were Mrs. Bate, Mr. Masten, a grandson, Robert Cantwell, his private secretary; Mrs. Carmack, wife of the junior senator from Tennessee, and others. The widow, two daughters, a brother, and sister survive.

Senator Bate's body will be interred in the Mount Olivet cemetery in Nashville.

An official funeral will be held in the senate chamber tomorrow, when both houses of congress will be represented.

Close Fight for Successor.

Nashville, Tenn., March 9.—[Special.]—The death of United States Senator William B. Bate will necessitate the election of a successor by the legislature, now in session, within two weeks. Among those mentioned for the place are Gov. James B. Frazier, ex-Gov. Robert L. Taylor, ex-Gov. Benton McMillin, and Judge John K. Shields.

In the event of the election of Gov. Frazier John I. Cox, president of the senate, would become governor.

The legislature is democratic. The popularity of the probable candidates makes it certain the contest will be the closest in many years.

PAID $150,000 FOR SEAT.

CHARGES OF BOODLE IN SENATE FIGHT IN CONNECTICUT.

Preacher Appeals to Judiciary Committee of Legislature for More Safeguards in the State Elections—Declares Money Was Spent in Caucuses in More than 100 Towns in Sums from $300 to $2,500—Says Official Refused to Accept His Complaints.

Hartford, Conn., March 9.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Newman Smythe of New Haven, member of the Yale corporation, this afternoon, before the committee of the judiciary of the general assembly, charged, from information which he had obtained, that there was expended in the contest for United States senator between ex-Gov. Bulkley of this city and Samuel Fessenden of Stamford, $150,000. Gov. Bulkley was elected senator.

Mr. Smythe, discussing the proposed amendments to the corrupt practices act of Connecticut, was appealing to the judiciary committee for more safeguards in the elections in Connecticut. He said he had been making inquiries in more than 100 towns of Connecticut since the senatorial contest to get information of violations of the existing corrupt practices law. He told the committee it was a case in which money was spent in caucuses in considerably more than 100 of the 168 towns in the state. If he was at liberty to disclose his authority for that statement the members of the committee would not question it.

Then he said:

Towns Pay from $300 to $2,500.

"If I add together the sums credibly reported as so used in about fifty towns, ranging from $300 up to $2,500 and more if needed, and if I compute therefrom the average of the state, the amount foots up to $150,000. More than $2,000, to take one instance in a town of 800 voters, is the large pecuniary cover for a small political pot.

"I do not hesitate to say, with such information as I have from men in a position to know in many towns, in some instances from men who are in the game and who have themselves seen the goods handled, that this mass of political corruption has become intolerable."

Dr. Smyth said also to the committee, notwithstanding the notorious use of money and other considerations, that in the campaign nobody was prosecuted, not a jail door was swung open to receive a single political robber of the people of Connecticut.

State Officers Refuse to Act.

He appealed to the state police to investigate these charges of political corruption, and offered to furnish all the evidence he had to Supt. T. F. Egan of the state police. The latter informed Dr. Smyth that he had no power to prosecute offenses of this nature. Dr. Smyth said he appealed then to one of the state's attorneys, who turned down the appeal on the ground that he was powerless to act.

Dr. Smyth declared he could mention to a prosecuting attorney where he could look for evidence as to the number of votes alleged to have been purchased, the names of the delegates with whom definite sums of money may have found lodgment, and could adduce verbal and even written statements from those who claimed to have rejected bribes.

Some of these delegates, so Dr. Smyth said, had offers of $500 for the entire delegation of some towns and $200 and $300 for a single vote.

MORE ARRESTS FOR GAMBLING.

Assistant Chief Schuettler's Details Take Fifteen Men from Four Different Places.

Raids by members of Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler's gambling detail resulted yesterday in fifteen arrests. An alleged information bureau was found in room 402 Omaha building, and alleged handbooks at 1957 West Madison street, Forty-seventh and State streets, and in room 200, 155 Washington street. Two of the men arrested were charged with writing policy.

PLANS FIGHT ON TERMINAL LINES.

immediately commenced to use these terminal railroads, which it owned and operated exclusively as a means of evading the law. It forced the railroad companies to treat them as actual connections and not as switches. The trust demanded and finally received a proportion of every through rate on its own freight many times the amount it was entitled to on the basis of the actual mileage of cars hauled.

It has been shown to the satisfaction of the interstate commerce commission in many instances that this division of the through rate is actual and an illegal rebate. For instance, it is shown that the regular rate on farm machinery manufactured by the harvester trust from Chicago to the Missouri river is 30 cents per 100 pounds with a minimum of 20,000 pounds of freight per car. This means a total through freight rate from Chicago to the Missouri river of $60 per car.

Trust Rate Much Higher.

The harvester trust saw the switching charge of $3.50 and went it several times better. It induced the Wisconsin Central railroad to grant to its little switch track line, on which the maximum haul was four miles, the extraordinary proportion of 20 per cent of the total rate from Chicago to the Missouri river. This bold defiance of mileage and geography brought to the harvester trust railroad $12 a car for hauling its own freight, as against $3.50, which the interstate commerce commission has declared to be the maximum of the reasonable rate for switching service actually performed.

An identical scheme was worked by the steel trust through the medium of the little switch track railroad it calls the Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern. The steel trust managed to sandbag the eastern trunk lines into giving it a division of the through rate by means of which it received 15 per cent of the rate to Buffalo and Pittsburg, 10 per cent on traffic to the seaboard, and 20 per cent to the Missouri river and beyond. In the opinion of the commission the steel trust is by far the worst offender because it has extended its operations over practically the whole country from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky mountains, exacting and receiving illegal concessions in the way of excessive divisions of through traffic rates, although it owns only a few miles of switch tracks in its own yards and actually compels trunk railroads to operate the terminal railroad it claims to own.

Gives Result of Inquiry.

In summing up this branch of the case which it is preparing to reopen now for the purpose of developing the necessary legal evidence, the commission said in the report filed with the attorney general:

"The Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern, as found, is the creature of the United States Steel corporation. Questions presented by its operations differ from those already discussed chiefly in that the practices are of longer continuance and of wider scope. The International Harvester company, through the medium of its railroads, obtains no divisions whatever from eastern lines, but the United States Steel corporation, with its greater power, has been able to force from eastern connections divisions on all business.

"The International Harvester company has not yet been able to compel the railroads which handle its traffic to maintain its tracks or perform its switching services within its ironworking plant at South Chicago; but the Illinois Steel company for the last eight years has obtained from the railways transporting its traffic compensation for the maintenance and operation of miles of track which are located within its private works. In this respect the steel trust, to use a popular expression, is as far in advance of the harvester trust as the latter company is ahead of the ordinary shipper."

ARMY MAN WILL TELL SCANDAL OF WOMAN'S DEATH, THEN DIE.

Capt. Kirkman Declares Wife of Lieut. Chandler Was Suicide Because of Husband's and Relatives' Cruelty.

Valentine, Neb., March 9.—[Special.]—Capt. Kirkman at Fort Niobrara today gave out a statement concerning the causes leading to Mrs. Chandler's suicide last Friday night, and said that when he had made other disclosures his suicide would follow.

Kirkman declares Mrs. Chandler said to him: "My mother and I have fallen out forever, and I have been forbidden to return to my home in Baltimore."

"One cause of Mrs. Crandler's suicide," said Kirkman, "was the cruelty of her husband. He contributed only $80 to her support in a year, and while at Fort Crook he compelled her to do the work of a servant."

Kirkman admits that he had asked Mrs. Chandler to marry him when the court had granted the divorce. He says sensational disclosures are yet to come regarding the cruelties of Mrs. Chandler's family, and he will later give the names of the persons who are directly responsible for Mrs. Chandler's death.

Kirkman Cannot Resign.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Secretary Taft has declined to accept the resignation of Capt. Kirkman, now under trial by court martial at Fort Niobrara, Neb., on charges of scandalous conduct.

Additional charges of a serious character have been recently filed at the department against Capt. Kirkman, and these will be referred to the present court for consideration in connection with the original charges.

ELOPERS MARRIED IN COURT.

Six Young Persons Are Given Alternative of the Bridewell by Justice Mayer.

Three subdued young men and three downcast young women appeared before Justice Mayer yesterday. They were elopers, and they were charged with disorderly conduct.

"Marriage or the bridewell," said the justice in a "hanged by the neck until dead" tone of voice.

Then Robert Smith and Annie Hoppe and Hugh Smith and Mary Hoppe were united in marriage.

Arthur Page and Lena Vollmar, who had no marriage license, went to get one and failed to return.

The Hoppe girls are sisters, and ran away from 220 West Forty-sixth street on Wednesday. They were arrested in Wells street while planning how to get money for the marriage licenses.

In replying to his wife's suit for separate maintenance Robert O'Dwyer says his mother-in-law appeared at his residence several years ago and announced she intended to disrupt the family. She was annoyed, he alleges, when he compelled her to go away. To his wife's allegation that he has not maintained a comfortable home, he replies that he has two of them—connecting flats at 5357 and 5359 Jackson avenue—where Mrs. O'Dwyer and the six children live in luxury.

O'Dwyer denies that he has an estate of $50,000, and that he has an annual income of $12,000 from his real estate business.

Kijo Association Nominates.

The Kijo association yesterday afternoon made the following nominations: For president, Mrs. Charles Mann and Mrs. T. D. Palmer; first vice president, Mrs. J. C. Milchrist; second vice president, Mrs. J. L. Campbell and Mrs. George Strell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Maude Clarke Glenn; recording secretary, Mrs. Anna S. Gavette; treasurer, Mrs. Clara Schmitt. The election will be held next week.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT DOMINGO TREATY.

Senate Committee Approves It, with All Minority Men in the Opposition.

DOUBT AS TO OUTCOME.

Secretary Hay Declares State Department Acted Fairly Toward Upper House.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—The Santo Domingo treaty, as amended yesterday, will be reported favorably to the senate by the committee on foreign relations, which made its decision today. The vote was on party lines, every republican voting for the treaty and every democrat declaring against it.

This division caused considerable speculation among the senators as to whether party lines will be followed in the senate when the treaty is voted upon. The opinion was expressed that if the republicans stand for the treaty it is doubtful whether the democrats will feel like taking the responsibility of defeating it, as they could do by a strict party vote.

The republican leaders still lack assurance of the full support of their party in the senate, but they have received intimations that a few votes may be secured from the democratic side of the chamber.

Hay Explains Dominican Acts.

Secretary of State Hay today made a statement as to the facts regarding the negotiations with Santo Domingo. He said:

"I should like, if possible, to set at rest the confused, misleading, and harmful reports concerning the negotiation, not only of the Santo Domingo protocol now under consideration by the senate but also concerning the instrument signed at Santo Domingo City on Jan. 21, which sometimes is referred to as the Dillingham-Sanchez agreement.

"It has been asserted, and persistently repeated, that the department of state had knowledge of the existence of the agreement of Jan. 21 prior to the announcement in the public press that such an instrument had been signed at Santo Domingo City.

"It has been asserted further that the president and the department of state intended the hasty carrying into effect of some important arrangement with the Dominican government, without duly submitting to the senate for its consent any instrument in the nature of a treaty or protocol.

Protocol an Emergency Agreement.

"It never for a moment was contemplated that there would not be submitted to the United States senate, at the proper time for its consideration, a protocol or treaty embodying the essential features of the agreement signed on Jan. 21 at Santo Domingo city. This agreement was signed at that time for the purpose of meeting the requirements of certain political conditions at Santo Domingo to avert further disorder and bloodshed.

"The administration was proceeding in the ordinary way—that is, it was negotiating the treaty through the customary and acknowledged agencies, and when that instrument was thought to be in proper form it was duly submitted to the senate."

MERIT SCHEME FOR DIPLOMATS

Andrew D. White Would Have Half the Higher Grades Appointed and Half Promoted.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Andrew D. White, formerly American minister to Germany, before the Smithsonian regents today outlined what he said would be a good plan for the diplomatic service, as follows:

While about one-half of the ambassadors should be appointed, as now, from citizens distinguished for services at home, without reference to previous experience in the diplomatic service, at least one-half should be advanced by promotion from lower ranks in the service. This rule should obtain also as to ministers plenipotentiary, ministers resident, and the like.

As regards special or temporary grades, whether diplomatic agent, chargé, or commissioner, the whole matter should be in the hands of the president, as now.

As regards the lower ranks in the service, he proposed two grades of secretaries of legation and three grades of secretaries of embassy, to be appointed after examination, and when once appointed to be retained so long as they were efficient, and advanced from the lower secretaryships to the higher, and from the less important capitals to the more important, as they merited it.

Mr. White advocated also the appointment of young men from the various departments at Washington as attachés, to be distributed among the capitals of the world, in order to secure information on all subjects of interest to the home government, to obtain an experience and training which would enable them to return to useful careers.

Mr. White regarded as most important that every capital to which we send an ambassador or minister should have a proper embassy or legation building of its own. Mr. White declared that no other country does so much to protect the interests of its adopted citizens while abroad as our own; that, as regards Great Britain, its rule is, while protecting its subjects in all other countries, not to do so when they return to the land of their nativity.

GRAFT IN YELLOWSTONE PARK.

Man Complains That Railroad Gives Park Associations Preferential Rates, Killing Competition.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Complaint was filed today before the interstate commerce commission by William A. Wylie of Bozeman, Mont., against the Northern Pacific railway company, the Yellowstone National Park Transportation company, and Yellowstone Park association. He alleges that the railroad gives preferential rates for the same service of as much as $17.50 a passenger in favor of the defendants' hotel and transportation companies and against other competitors in the park. He says it affects many who tour the park but do not stop at the hotels in which the railway company is charged with having an interest.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The secretary of the treasury has issued a warrant for $750,000 in favor of Mansfield, McMurray & Cornish, lawyers, residing in the Indian territory, as fees for services rendered the Indians. The secretary of the interior declined to approve the claim on the ground that it was excessive, but congress declared it was regular.

The Catholic University of America has issued a card repudiating an impression which, it is said, exists among friends of the university that E. L. Scharf of this city is an instructor of that institution and that his public utterances on ecclesiastical, political, and scientific matters are indorsed by the university.

Allegations of partiality, tyranny, and insulting conduct are made against the mail bag repair shop of the postoffice department by Samuel L. Wilson, an employé. Supt. Severe and Timekeeper Garvey denied the charges.

Ex-Senator Quarles took the oath of office as circuit judge for the Eastern district of Wisconsin.

SELLS 2,500,000 DRINKS AT BAR

Philadelphian Celebrates Twenty-third Anniversary of Employment at Hotel and Sixty-second Birthday.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 9.—[Special.]—With a record of having served more than two million and a half drinks in one hotel, Temasso Ruggo today celebrated his sixty-second birthday anniversary at the Bellevue-Stratford, and the twenty-third anniversary of his employment at the hotel. His checks figure up $611,915.

JAPAN VS. RUSSIA.

"On the Firing Line."

ACTUAL conflict is the crisis of warfare. All the privations of forced marches, tedious drills and weakening exposure are but means to this end—that the soldier should be ready for actual battle at the proper place and at the right moment. The heroism of the battle-field is more spectacular, and usually appreciated, but there are many true heroes that have perished in war who have never "smelled powder," but who have succumbed to sickness and other vicissitudes of campaigning. The sick and debilitated man is as much out of place in his struggle for life and existence as he would be on the firing line, and on the other hand, the strong, vigorous man, his veins filled with pure, rich blood, has an enormous advantage in whatever position he may be fated to occupy, in war or business.

"Blood will tell," is an axiom that in all the ages has never been gainsaid. Every man who does a brave, heroic act carries within his veins a quality of blood that urges and sustains him. No matter whether he inherits it from a long line of famous ancestors or from the sound and healthy constitution of his immediate parents, whose only distinction is honorable toil and a simple, virtuous life, pure blood is the best protection possible against disease of any nature whatever. This protection which the blood gives against the germs of disease is one of the mysteries of modern medicine, but it is a universally admitted fact that the blood has this power, the only question in the minds of scientific men being as to the exact manner in which this is accomplished. Some think it due to a peculiar quality of the serum or fluid part of the blood; others believe that the white blood cells do the work. This latter view is based on the fact that pus, when examined under the microscope, is found to be made up of white blood cells, which contain within their substance the bodies of dead bacteria which have been overcome and devoured. The red cells should be full and round, and capable of absorbing large quantities of oxygen and distributing it throughout the system. Nearly all the vital organs, as the lungs, kidneys and skin simply serve the body by purifying the blood. The liver, especially receives large quantities of blood and extracts from it the poisonous matters which are thrown out by the bile.

It matters little where or how you obtain it, but it matters all the world that by some means you possess good blood. Good blood is first, last and always the making of manly men and womanly women. It is the source of all courage, virtue and happiness.

When manly mentality and womanly courage have been sapped and undermined by the subtle, disintegrating poison of physical debility and mal-nutrition, the spirit ceases to be "willing" because the flesh is weak, the blood is impoverished, the nutritive powers depleted. It is by overcoming these physical disabilities and restoring the forces of nutrition to full and complete vitality that Dr. Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" gives back to men and women their true birthright of hopefulness, endurance and heroism. It works in the natural way, purifying the blood, toning up the stomach and gently stimulating the liver and bowels to renewed effort. It reaches the root of the disease and stamps it out from the system, so that the patient is cured to stay cured. For nearly forty years it has stood the test of time, and stands to-day in a proud position of superiority.

Thousands of households throughout the United States know the value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is nature's most valuable and health-giving agent—made without the use of alcohol. It contains roots, herbs and barks, and is the concentration of nature's vitality as found in the fields and woods. This remedy has a history which speaks well for it because it was given to the public by Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., nearly forty years ago, and has since been sold by druggists in ever increasing quantities. Some medicines, tonics or compounds, enjoy a large sale for a few years, then disappear from the public attention, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved such a reliable blood remedy and tonic that it often enjoys the confidence of several generations in a family, and its increased sales year by year coming from the recommendations of those who have tried it, prove its lasting merit, so that every bottle bears the stamp of public approval.

WHAT A SOLDIER SAYS.

"Thirteen years ago I was wounded by a ball passing through my lung," says George H. Belcher, Esq., of Dorton, Pike Co., Ky. "I have had a bad cough ever since with shortness of breath, and it was very easy to take cold; the slightest change of weather would cause the cough to be so bad I would have to sit up in bed all night.

"I could not eat nor sleep at times; I was all run-down; I could not work at all. A few months ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I have not used more than two bottles and now I can eat, sleep and work, and I feel like a new man. I cannot find words to sufficiently recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or tell the good it has done me."

are based on the necessity of controlling large bodies of men in order that their combined force may be directed toward a point of attack. The rules of health which guide and direct the human system in its struggle against disease, are fully explained in the "Common Sense Medical Adviser." Send Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., 31 one-cent stamps for this great doctor book of 1008 pages. Many a siege of sickness has been avoided by its help.

We guarantee that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does not contain alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. It is a pure compound of medicinal plants scientifically combined. Persons making false statements concerning its ingredients will be prosecuted.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, PRESIDENT.

country has been entered into by the government of President Morales and the United States minister.

"Such action on the part of President Morales is unconstitutional and illegal, and could not even be taken by the sovereign people of the republic. Morales is the only man in the republic who wants a convention of such a character. He fears to give the people an opportunity to express their views. The effect of the treaty will be to deliver the republic into the hands of a foreign government.

"We protest energetically, solemnly, formally, and irrevocably against the treaty which confers upon the United States powers which cannot and ought not to be vested in a foreign state. To make this protest effective, we declare that we earnestly deplore the usurpation of the inalienable rights of the republic by Señor C. F. Morales, and that we will make all possible efforts to induce the great powers to aid us in making this protest effective, as well as invite our fellow citizens to adhere to this protest which is imposed upon all by pure patriotism."

Revolution Is All the Talk.

Revolution is all the talk here, and the generals make no secret of their plans. They go about their plotting without reckoning with the British view of the laws of neutrality.

"Grand Turk island," said Commissioner Young, the British agent, "will not serve as a base for the operations of the revolutionists of Santo Domingo."

At the time the commissioner made this statement half a dozen of the Dominican generals were seated in a small frame house at the other end of the town preparing plans to inaugurate another war against the government of President Morales, and a schooner was lying outside in the harbor reported to be loaded with arms and ammunition for the revolutionary forces.

The commissioner, who is an impressive looking official, with white hair and white mustache, and whose place is on Piccadilly rather than on the beach boulevard of Turk island, recognizes that American intervention in Santo Domingo, as accomplished at Puerto Plata and Monte Cristi, and contemplated under the treaty negotiated by Minister Dawson and pending before the senate, has created a different situation with respect to the obligations of the British colony.

In the past, it is said, he has shut his eyes to the smuggling of arms and ammunition into Turk island and their transshipment to Monte Cristi or some other Dominican port.

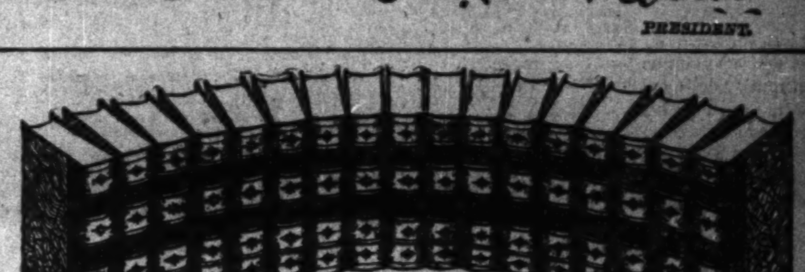

United States Consul Moffatt, however, is now keeping a keen watch upon the revolutionary leaders and the merchants in compliance with instructions from Washington, and the other day the torpedo boat destroyer Worden dropped into port to ascertain if any revolutionary movement were about to occur. Mr. Moffatt insists there is no danger of a revolution, that the "outs" have no money, and that without money they can do nothing.

PLAN FOR A BIG AUDITORIUM.

Committee Takes Steps for Erection of Building Which Would Meet All Emergencies.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Initial steps, which may result in the erection in Washington of a large auditorium for the holding of conventions, future inaugural balls, and other large gatherings, were taken today at a joint meeting of persons appointed by the inaugural committee, the board of trade, and the Business Men's association. The committee believes a structure 500 feet long and 175 feet wide would be ample.

An American Encyclopædia

Its subjects embrace all nations, all people, all things. It is written by Americans, edited by Americans, and prepared entirely from an American standpoint. Nothing within the scope of human knowledge omitted. The publication of marks the completion of one of the greatest literary enterprises ever undertaken in the United States.

The Editors-in-Chief: Daniel Coit Gilman, LL.D.; Harry Thurston Peck, Ph.D., L.H.D.; Frank Moore Colby, M.A., assisted by over 400 eminent American scholars, have brought together in this encyclopædia a greater fund of accurate information, on a greater range of subjects, more profusely illustrated, than has ever before been included in any encyclopædia in English.

It is published by one of the oldest and best known publishing houses in the United States.

It contains 16,329 pages, treating 67,097 separate articles on over 100,000 subjects. Every article is newly written. You can go to The New International with confidence that you will find what you wish to know. The matter is not ten or twenty years old, but brought right down into the year 1904.

To accompany the encyclopædia, we have a companion volume containing courses for study and reading in The New International, which will greatly increase the value of the encyclopædia to you.

A HANDSOME BOOK FREE

We will send to any one who is interested in knowing about this great International encyclopædia a handsome 80-page book which tells all about encyclopædias, their advantages and defects. It tells how this encyclopædia was made, and why; who made it, and a thousand other interesting things about it. It is an entertaining and instructive book, with maps, full-page colored illustrations, and sample pages from The New International.

If you have no encyclopædia, or have an old, unreliable one, or if you have been tempted to purchase one of the bargain-counter editions, you should read this book.

We are not offering a work whose only merit is its cheapness. The New International Encyclopædia at its price will prove the best bargain of your life, and the price is within your reach; the payments so easy that any one can meet them.

FIRST PRACTICE FOR WHITE SOX.

Comiskey's Men Spend Two Hours in Strenuous Work on Soggy Field.

ARRIVE SIX HOURS LATE.

Manager Jones Decides to Give Jimmy Callahan a Trial at First Base.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—The White Stockings' first practice stunt of the season occupied only a couple of hours today, but was strenuous enough to try out every muscle and produce plenty of the usual lameness.

No work could be done here until this afternoon, because the task of disembarking and securing the baggage occupied all the forenoon. The Sox train did not land them in New Orleans until 2 a. m. today, nearly six hours behind time, but they were allowed to sleep until morning. Then they awoke to find their sleeper had been switched up into the yards many blocks from the station and there was nothing to do but wade through Louisiana mud for over half a mile before striking a pavement or car line. The rest of the morning was spent in getting located and resting up from the tedious trip.

It would have been impossible to get in any forenoon practice if the team had arrived last night on account of the recent rains.

May Play Callahan at First.

Manager Jones has made a tentative solution of his outfield tangle by suggesting that Callahan be tried out at first base, leaving the suburban work to Holmes, Green, and the manager. President Comiskey thinks well enough of the idea to give it a test as soon as the regular work begins. Jones argues that if Callahan was good enough as an infielder to be tried at second base he ought to be able to play first, and the Sox will need every ounce of their batting strength this year. The master of the Sox is willing to be "shown." Callahan's weakness on thrown balls at second base may not be apparent at this initial corner, where the throws are entirely different. If Callahan can make good there it would give the team its full batting strength.

Instead of preceding the Chicago party as was expected Altrock, McFarland, and Harry Clarke did not reach here from Cincinnati until 8 o'clock this morning, having taken a later train than was intended.

Isbell arrived at 9 o'clock tonight, having missed even the belated connections at Birmingham. He stopped there last night. He is as brown as ever, but refuses to remove his hat at all. His arrival completes the Sox party, with the exception of Sullivan, who is expected on Saturday.

Comiskey has a scheme for next year to keep Isbell from getting lost annually, and that is to hire one of the famous Wisconsin guides, "Fergy" or John Rivers, to blaze a trail next winter from Wichita to the training grounds, and then pilot "Izzy" over the trail in the spring.

Practice on Soggy Field.

Practice was taken today on the old Sportsman's park, which is surrounded by cemeteries. The Southern league grounds were too heavy from recent rains to be available, and the old park was pretty soggy. Seventeen of the players, however, managed to begin the work of loosening up their muscles and trimming their batting lamps, despite the deep going, as the weather was warm and favorable to drier conditions tomorrow.

George Davis' trunk missed connections somewhere between here and New York, so that he was unable to get into harness, but the rest went through fairly fast paces, the day's work being wound up by a run from the park back to the Young Men's Gymnastic club, which is the training headquarters for the Sox. This will be repeated tomorrow morning and afternoon, and the first game will be played on Saturday with the local team.

The Sox seem to need little conditioning, except to harden their muscles for the pennant battle. There is little extra weight on any of the players, who appear to have wintered industriously. Callahan, Walsh, and Smith appear larger than last year, but as Smith has been juggling pianos for his father's transfer business, his extra weight is the real goods.

Crescent City Is Overcrowded.

The Crescent city is overcrowded with visitors left over from the carnival, many of them staying for Saturday's Derby race. Hotel accommodations are at a premium in consequence, and the Sox are installed temporarily in the big banquet hall of the St. Charles, where their twenty cots in two tiers make the room look like a hospital. Conditions are improving daily, however, and they will be better quartered shortly. Most of the team will remain here until the night of the 19th, although a second nine will be taken to Galveston next Friday for a series of six games.

COLTS PRACTICE BASE SLIDING.

Selee's Men Spend Busy Day on Diamond at Santa Monica—Keen Fight for Places.

Santa Monica, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—Base sliding was added to the work of the Chicago National league baseball squad today and several of the men are dragging their legs about painfully tonight. For over two hours Manager Selee put the players through batting practice and baserunning. Then the heavy men were sent away on a lope around the bicycle track.

After a bath in the surf and a rub down, the men weighed in again. They are all down to playing weight. Jack McCarthy tipped the scales at 163½ pounds, which is half a pound lighter than he has been so early in the season in the last five years.

As the date for the opening of the season approaches the fight between the new men for places on the team becomes keener. This is especially true with the outfielders. With eight men to select from to fill the three garden positions, Selee is pretty certain to have a strong outfield this year, which will include good hitters. The manager will not even mention any man as not likely to stay with the Colts through the season.

Two changes in the schedule of games for next week have been made. The game between the two Chicago teams set for Tuesday has been declared off, as has also the game set for Wednesday between McCarthy's team and Occidental college at Pasadena. The bad condition of the college diamond was the cause. In its place a game will be played on the grounds here between Chicago and Los Angeles. Tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday games are scheduled at Los Angeles. Briggs, Lundgren, or Brown probably will pitch tomorrow.

This afternoon the players went sightseeing, fishing, or bathing as usual.

McGinnis' Body to Be Brought Back.

Sheriff Barrett and Capt. A. C. Anson have arranged to have the remains of Charles McGinnis, who died at Phoenix, Ariz., on Sunday, brought back to this city for interment. McGinnis played for years in the city league, being well known and familiarly called "Pidge" McGinnis. He contracted tuberculosis and Capt. Anson and Sheriff Barrett sent him to Arizona in the hope he would recover.

Company K won the First regiment meet held in the armory last night, scoring a total of 45 points. Company G was second with 11 points, and Company L third with 10. The victory was easy for "K" all the way. Firsts and seconds were all they cared for, but those they liked.

It was a circus, the biggest exhibition ever, with fourteen acts, and every one unique. The soldier boys entered for the fun of it, and the way they cavorted over the hurdles, ran around the turns in the relays, and crawled through the barrels in the obstacle race was not slow. If some of those who entered in the hurdles had competed in the high jump instead they would have crowded out the point winners in those events without trouble. But the hurdles were more fun. Who cared who won?

Pettit the Hero.

Zell Pettit was the hero of the evening. In the fourteen acts of the performance, just before the curtain dropped, at every act the spectators looked for Pettit. And nearly every time he came to the front of the stage he, hero like, took the villains down a peg just as they were about to accomplish their ends.

Dan Henrici of Company K was the heavy man of the show. He weighed in at 230 pounds, and entered the two mile event and the obstacle race. In the long distance run he tired, and at the end of three laps took a rest until the other contestants could catch up to him on the last lap. Then he sprinted, and nearly beat out the next to last man. He only ran four laps of the race, but he was fresh at the finish. That race was won in 12:10. In the obstacle a claim of foul against him was put in because he caught in one of the barrels while crawling through, and the man following him had to wait until he was extricated.

KILL ANTI-PRIZE FIGHT BILL.

Measure Forbidding Ring Contests Is Defeated in the Assembly in California.

Sacramento, Cal., March 9.—The anti-prize fight bill was defeated in the assembly today by a vote of 33 to 35.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.—The Frawley boxing bill, permitting limited round contests between amateurs under the sanction of the Amateur Athletic union, passed the senate today. The bill now goes to the assembly.

LOCAL GOSSIP OF THE RING.

Martin Duffy Offered a Match with the Winner of Mellody-McCarty Go—Bouts for Fitzgerald.

Martin Duffy, who returned yesterday from Indianapolis, where he won a ten round decision from Dick Fitzpatrick, denies Dick had him going in the last round. He says he had his own way throughout, and was only stalling in the final session. He stated he battered Dick at will and punished him severely. Duffy does not show a mark. Martin has been offered a match with the winner of the Mellody-Jerry McCarthy fight at Butte on March 17, which he practically has accepted. He also would like to arrange a match with "Buddy" Ryan for the welterweight championship of America, a title to which he had first claim several years ago.

Duffy is a few pounds lighter than when he met Mellody at Battery D and can fight strong at 142 pounds.

Hyde Park Girls the Victors.

The Hyde Park girls won their sixth straight game in the high school basketball league yesterday, defeating the Lake High five by a score of 21 to 14 in the University Settlement gymnasium. The game was closely contested for the first half, the count at the end being 10 all. Lineup:

Hyde Park [21].		Lake [14].
Bulkley	Right forward	Egan
Hartt	Center	Shoupe

St. Paul, 66; Endeavor Brigade, 26.

The St. Paul Brotherhood basketball team last night defeated the Endeavor Brigade at the St. Paul gymnasium by a score of 66 to 26. Baskets were thrown as follows: Steinmiller [8], Shogren [14], Anderson [3], Ring [5], Lehman [5], Stevens [3], Martin [2]. Free throws were: Shogren [6], Lehman [4], Stevens [2].

Chicago Vs. Iowa Tonight.

The University of Chicago basketball team meets the five from the University of Iowa tonight in the Bartlett gymnasium.

Morrell Is Automobile Chairman.

New York, March 9.—The directors of the American Automobile association tonight elected Robert Lee Morrell of this city chairman of the racing board in succession to W. C. Temple of Pittsburg, who recently resigned. The business of the last meeting of the racing board, which took important action concerning the Vanderbilt cup race and other matters without a quorum being present, was approved of and made regular. The Hartford, Conn., automobile club was elected to membership.

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

Swift No. 1 team of the Packers' league last night set a new high game record for the south side, notching 1,126 against the Nelson Morris team. The best previous score was 1,106 rolled by the Muellers last year.

Swift's total is the third best this year, being next to 1,163 made by the Elgins and 1,129 by the Chocos. The side averaged 996 2-3. Flanagan's team in Kloempken's spring league rolled 1,108 and averaged 984 2-3.

The best contest of the night was between the Drummers and International Harvesters in the Business Men's league, the former averaging 1,013 and winning three straight against an average of 972. Davisson of the Harvesters averaged 241 1-3, the second best figures of the year. Scores:

WORK BY DERBY HORSES.

CANDIDATES FOR CRESCENT CITY CLASSIC SHOW PACES.

Kittie Platt and Jake Saunders Win Races at Fair Grounds—Jim Beatty in Workout Goes a Mile in 1:50—Trapper Runs Mile and a Furlong in 2:10—Jockey Aubuchon Wins the Last Five Events—Lady Ellison Is Beaten.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—Five Derby candidates showed their paces today, two in races and three in workouts. Kittie Platt and Jake Saunders won races at seven furlongs at the Fair grounds, Jake Saunders being best from a time standpoint. He was worked out the mile in 1:46.

Jim Beatty, who has been well touted by the railbirds recently, did a nice mile before the first race in 1:50. Between races Trapper was sent a mile and a furlong in 2:10, kicked out, and Ram's Horn in 2:11 easily. Phillips rode Trapper, Crimmins was on Ram's Horn. The latter's work, considering his alleged dislike for the soft going, was exceptionally good.

If the track is muddy Saturday it looks now as if the betting order of preference will be Trapper, Right Royal, Ram's Horn, Jake Saunders, King's Trophy. If the track is fast Ram's Horn will be the favorite at even money or less, Trapper second choice, and Right Royal third choice.

Aubuchon Rides Five Winners.

Jockey Aubuchon distinguished himself at the Fair Grounds mud this afternoon. After Jack Martin, Shaver, and H. Phillips had landed a winning mount each Aubuchon took the rest of the card of eight races, bringing home five winners in succession. There was more quantity than quality in the day's events. The fields in the eight races were badly scratched up. The handicap at seven furlongs had only four starters. Jake Saunders at 7 to 10 won all the way.

Kittie Platt beat Charlie Ellison out of a good bet on Lady Ellison in the seven furlongs for fillies, but if Kittie Platt had not been there Lord Mercury would have served the same purpose. Both of them were better than Ellison's trick.

Sam Hildreth pulled off a good thing with his old plater Censor and then let him go to Hickey Brothers, who ran him up to $900.

Queen Rose made a runaway race of hers and attracted the attention of Hickey Bros., who ran her up to $1,100, but did not get her. Mauser liked the going and ran his race in a gallop. Montpelier scored the easiest win of the day. He was pulling up twelve lengths before Fleetful.

Fair Grounds Summaries March 9.

First race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Light Note, 117 pounds [J. Martin], 7 to 10, won; Roderick Dhu, 5 to 1, second; Billy Wake, 20 to 1, third.

Second race, 1 mile, selling—Montpelier, 104 pounds [Shaver], 16 to 5, won; Fleetful, 5 to 1, second; John II., 15 to 1, third.

Third race, 9-16 mile—Beachwood, 105 pounds [H. Phillips], 13 to 5, won; Blue Grass Lad, 3 to 1, second; Verihest, 5 to 2, third.

Fourth race, ⅞ mile, handicap—Jake Sanders, 111 pounds [Aubuchon], 7 to 10, won; Tern's Rod, 7 to 1, second; Lucky Charm, 13 to 5, third.

Fifth race, 1 mile, selling—Mauser, 106 pounds [Aubuchon], 6 to 5, won; Blue Blaze, 6 to 1, second; St. Blue, 15 to 1, third.

Sixth race, ⅞ mile—Kittie Platt, 107 pounds [Aubuchon], 7 to 5, won; Lady Mercury, 20 to 1, second; Lady Ellison, 4 to 5, third.

Seventh race, ¾ mile—Queen Rose, 97 pounds [Aubuchon], 13 to 5, won; Lord French, 25 to 1, second; Laura Hunter, 12 to 1, third.

Eighth race, ¾ mile, selling—Censor, 109 pounds [Aubuchon], 3 to 1, won; J. W. O'Neil, 9 to 2, second; Owasca, 9 to 2, third.

CARNIVAL CROWD AT CITY PARK.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—One of the best crowds of the carnival season saw some good racing at City park today, although the program contained no feature of promise. The finishes, however, for the most part were close. The condition purse, at six furlongs, was marred by the withdrawals of Astarita and Boomerack. Green B. Morris' speedy 3 year old filly, Gold Rose, from California, was favorite at 3 to 5. She is not particularly partial to heavy going, and, while she had the foot of her company in the early stages, she tired, and Sid Silver beat her by a length and a half.

First race, ⅝ mile, selling—Roxell, 107 pounds [Gannon], 5 to 2, won; St. Venice, 9 to 1, second; Bonnie Reg, 9 to 1, third.

Second race, 1 mile, selling—Attilla, 101 pounds [Young], 21 to 5, won; Dr. Kier, 6 to 1, second; Sandbath, 15 to 1, third.

Third race, ¾ mile—Sid Silver, 110 pounds [Young], 9 to 5, won; Gold Rose, 3 to 5, second; Reticent, 6 to 1, third.

Fourth race, 1 mile, selling—Brunswick, 104 pounds [Foy], 12 to 1, won; Conundrum, 15 to 1, second; Evaskill, 13 to 5, third.

Fifth race, ½ mile, selling—Temple, 98 pounds [McLaughlin], 8 to 5, won; Gray Dal, 18 to 5, second; Favorita, 7 to 2, third.

Sixth race, 1 mile, selling—Juba, 100 pounds [Nicol], 16 to 5, won; Cursus, 4 to 1, second; Second Sight, 30 to 1, third.

Seventh race, 1 mile, selling—Lacache, 97 pounds [J. Howell], 7 to 1, won; Prince of Endurance, 12 to 1, second; Doeskin, 7 to 2, third.

ENTRIES.

Harness Horses Die in Fire.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 9.—Seven valuable horses died from suffocation at a fire tonight in the stable of John Ward, 229 Sixth street. The list includes Miss Ward, pacer, with a record of 2:14½; Charles Signey, trotter, 2:21¼; and Jolly Bee, trotter, 2:22. The others were May Ward, a promising 2 year old; Alhambra, a pacer, and a valuable carriage team of black horses.

Columbia Yacht Club Reception.

The Columbia Yacht club will hold its second annual reception and dance at the Masonic temple drill hall tonight. The decorations will include the burgees and colors of all the local yacht and boat clubs. A feature will be the appearance of the Columbia club members in full yachting uniform.

Flinn Captains Yale Hockey Team.

Sporting Notes.

The indoor baseball nine of McKinley High school will play the alumni of the school in the Lewis gymnasium this afternoon.

President Allan L. Blanchard has called a special meeting of the Western Skaters' association at the Sherman house tonight.

Tsunejiro Tomita, the jiu jitsu instructor of the Illinois Athletic club, and his assistant will come west with the Cornell university athletic team for the Coliseum charity meet March 25. Prof. Tomita wired from New York last night to that effect.

MISSOURI KILLS RACETRACK LAW.

OTHER ACTION TO FOLLOW

Bill to Prohibit All Betting on Horse Races May Come Up Today.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 9.—[Special.]—The substitute to the bill introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Godfrey, providing for the repeal of the breeders' law, which recently passed in the house, was passed in the senate today by a final vote of 18 to 13.

The racetrack men were powerful enough to postpone the vote into the afternoon session. While the battle was in progress in the senate Gov. Folk and Attorney General Hadley were trying to discover the boodle which, it was reported, had arrived to aid the racetrack men in holding the last ditch. When the vote was finally taken fourteen voted against repeal of the breeders' law and seventeen (one less than a constitutional majority) in favor of repeal.

Hicks Changes His Vote.

Then Senator Hicks, who, it afterwards appeared, had voted against repeal only to be able to move to reconsider in the event the racing interests won on first ballot, jumped to his feet and moved reconsideration. This proposition carried, and on second ballot Hicks changed his vote from no to aye, explaining that his first vote was for his constituents, his second for himself. The breeders' law was repealed, 18 to 13.

This vote did not, however, constitute a fair and final test of strength between the racing and anti-racing faction in the senate. That test will come tomorrow when house bill No. 716, which prohibits all bookmaking, pool selling, and all gambling on contests of speed or endurance in Missouri, will come up for final vote. This bill was passed by the house after repealing the breeders' law, to take the place of the latter, which prohibits bookmaking and pool selling anywhere in the state save in racetrack inclosures.

Present Condition Dangerous.

The absolute repeal of the breeders' law, unless accompanied by the passage of a new anti-bookmaking law, would simply throw down the gates to gamblers and permit all kinds of bookmaking and pool selling in the state, exactly as was the case before the passage of the breeders' law. Poolrooms and handbooks would resume their sway, while racetracks would race as long as they pleased and when they pleased, and the state would derive no revenue whatever from the game.

If the senate passes house bill No. 714 horse racing will be effectually wiped out, for bookmaking and pool selling will be absolutely prohibited.

There is no doubt Gov. Folk will sign the repeal bill and a new substitute for the breeders' law if both are presented to him together. But if the senate fails to pass the substitute for the breeders' law Folk probably will veto the repeal bill, on the theory that the breeders' law is better than none at all.

WILL CONFLICT WITH MEMPHIS.

Manager Renaud Says the Crescent City Track Positively Will Extend Its Race Meeting.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—It was positively announced today that the Crescent City Jockey club would continue to race in opposition to City park to the bitter end and to continue to spend money lavishly. P. A. Renaud said: "Mr. Corrigan established a condition in New Orleans and we are simply meeting that condition. We are pleased to regard this as a fight to a finish."

NIGRETTE WINS FEATURE RACE.

Fast Stretch Run at Oakland Lands Her in Front in Six Furlong Sprint.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—The principal event at Oakland this afternoon was the six furlong race, which brought together a band of fast sprinters. E. M. Brattain was made favorite. Sad Sam got off flying and cut out a killing pace, followed by E. M. Brattain. The leaders tired and Nigrette, coming fast on the rail at the end, won by a length from Sad Sam. Romaine finished third and would have won if he had not been left half a dozen lengths at the start. Nigrette was well supported at 4 to 1.

Favorites were much in evidence. Rockaway was heavily backed in the last race, but Toledo outgamed him in the last sixteenth.

There is little chance for the anti-racing bill, as the legislature adjourns on Friday. Summaries:

First race, ¼ mile, selling—Chief Wittman, 105 pounds [Davis], 6 to 5, won; Lorena M., 10 to 1, second; Ramona, 5 to 1, third.

Second race, 13-16 mile—Dora I., 103 pounds [Fountain], 8 to 5, won; Olympian, 5 to 1, second; Royal White, 12 to 1, third.

Third race, ¾ mile—Sacredus, 102 pounds [Knapp], 8 to 5, won; Royal Rogue, even, second; Billy Taylor, 15 to 1, third.

Fourth race, 1 mile and 20 yards, selling—Northwest, 103 pounds [Walsh], 4 to 5, won; Lady Kent, 20 to 1, second; Isabellita, 4 to 1, third.

Fifth race, ¾ mile, selling—Nigrette, 96 pounds [Knapp], 4 to 1, won; Sad Sam, 8 to 5, second; Romaine, 5 to 1, third.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Toledo, 108 pounds [Birkenruth], 8 to 5, won; Rockaway, 4 to 1, second; Gateway, 7 to 2, third.

ENTRIES.

Mr. Cotton Owns Seashore II.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—J. Temple Gwathmey, a broker who raced a stable of steeplechasers under the name of "Mr. Cotton," is the real purchaser of the Australian horse, Seashore II. An agent of "Mr. Cotton" bought the horse in England several days ago for $15,000. "Mr. Cotton" will sail for England Saturday to see Seashore II. run in the Grand National, and if the horse is victorious he will be brought to this country to be trained by Gwyn Tompkins.

WOMEN'S WOES

Many of the daily woes of women are due to sick kidneys; but too many women fail to recognize kidney trouble when they have it, and kidney disease is fatal if neglected too long.

When a woman's back aches from morning to night—

When she feels worn-out after every bit of work she has to do—

When she cannot bend or stoop without suffering twinges of pain—

When she has constant headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains and urinary troubles—

When she has any or all of these ailments it is a sure sign that the kidneys are not doing their duty. Uric acid and other poisons that the kidneys should filter out of the blood are carrying disease into every part of the system.

Regard this as a danger signal. Recognize the kidneys as the cause of your many aches and pains, and to cure the kidneys use the kidney medicine.

CHICAGO TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Carrie Sommer, wife of Charles Sommer, who is employed in Witt's trunk factory and who lives at 1915 N. Robey-st., says: "A severe cold affected my kidneys and brought on a backache that forced me to take to my bed. The pain was sharp and terrible. My friends tried to tell me it was rheumatism, but my kidney secretions were so disordered that I knew what it was. I was in agony for two weeks, when I saw in the paper how a Barry-av. woman had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. Her symptoms were the same as mine. I sent to the Public Drug Co.'s store, 150 State-st., for a box and began taking them. I could tell after three doses that they were curing me. I took them according to directions and they drove out the pain in short order and regulated the secretions. I cannot praise them too highly. I never had much faith in doctors and no prescription could do the work so quickly. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many of my friends and am keeping a supply in the house all the time. I do not like to have my name published in this way, and I only make the statement in order that it may attract the attention of other sufferers."

When the kidneys are well, they remove from the body every day nearly an ounce of uric acid and other poisonous waste.

When the kidneys are sick, this poison is carried by the blood to every part of the body. It causes rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, sciatica, gravel, stone in the kidneys, heart disease, indigestion, diabetes and Bright's Disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills act promptly and give complete relief, because their influence is exerted directly upon the diseased kidneys. This medicine has been curing sick kidneys for 72 years.

ELGIN TO FIFTH AVENUE TRAINS START TOMORROW.

Through Electric Service to Aurora Also Will Be Established—Metropolitan Cars to Desplaines.

The arrangements between the Metropolitan "L" and the Aurora, Elgin, and Chicago Electric line whereby the latter is to runs its cars on the elevated structure were completed yesterday, and the suburban trains will begin running tomorrow morning to the Metropolitan terminal station in Fifth avenue. They are to run express as far as the Desplaines river, with a stop at Fifty-second avenue.

In return the Metropolitan is to have all the local traffic east of the Desplaines, running its cars to the river on the suburban company's surface tracks. This will give the residents between Fifty-second avenue and the Desplaines a 5 cent fare into the city.

The Aurora-Elgin company will start trains every fifteen minutes from Fifth avenue. Half of them will be express and half local, and they will separate at Wheaton, making a fifteen minute schedule between Fifth avenue and Wheaton and a half hour schedule to Aurora and Elgin. The running time to Aurora or Elgin is to be an hour and ten minutes.

Contracts have been let for building the forty miles of track between Elgin and Belvidere, and when this link is completed there will be a continuous electric service between Chicago, Rockford, Beloit, and Janesville.

Receivers of the Union Traction company voted to refer the question of taking an appeal from the decision of Judge Grosscup in the "ninety-nine year case" to their attorneys, John S. Miller and W. W. Gurley. Mr. Miller is of the opinion that the Supreme court would modify materially, if it did not entirely reverse, the decision of the Circuit court, and his advice probably will be followed and an appeal taken.

Defense Contends Indictment Is Faulty, but a Jury Soon Will Take Case Against the Woman.

Cleveland, O., March 9.—[Special.]—After only two witnesses had testified for Mrs. Chadwick, the defense today closed its evidence and arguments were begun.

Attorney Wing and his associates for the defense made an effort to have the case taken from the jury and a verdict of acquittal rendered by the court on the ground the indictment was faulty, but the motion was denied.

The morning witnesses were T. C. Doolittle, a bookkeeping expert, and A. B. Marshall, vice president of the First National bank. Doolittle said Mrs. Chadwick at one time was entitled to $40,000 from the Oberlin bank, and Marshall identified the woman's signature on six notes, which she had paid.

The case probably will go to the jury tomorrow night.

Andrew Carnegie will be paid $64 in fees, although he did not testify.

BACK YARD ECHOES IN PEAL FROM MUSICAL GARBAGE MAN.

Improvement Associations Suggest a Melodious Bell Ringing Plan to Attract Attention of Housewives.

Ting-a-ling-a-ling!

Housewives will please notice that there may be a newcomer in the field of back door bell ringers—the garbage man. The Ninth and Tenth Ward Improvement associations have decided to ask the city council for a change of the method of collecting refuse, and with that in view they would follow the example of the cities of Prague and Vienna.

Instead of requiring owners to keep a large garbage box for the use of all of the tenants in one building, it is proposed that each be compelled to provide individual cans. When the garbage collector comes around he is to ring a little bell, and the housewife or hired girl must appear with the refuse, at the back door if there is an alley, and at the front door if otherwise.

In case the melody plan should come into general use the following schedule has been suggested:

Milkman—Liquid tone.

Ragman—Ragtime.

Iceman—Chesty tone.

Garbage man—Medley.

Scissors grinder—Sharps and flats.

This plan, it is said, may be elaborated.

...BUYING FOR RALLY.

...WHEAT SHORTS COVER ON CHANCE OF COLD WAVE.

...That Break Has Been Too Severe and That Pit Conditions Favor at Least a Temporary Rally Encourages Some Support—Corn Firm Because of Improvement in Domestic Shipping Demand and Advance in Cash Prices—Other Markets.

Renewed bear pressure on July wheat caused a break of ½c from the previous close to a new low point, after an early and short lived bulge, occasioned by steadiness in Liverpool, which market closed ⅛d to ¼d higher. Cold weather in the northwest, temperature of 10 degrees below zero at Winnipeg and 10 above at Fargo, suggested the possibility of a cold wave over the winter wheat belt, and some of the big shorts covered, causing a rally of nearly 1c. They were disposed to sell their short wheat over again on the upturn, and there was a new setback to the low point.

Further covering of shorts, however, a good deal of buying for a reaction after the severe decline, and because of the big discount under May, and strength in the May, contributed to another upturn. The market, after selling off once to 93¾c and later to ..., closed at 94⅜c bid, a net gain of ¼c for the day.

Trade in May was much smaller. While there was an early dip to $1.12⅝, little changed hands under $1.13, quite a little was wanted at that figure, and there were several sharp rallies to the neighborhood of $1.14, at which point, however, commission houses had a good deal for sale. The close was near the top figure, $1.13⅞ bid, a net gain of ⅝c.

Southwest Markets Weak.

The markets nearest the winter wheat fields were relatively easy. Kansas City ⅛c lower for May and St. Louis ⅝c lower for May and July. The northwestern markets were strong and Minneapolis advices reported a stronger cash situation, the premium of No. 1 northern over May ½c higher at 1c ... On improved milling demand local cash prices were firm to ½c higher, sales 14,000 bu.

Minneapolis stocks increased 15,000 bu for ... days. Receipts there were 241 cars, compared with 299 a year ago. Primary points had 415,000 bu, compared with 536,000 ... Some northwestern authorities claimed larger offerings from the country to arrive. Argentine shipments were estimated at 4,000,000 bu for the week and continental markets were generally lower.

One of the features of the pit trade was the sharpness of fluctuations in May on small transactions, one advance of 1c, with little trading. There was buying of May by Barrell and Bartlett on the early decline, some buying by Seckel on the late bulge, and selling around $1.14 by Armour, Knight-Donnelley, Lamson, and other private wire houses.

Rankin pressed short sales of July and there was selling by Peavey, Ware-Leland, Pringle, and pit traders generally. Dunn was a seller on the early bulge, but took some back on the break when there was buying by Mitchell, Requa, Milmine-Bodman, and scattered commission houses. There was more buying for country accounts than in a long time, a demand apparently attracted by the severe break.

Corn Works Higher.

Corn started strong, held firm even when wheat was weak, and scored gains finally of ⅛c for March, ⅝c for May, and ¼c for July and September. Lighter receipts than estimated by 75 cars contributed to the early strength. There were 296 cars inspected in, according to the official report, and 379 estimated for today.

Country acceptances were generally reported light, though some houses bought fair quantities, and this, with a strong cash market, sustained values in the pit, although the speculative trade was light. The sample market was steady to ½c higher, the best advance on yellow corn, which was on improved demand from the New England trade for shipment at the opening of navigation. There were sales all told of 275,000 bu. Export sales of only 16,000 bu were reported. Export shipments are falling off only 65,000 bu cleared. Primary receipts were 744,000 bu, compared with 608,000 bu last year.

Advices from central Illinois reported country roads improving, but crib stocks well thinned out. Liverpool was steady to ⅛d higher for futures and ¼d higher for spot. Argentine shipments were estimated at only 160,000 bu. There was buying of corn by Logan-Bryan, Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, Harris-Scotten, Bartlett, and Kidston. Armour sold some May, but the bulk of the selling was by the pit trade.

Cash Oats Are Wanted.

Reports of an improved cash demand and of light country acceptances stimulated buying of oats, which were also helped by the strength in corn. On an early bulge May touched 32¼c, but there was a good deal offered on this turn, and the close was at 31⅞c bid, a net gain of ⅛c. Cash prices were steady; shipping sales 225,000 bu. Receipts were 131 cars, and 197 estimated for tomorrow. Seaboard clearances were only 50 ... Buying was led by Wagner, Bartlett, and Shedling. A. S. White was a leading seller.

Provisions Slow and Easy.

Provisions were without the slightest semblance of life the greater part of the session. When prices started to move off lazily early they were brought up shortly by moderate support and the close was 2½@5c lower on pork, steady on lard, and steady to 2½c lower on ribs. The only pit features were changing of ribs, buying May, and selling July, moderate selling of lard by Tietjens, and buying of lard by Roloson and of ribs by Hately. Local hog receipts were 24,000 head, and 23,000 are estimated for today. Prices at the yards were steady. At the western markets there were 67,500 hogs, against 84,500 last week and 60,000 last year. Shipments of both meats and lard fell well below those of last year.

Rye, Barley, and Seeds.

Rye was neglected. May was 79c sellers and March 78c nominal. No. 2 sold at 85c f. o. b. to arrive and 79½c out of store for ... Receipts, 2 cars.

Flaxseed ruled firm. No. 1 northwestern advancing ½c, to $1.39. No. 1, March and May, were nominally $1.26½. Receipts were 3 cars here, 9 at Minneapolis, and 4 at Duluth.

Timothy seed was dull and steady, country lots selling from $2.25@3.10, according to quality. March was nominally $3.05 and September $3.15. March clover seed was nominal at $12.90 and bag lots $8.50@12.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

With what appears to be ghoulish glee, the Northwestern Miller, whose opinion of crop experts who report damage to wheat crops is as well known as it is emphatic, reprints with various sarcastic comments of its own the following interesting remarks concerning the expedition of a Chicago crop expert to Argentina from the Review of the River Plate of Buenos Ayres on Jan. 13: "Dealing with the question of rust, which was reported from this country early in December, we have now received exchanges from America to date of Dec. 7, from which we see that Mr. Inglis, who was sent out to this country by certain grain firms of Chicago, was responsible for a message to the effect that rust is doing serious damage to at least one-half of the area in wheat in Argentina. Now, it so happens that a day or two after sending that message Mr. Inglis called upon us, and told us that he had been traveling in the province of Santa Fé and some parts of Cordoba, and that he had not been near Buenos Ayres or Entre Rios. He told us that he had seen some good wheat in the districts that he had visited, as well as some damaged wheat, so that where he obtained his information from, regarding half the area, we are at a loss to understand. If he did it wantonly, and with the sole intention of running up the market for account of those employing him, he was not successful, as there are others in this country who know what the prospects are month by month and week by week, and we might say even day by day. If Mr. Inglis has earned the title to 'crop expert' by sending away such absolutely false messages during the past years, the title must be different from what we have generally considered it as meaning. Those who reside in the country know what class of information a man can obtain from the window of a railway train, especially when he does not speak the language. We had a feeling when Mr. Inglis left our office that his object in coming to this country was to bull the market by running down our crop, and the opinion we then formed has now been confirmed in a most overwhelming manner." The Argentine journal makes at least one mistake. Mr. Inglis made his trip for a Minneapolis firm.

Answers to inquiries directed to millers throughout Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, the principal winter wheat states, by Heeman, plainly show, he says, that "there is considerably more wheat left in second hands than the trade was led to believe. The majority, especially the larger millers, say they have ample supplies on hand, and that there is at least 20 per cent of the last crop still held by farmers. Almost every miller reports a slack demand for flour, with a large stock on hand. The most significant feature, however, is that the wheat and flour has been and is still being carried without the usual hedge out against it in the Chicago market as protection. This is only natural, owing to the fear of manipulation in our May wheat."

The decline in wheat was checked not because the crop prospect is any poorer nor because local sentiment is less bearish, for it is apparently about as bearish as it possibly could be. The local trade is trying to press sales on breaks and bulges alike in expectation of still lower prices. A continuous break of four days, however, with a decline of 6c in that time, and of 9c from the recent high point, impressed a great many speculators with the notion that the market was due for a reaction, regardless of anything else than pit conditions, even if the market were bound to go lower eventually. There was not only a great deal of buying for reaction, but a good many small orders were filled for country accounts, as if the outside investor had decided that July wheat ought to be a purchase at nearly 20c under the May.

Sales of cash wheat were small yesterday, millers taking 14,000 bu, including 4,000 bu No. 2 red, at $1.16¼ f. o. b. Prices on the tables were practically unchanged for all grades when sales were made, and choice grades firm to ½c higher at the close. At Minneapolis No. 1 northern gained more than futures, quoted at $1.11⅝, ⅜c higher than the day before. Duluth sold up ⅜c, to $1.08¼. St. Louis was ¼-⅜c higher, No. 2 red in store $1.09-¼, and Kansas City was steady, No. 2 hard $1.04@1.06. There was a fair domestic demand for corn, but export sales were small. Business totaled 275,000 bu, largely No. 3 yellow, and part sold c. i. f. Buffalo at 2c over May. Sales of oats were 225,000 bu white clipped.

The Minneapolis output last week decreased 37,500 brls. The present week the output promises to be approximately 275,000 brls. For the corresponding week in 1904 it was 332,960 brls. The large milling concerns experienced a pretty slow trade in flour for the week. The smaller mills, on the contrary, seemed to have found purchasers for more than their output. The trade continues "bearish" in its views as to prices, and is taking flour only in small lots. Most of the mills reported no export trade, the few bids received, especially for patent, being so far below cost of flour as to make them impossible of consideration.

"There is an improved shipping demand for both corn and oats," said George S. McReynolds, "from the southern and eastern domestic trade. It has been noticeable at St. Louis for a week or more. Texas and Mexico both buying corn there. A better inquiry has sprung up here for No. 2 corn. The southern trade preferring to pay a little premium on the theory its keeping qualities will be better than those of No. 3 corn."

"I have never seen such a sustained period of dullness in cash wheat as has ruled the last three months," said E. L. Glaser. "Millers buy only when they have to, and they generally report that they have good supplies on hand. Most of them are running only half time, or less, as they have no foreign outlet for their flour, and they show no interest in wheat except when they have immediate need of a few cars."

According to the reports received by the Daily Trade Bulletin, the quantity of wheat in farmers' hands on March 1, on percentages applied to the department of agriculture report of yields by states, is about 109,000,000 bu, of which 46,000,000 bu is credited to the three northwestern states.

According to Schwabacker's estimate local provision stocks have increased as follows since March 1: Pork, 1,486 brls; lard, 2,603 tcs; ribs, 2,033,000 lbs. The totals, as estimated, are: Pork, 50,000 brls; lard, 89,000 tcs; ribs, 26,000,000 lbs.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 379 cars; oats, 197 cars; rye, none; barley, 47 cars; hogs, 23,000 head.

Three of the primary markets, Toledo, Detroit, and Peoria, did not receive a bushel of wheat yesterday.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Cattle Values Continue Strong—Hogs Are Steady—Sheep and Lambs Are Draggy.

The cattle market at the stockyards continued strong yesterday, and good steers sold up to 10c higher. The receipts were less than expected and the shippers and the buyers for the packers were active. Butcher cattle were steady.

The hog market was steady. Dullness was apparent early in the day, with prices a shade below the Wednesday mark, but the packers became eager and values stiffened. The top was $5.17½, or 2½c lower than on Wednesday.

Sheep and lambs were slow, but the market was steady. There was a lightened demand from outside.

CORN PRODUCTS LOWER.

SHARES SHOW WEAKNESS UNDER FREE SELLING.

Probable D. H. Louderback Will Attend the Annual Meeting and Urge Quarterly Statements of Earnings—Unsolicited Proxies Are Being Sent Him—Baltimore Electric Power Company Deal—Refunding Bond Issue $7,500,000—Empire Steel.

Shares of the Corn Products company were inclined to be weak again yesterday, the preferred closing at 74 and the common at 18-¼. The action of the stock would indicate that the profits for the year may not be as large as some Wall street interests have given out, though not the management of the company. There has been some selling of the shares that did not "look right," if the earnings were to show up large.

The principal difficulty with the company in the fiscal year about to close was both the high priced and poor quality corn that had to be used. The management of the Corn Products company was of course not to blame for either quality or price, though its own profits are directly affected.

It is probable D. H. Louderback will attend the annual meeting of the company, and may ask for publicity oftener than once a year. Unsolicited proxies to the amount of 5,000 shares have been received by Mr. Louderback, and he probably will control 10,000 or more votes. But he will not attend the meeting as a disturber or one who is opposed to the operating conduct of the company.

"I am not opposed to President Matthiessen," he said. "On the contrary, he is the ablest manager of that business in the country. Besides, he has the largest individual holdings, and consequently shares the fortunes or misfortunes of the company with all the rest of the stockholders.

"But what I do want is the publication of statements of earnings quarterly, so that I may know how the business is prospering or otherwise, as well as a few of the directors whose position entitles them to such knowledge. From one year's end to the other they have constant knowledge, whereas the shareholders, who are not members of the board, must content themselves with information of the company's affairs once a year. I consider it only fair to the large body of stockholders that quarterly statements be issued."

Baltimore Electric Bonds.

The filing of the mortgage of $47,500,000 by the Baltimore Electric Power company discloses the financial plan and other details in connection with the building of the new electric light and power plant under the franchise given to the Maryland Telephone and Telegraph company. The mortgage is made to the Northern Trust company of Philadelphia, and covers an issue of 34 year 5 per cent gold bonds. The proceeds of the bonds will be used to build the new plant, to retire first mortgage bonds, to retire general mortgage bonds of the Maryland Telephone company, to retire ground rents, and for the extension of electric power and telephone plants.

The mortgage is a first lien on the new electric light and power plant and a lien after the other bonds of the Maryland Telephone company. These latter bonds will be retired. The Baltimore Electric Power company absorbs the Maryland Telephone and Telegraph company, as 85 per cent of the $1,000,000 of capital stock of that company goes under the new mortgage. The Baltimore Electric Power company has a capital stock of $2,500,000, making in all a capitalization of $10,000,000, covering both the electric power and telephone properties.

C. M. Schwab on Steel Outlook.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, is quoted as saying regarding the steel and iron situation:

"The iron and steel outlook is exceptionally bright, and there are no indications of a check to the prosperity the industry is now enjoying. It is resting on a highly substantial foundation. I have not figured on the possible production of pig iron in the current year, but from appearances a new high record will be established. Conditions will continue to improve, but I do not believe this activity will result in excessive prices for iron and steel. Steel manufacturers will try and avoid a runaway market. They have done so successfully in the past and there is no reason why they cannot do so now."

Empire Steel's Poor Year.

The annual report of the Empire Steel and Iron company for the year ended Dec. 31 makes an unfavorable showing. Net earnings decreased $253,229. The company charged off nothing for improvements. Following are the figures for the fiscal year:

Pig Iron Market.

"Continued inquiry for pig iron for delivery during the last half of the year is about the only marked feature of the situation. Some sales are being made and premiums in some cases being paid for favored brands for delivery over this period. The tonnage booked during the last week was larger than that of the preceding one. The situation looks strong and prices are firm.

"Notwithstanding the heavy production during the month of February, stocks were considerably reduced. Foundrymen in general report good business, and the jobbing trade give the impression that they are not much concerned at the prospect of higher prices for pig iron, believing that if business holds out as they now expect it to do they can easily pay the advance.

General Financial News.

President Preston of the United Fruit company announces that sufficient waivers of rights to subscribe to the new issue of 15,000 shares of new stock have been received to enable the company to declare the plan providing for the sale of that amount of stock to Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston operative. He also announces that James J. Storrow of that firm will be elected a director of the United Fruit company.

The recent spurt in the American Malting stocks gave rise to a rumor that the suits against the directors of the company for the restitution of money paid out in dividends had been compromised. This report is denied, the suits being still pending in the higher courts.

The Bethlehem Steel company has not a deal on for the lease of the Tidewater Steel company. Charles M. Schwab, however, is interested in the negotiations. If the Tidewater is acquired it will be utilized for the benefit of the Bethlehem corporation. The ores received from Cuba will be converted by the Tidewater company.

Gross earnings of the International Mercantile Marine company for the current calendar year are estimated at about $35,000,000, being an increase of nearly $4,000,000 over the company's first year. The increase is due to the improved condition as to passenger rates.

Jacob H. Schiff has been elected a director of the Fidelity Trust company of Philadelphia.

It is reported that one of the richest strikes ever made in the Cripple Creek district has just been uncovered by Fred G. Worthington on the Mabel M. claim of the Gold Dollar property, which is located on the east slope of Beacon hill. One assay of the ore made gave returns of $264,000 to the ton. This rich streak is three inches wide and is surrounded by two feet of ore that will yield values of $294 to the ton. The streak is practically a mass of rusty gold.

It is announced that under the terms of the lease of the Père Marquette to the C., H. and D. the latter will guarantee 4 per cent on Père Marquette preferred and 5 per cent on the common.

The following have been reëlected directors of the Havana Tobacco company for a term of three years: H. B. Hollins, R. R. Govin, Thomas F. Ryan, O. H. Payne, Grant B. Schley, and G. G. Finch.

Chicago Stocks.

The street railroad issues were generally dull. There is no bid for Chicago City railway, though it is offered at 199. West Chicago was 63 bid and 66 asked. North Chicago Street railroad 5s sold at 100.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, March 9.—Money was in increased supply in the market today and sales were easier. Discounts were weakened by the continued influx of gold. The tone on the stock exchange mostly was cheerful. The reduction of the Bank of England's rate of discount today from 3 to 2½ per cent improved the tone and stimulated business. Consols hardened considerably. Home rails mostly were firm. Americans opened steady, improved, and became moderately active. The market closed firm with Canadians sympathising. Foreigners had an improving tendency on continental advices. Japanese were benefited by the Russian retreat. Imperial Japanese government sixes of 1904 were quoted at 104⅛. The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, increased	£1,604,000
Circulation, decreased	249,000
Bullion, increased	754,839
Other securities, increased	2,296,000
Other deposits, decreased	1,567,000
Public deposits, increased	1,428,000
Notes, reserve, increased	356,000

Government securities unchanged.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 56.47 per cent. Last week it was 52.61 per cent.

BERLIN, March 9.—The trading on the bourse today was light, but quotations were firm. The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes:

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

TRAVELING MEN FAIL TO SECURE EXCESS BAGGAGE REDUCTION.

Appeal Is Made to the Central Passenger Association, but Officials Declare They Cannot Afford to Make the Change Requested — Big Profit Under Present Conditions—Important International Conference to Be Held in Washington in May.

Commercial travelers seeking to secure an interchangeable excess baggage ticket and a reduction of one-third in the rate now charged were turned down yesterday by the roads in the Central Passenger association. The railways plead the old excuse that they are carrying this business at ruinous rates already, and that to grant this request would be only another step on the downward path toward bankruptcy. At the same time they were bound to acknowledge that the roads in the association derive a revenue of $750,000 annually from this source.

The excess baggage rate is 12½ per cent of the regular first class fare for each 100 pounds over the 150 pounds allowed on every ticket. It is presumed that the charge for hauling this 150 pounds is figured in the price of the ticket. At the present rate it costs 37.5 cents a hundred pounds for every 100 miles on excess baggage, and the reduction asked by the commercial travelers would make it 25 cents.

The formal announcement was that nothing definite has been settled. The matter is still left technically in the hands of the committee, but it is understood that it is dead.

Important Railway Conference.

The International Railway congress, which is to meet in Washington next May, will be the largest and most important gathering of railroad men ever attempted in this country. Executive and operating officials of roads all over the world will attend, and many important questions will be discussed. It is the plan of the American roads to make the visit an educational one for the visiting railroad men, and they will be invited to inspect various lines and to visit many of the large cities.

Chicago roads are anxious to bring the foreigners here, and every railroad entering the city has been assessed $1,000, making a fund of about $25,000 available for their entertainment. A committee will be formed soon to arrange plans for the party. The present idea is to bring the representatives here about May 25.

Reduced Rates for Conventions.

Over eighty applications for reduced rates for conventions were considered by the Central Passenger association and granted. Some of the larger of these were the National Educational association in New York, the Christian Endeavorers in Baltimore, and the Eagles in Denver. For Decoration day a rate of one fare plus $1 will be made to Chicago from points within a radius of 150 miles.

There was a meeting of passenger officials of lines operating in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec at Montreal yesterday for the purpose of forming a new Canadian Passenger association.

SQUABBLES MAY END SPORT FOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS.

Supt. Cooley Announces That He Is Tired of Friction Between Principals and Board of Control.

Unless sixteen school principals, twenty members of the board of athletic control, and 224 athletes, described as "strong and strapping," find a way to heal their injured feelings without running to Supt. Cooley for official soothing sirup, basketball and indoor baseball will be abolished as high school sports.

This manifesto was issued by Supt. Cooley late yesterday afternoon after a member of the board of control had rushed into his office and breathlessly asked whether the teams were to be required to have "board backs" or "wire backs."

"I've heard nothing but squabbling and wrangling all winter from the board of control and the principals," Mr. Cooley said. "I do not know whether you want your board backs for the players, the balls, or the walls, and I don't care. If athletic sports can't be carried on in the schools without demoralizing the whole system and causing constant friction I will have to find a remedy by abolishing high school basketball and indoor baseball."

Supt. Cooley gave the board of control until next Tuesday to settle all its differences with the principals and to patch up harmony. They are to report progress at that time.

During the next few weeks every child in the 260 public schools will have an opportunity to see what Supt. Cooley and all the district superintendents look like. The officials are to be sent on a tour of the schools on a set of stereopticon slides. These have been added to the collection belonging to the Projection club, an organization of principals.

The committee appointed by President Mark of the school board to wage war upon the revenue bill framed by the real estate board decided yesterday to have pamphlets published, and a delegation will go to Springfield next week to fight the bill.

PLEAD FOR OPTION DISTRICT IN THE THIRTEENTH WARD.

Big Committee of Property Owners, Headed by Ald. Scully, to Appear Before Aldermen This Afternoon.

A committee of 100 Thirteen ward property owners, headed by Ald. Scully, will appear before the council license committee to urge the recommendation of the ordinance creating a local option district bounded by Harrison, Polk, and Flournoy streets and Douglas boulevard.

Ald. Hunter, chairman of the license committee, called a special meeting to hear the arguments. Ald. Scully introduced the ordinance at the last council meeting, when it was referred.

The district includes the plant of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

A. W. O'Neal, secretary of the special park commission, is working on the budget for the expending of the $22,000 appropriated by the city for playgrounds and small parks. The plans include the fitting up of the new playground at Orleans and Schiller streets, upon the lot given by the Northwestern Elevated railroad company.

The commission is also looking for a location on the west side for a new playground, and is negotiating for the lease of ground at Ashland avenue and Thirteenth street.

FAST TRAIN ANNOYS EDITOR.

The country editors can be helpful to the railroads, according to C. S. Young, advertising manager for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, who spoke in the Fine Arts building last night on "Railway Advertising."

"The editor of the Chula (Mo.) News can have anything he wants," he said. Then he read the following editorial:

"The new train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway passed through Chula Sunday night. There was no hesitation at Chula town. There are no high places in Chula town. Hence we question whether she ever touched the track. She just ripped a great fiery hole in the darkness and then whistled for Niantic or Chicago—we are not certain which. She went so fast that the six colored porters looked like one fat negro."

"We are sorry now," said Mr. Young, "that the train didn't stop at Chula."

Curran to Go to Kankakee.

Michael Curran, the saloonkeeper who was declared insane several weeks ago in the County court and later given his freedom by Judge Dunne on a writ of habeas corpus, was declared insane again yesterday morning and in the Detention hospital court, where the inquiry into the man's mental condition was made, a jury decided he should be sent to Kankakee.

LOCAL GRAIN MEN FIGHT RED WHEAT FROM COAST.

Argue for Hours Before State Warehouse Commission, but Fail to Convince the Board—Decision Postponed.

The question how Pacific coast wheat, known as red Russian or "Oregon," should be graded caused a long and lively conference in the rooms of the state railway and warehouse commission yesterday. Forty or fifty prominent board of trade men, millers, and grain dealers attended. President J. S. Neville and A. L. French of the state commission, and W. N. Judd, an East St. Louis elevator man, also were there.

Oregon wheat commercially is worth from 3 to 7 cents a bushel less than red winter wheat in this market. Therefore, the Chicago men protested vigorously against the coast product being inspected and graded with the native product of the middle western states.

Among the speakers were Walter Fitch, first vice president of the board of trade; E. L. Glaser, James S. Templeton, James Pettit, and E. P. Bronson. B. A. Eckhart sent a telegram of protest from New York.

Argue Against Oregon Wheat.

The Chicago men declared that official action putting the two grains on an equal footing would be an injustice to millers, who might be forced to take the Oregon wheat on May contracts, and to the farmers of this region, who might be compelled in consequence to take less money for their grain.

Letters were read from forty or fifty millers in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio, declaring Oregon wheat worth less than native red winter, or that they would not use it at all.

Commissioners Seem Opposed.

But Mr. Judd took the other side of the case, and the warehouse commissioners apparently agreed with him. He presented affidavits from one St. Louis miller and another in southern Illinois stating they had used a mixture of Oregon wheat with red winter with satisfactory results.

At the close of the meeting J. P. Rumsey moved that the meeting adopt a resolution asking the commissioners to establish separate grades for the Oregon wheat. It was carried with a whoop, and the grain men were happy until President Neville explained the only object of the meeting was to learn the views of the grain men. The decision of the board would be postponed, he announced. After the meeting Mr. Neville said:

"I believe the Oregon wheat ought to be graded as red winter."

DOWIE'S PLANS IN MEXICO ARE STIRRING ZION CITY.

Part Abandonment of the Community on the Lake Is Opposed by Many of the Faithful.

The efforts of A. Gladstone Dowie to secure support in Zion City for the founding of a new community in Mexico and the pushing of claims by Chicago creditors, worried by the withdrawal of Deacon Charles J. Barnard as financial manager, are causing much excitement among the followers of John Alexander Dowie.

The younger Dowie entertained several of the disaffected deacons in his father's residence last night seeking to bring harmony into the church.

The details of the Mexican plans slowly are becoming public. The new colony will be known as "El Paradiso." Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons will be left to run the factories of Zion City. The plan is accepted by the rank and file, but the better educated are raising numerous objections.

"Better use this money to run the old factories and build new ones," said one man. "The present headquarters of the Christian Catholic church are too much in the limelight, too conspicuous. In this new and isolated colony Dr. Dowie can work out his plans for a theocracy in freedom."

"A powerful friend for Zion has been raised up in the City of Mexico," said Gladstone Dowie. "The ear of President Diaz has been gained, and he has promised his support. This will attract capital."

The appointment of Deacon John A. Lewis of Meridan, Miss., as manager of the plantation scheme was announced. He is said to be an expert cotton, rice, and sugar cane grower, by which industries it is intended to support El Paradiso.

A Zion capitalist tried to sell his property yesterday and could not find a buyer. He served notice on the Zion City bank to pay him $1,500 which he had on deposit. This was refused and sixty days' time was asked for.

The People's bank of Waukegan has refused to honor Zion City paper. The First National bank has given notice that collections must be met more promptly.

Stockholders in the lace industries were refused the right to examine the books. The lace curtain factory has stopped for lack of raw material. The other departments are running on a short time schedule.

Deacon Barnard is being made the scapegoat for all the bad financing that has come to light since his resignation.

LEAVES ESTATE OF $3,465,000.

Will of Dr. Peter Fahrney, Head of Medicine Company, Is Filed for Probate.

The will of Dr. Peter Fahrney, head of the Dr. Peter Fahrney Sons company, filed for probate yesterday, disposes of an estate valued at $3,465,000, of which $765,000 is in real property. Everything is left to the widow and children and there are no charitable bequests.

The widow and children are to share in the income from the estate. The sons, E. C. Fahrney, William H. Fahrney, Josiah H. Fahrney, and Emery H. Fahrney, are to receive $10,000 cash each, and a similar sum is left to Peter A. Beachey, husband of the testator's daughter, Susan Emma Beachey.

The homestead at 1074 Warren avenue is given to the widow, with real estate in Chicago and in Lake county.

NEW LIFE SAVER IN EVANSTON.

Peter Jensen, Successor to Capt. James Murray, Takes Charge of the Station.

Peter Jensen, successor to James Murray as captain of the Evanston life saving crew, took charge of the station yesterday. He comes from South Haven, Mich., and has several medals for heroism.

Capt. Jensen entered the service at Pentwater, Mich., in 1886, and then was given command at Ludington, Mich. Since then he has been in charge at Olivet and South Haven.

A watch tower thirty feet in height has been built and an east wing added to the station. The season begins on April 1.

ONE DAY'S SMALLPOX RECORD.

Four Persons Taken to Isolation Hospital and Death of One Child Is Reported.

Four more smallpox patients were taken to the isolation hospital yesterday, as follows: Gus Johnson, 5921 South Morgan street; Charles Harding, 468 State street; Andrew Peterson, 184 Milton avenue; and Evelyn Myers, South Chicago avenue and Seventy-fifth street. Herbert Yunker, 2 years old, taken to the hospital Feb. 7 from 4423 Union avenue, was the twenty-eighth victim of the disease this year. This number equals the record of all last year.

Japanese Student Will Lecture.

Mr. K. Shimose, a Japanese student at the University of Chicago, will lecture at Immanuel Baptist church tonight on "The Life and Customs of Japan." The money realized will be devoted to the cause of Christian work among the Japanese. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views.

Annual Sunday School Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Congregational Sunday School association will be held this evening in the Covenant church, Polk street and Claremont avenue. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. A large attendance is expected.

RAILROADS AGAIN ACTIVE.

ALL AFFECTED BY SECURITIES DECISION IN DEMAND.

Reading Movement Carried Over and Stock Rose to Close to Par, Where It Meets with Heavy Pressure and Lost All of Day's Gain — Metal Group Also Makes Progress, Led by Smelting, in the New York Stock Market.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—[Special.]—There was a revived demand in the market today for railroad stocks affected by the Northern Securities decision. Yesterday's active speculative movement in Reading also was carried over into today's dealings and that stock was run up within a shade of par. There was a striking movement also in a group of the metal stocks, led by Smelting. Amalgamated Copper was a conspicuous figure in the same group. The United States Steel stocks again were conspicuously laggard. Canadian Pacific was supposed to be benefiting from large earnings by itself and its controlled properties, all of which moved up in company.

London bought stocks here at the opening, but sold on the rise. The realizing on the advance made some alteration in the day's best prices and Reading especially met with such heavy pressure just below par that it fell back to below last night. The closing dealings in consequence were slightly irregular. Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $5,130,000. United States 2s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

Close—Money on call steady, 2½@2¾; close bid, 2¾; offered at 3. Time loans easy; sixty days, 3 per cent; ninety days, 3@3¼; six months, 3½. Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, opening weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.75@486.80 for demand and at 484.70@484.75 for 60 day bills. Posted rates, 485½ and 487½. Commercial bills, 484¼@484¾. Bar silver, 59¾. Mexican dollars, 45¾. Government bonds firm. Railroad bonds firm.

Found Drowned in Ditch.

The body of Richard Jones, 58 years old, 1300 West One Hundred and Fourth street, was found yesterday morning in a ditch half filled with water at One Hundred and Fourth street and Center avenue. He was a foreman at the American Bridge company's plant at Ninety-fifth and Throop streets. It is supposed Jones fell into the ditch and was drowned.

The Thorough Soap

has just the quality which attracts the housewife. It gives perfect satisfaction in the toilet and bath because of its purity.

For washing fine fabrics and woolens it is indispensable, as it is a thorough worker, and will not injure the most delicate garment.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Miss Marjorie Streeter and Mr. Philip W. Hamill Among Those Who Will Be Married in the Month of Roses—Ceremony Will Be Performed at Lake Forest — Announcement of Other Wedding Plans—University Pan-Hellenic Dance Set for April 7.

The Easter brides are not the only ones planning for their weddings. A number of young women who will be married in June are selecting their trousseaux, and among the first of the weddings in the month of roses will be that of Miss Marjorie Streeter and Mr. Philip Walbridge Hamill. It is to be a country wedding, at the Lake Forest residence of Miss Streeter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Williams Streeter, which is called Uppercross Farm. The engagement of Miss Streeter and Mr. Hamill was announced in October.

Another Lake Forest wedding to take place in June will be that of Miss Bertha Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Durand, to Mr. Arthur F. Yaggy of Hutchinson, Kas., formerly of Lake Forest, and a son of Mr. Levi W. Yaggy. The wedding of Miss Laura Seager Rogers of Milwaukee to Mr. Henry Sayre McAuley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Towne McAuley, likewise will be a June celebration.

Although no definite date has been set for the wedding, it is barely possible that Miss Ethel Hulburd and Mr. Hugh M. Johnston will be married in June, and it is said also that Miss Helen Lord and Mr. Edward S. Hasler will join the group of June brides and grooms and be married in Lake Forest.

A south side wedding of interest will see Miss Irene Warren, daughter of Mr. Frank H. Warren, 3922 Lake avenue, married to Mr. Trigg Waller, which, although no date is set, will also take place in June.

The pan-Hellenic dance of the University of Chicago will take place on the evening of April 7. Since the abandonment for the senior promenade on account of the illness of President Harper, the fraternity dance will be the most prominent social affair in university circles this season.

Mrs. William Spencer Crosby will give a Parsifal recital at the Chicago Beach hotel on the afternoon of Thursday, March 16, for the benefit of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women. The hour will be 3 o'clock. Mrs. Solomon Sturges of the Chicago Beach hotel has the affair in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Francis Griffin, the latter formerly Miss Helen Prindiville, are en route to Chicago from California, where they spent their honeymoon. They will arrive on Sunday, and will stay at the Annex until their residence at 39 Cedar street is in readiness for them.

Mrs. Stephen Henley Black, 3967 Drexel boulevard, has returned to the city after several weeks spent at Camden, S. C.

Mrs. Justus Chancellor and family and Miss Nora Harper have gone south to remain six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner B. Van Ness have returned from a trip to Palm Beach and Cuba, and are at home at 1365 Sheridan road.

Miss Lauretta Ford was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower given yesterday afternoon by Miss Cantwell, 733 Adams street. Miss Ford will be a bride of next week.

SOCIETY AT NATIONAL CAPITAL.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Give First Formal Dinner Since Inauguration and Many Senators Attend.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt gave the first formal dinner since the inauguration at the White house tonight, inviting Speaker and Miss Cannon, Senator and Mrs. Gallinger, Senator and Mrs. Burrows, Senator and Mrs. Elkins, Senator and Mrs. Depew, Senator and Mrs. Scott, Senator and Mrs. Dillingham, Senator and Mrs. Burnham, Senator and Mrs. Alger, Senator and Mrs. Heyburn, Senator and Mrs. Hopkins, Senator and Mrs. Overman, Senator and Mrs. Dick, Representative and Mrs. Payne, and Miss Roosevelt. Yellow azaleas decorated the table in the state dining room, where dinner was served. Mrs. Roosevelt wore in receiving her guests a black net with iridescent spangles. Miss Roosevelt's gown was blue satin brocade and white lace.

Baron Moncheur, Belgian minister, entertained at luncheon today Count Wuay, a dignitary of the Roman church at Buda-Pesth, who is stopping at Washington. Among those who met him were the Persian minister and Representative Cockran of New York.

The French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand entertained at dinner tonight Henry White, the newly appointed ambassador to Italy; the Italian ambassador and Baroness Mayor des Planches, Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Olliver, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Peirce, Mme. Waddington, Misses Lobel, the naval attaché of the French embassy and Viscountess de Faramond; Col. Schuyler, U. S. A.; Sigs. Borghetti and Centero of the Italian embassy, and Capt. Fournier of the French embassy.

Mrs. William Sheffield Cowles, the sister of President Roosevelt, gave a tea this afternoon to meet Sir Charles Wyndham, the English actor. Miss Roosevelt attended, as did a large number of people generally from society. Sir Charles is an old friend of Capt. and Mrs. Cowles and was present at their wedding in London. Another English guest and actor present with Sir Charles was Gilbert Farquhar, of the same company, who is a brother of the master of the household of King Edward VII.

BURNHAM BACK FROM MANILA.

Architect Begins Work at Once on Plans for Beautifying the Philippine Capital.

Bronzed by exposure to the tropical sun, D. H. Burnham, who was sent by the United States government to Manila to prepare plans for a "city beautiful" that would set the pace in the orient, returned to Chicago yesterday.

He arrived in the city at 9 a. m., and within an hour had organized a staff of draftsmen to work on his plans.

Mr. Burnham would not discuss the work except in a general way.

"The plan of the government is to prepare for future development," said he. "There are practically no modern buildings in Manila. The natural advantages of the city, its situation, perfect drainage, and environs will lend themselves to an architectural scheme that can be made what the Spanish called it, 'The Pearl of the Orient.'

"In the rehabilitation of the city efforts will be made, as much as possible, to preserve the picturesque old Spanish architecture, especially adapted to climatic conditions, and affording security against earthquakes that would make skyscrapers impractical in that part of the world."

Mr. Burnham's recommendations, it is understood, will include the following:

Plans for a group of government buildings.

Widening streets wherever possible.

Preservation of the wall surrounding the old town, but widening its gates, which at present will admit only small vehicles.

Improvement or rebuilding the custom house, now situated on the river, outside the walled city.

"HALL OF FAME" IN HULL HOUSE

Portraits of Women's Club Presidents to Be Hung in Library of the Clubhouse.

Hull house is to have a "hall of fame" all its own. In the library of the new clubhouse Miss Addams has decided to hang portraits of all the presidents of the Hull House Woman's club. Following is the list to date: Mary E. McDowell, Emma E. Andrea, Gertrude Barnum, Algina P. Stevens, Louise De Koven Bowen, Mrs. Laura Dainty Pelham.

Read the remarkable novel of smart society life, "The House of Mirth," by Edith Wharton, now running serially in Scribner's Magazine.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

CONDUCTED BY THE SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC ARTS AND SCIENCE OF CHICAGO

The chairmen of the different departments and tables met yesterday morning to arrange many details of the housekeepers' exhibit to be held Thursday, March 16, at the School of Domestic Arts and Science, 39 State street.

The chairmen of the different tables are as follows: Soups, Mrs. John D. Kales; fish, Miss Grace Dixon; meats, Mrs. S. R. Harris of the West End club; entrées, Mrs. Winslow; salads, Mrs. F. S. Churchill; desserts, Miss Jane E. Cox; bread, Mrs. Wyman, Evanston Woman's club; cakes, Service club; laundry, the Klio association; and needlework, the Chrysolite club. Each chairman will have four assistants, who will be in constant attendance at the tables. The rooms are to be decorated in different colors, and some unique and attractive ideas of decoration were discussed. The colonial table, in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Lane of the home department of the Chicago Woman's club, promises to be interesting, and it is hoped that every woman who has grandmother's recipe for something good will see that grandmother is well represented and holds her own in this display of latter day cooking.

A collection of rare dishes will be on exhibition, and the recipes for sale for the housekeeper who wants to add something new to her collection of recipes, and the salads will be on sale, and other goodies.

Household Hints.

By ADA H. KRECKER.

A Sunday Supper—

Calf's brains	Sauté.	Cream sauce
	(in chafing dish).
Coup jack.	Cake.	Coffee.

CALF'S BRAINS SAUTE.—Drop the brains in cold water as soon as received and change the water frequently until they are white. This is called blanching. Both should have a preliminary cooking before their final preparation for the table. Place in a saucepan with one scant teaspoon salt, a slice of onion, and a bit of mace; cover it with boiling water and simmer most gently. The brains will be done in fifteen minutes. As soon as done they should be dropped into cold water until chilled, and are then to be finished in any way desired. For service on Sunday night the cooked brains are dried in a cloth and the membrane removed. After cutting into thick slices each piece is floured, seasoned, and sautéd in a little hot butter in the chafing dish. When done a tablespoon of flour is stirred into the butter and one cup of rich milk gradually added until the sauce is thick and smooth.

COUP JACK.—Put into shallow goblets, about the size of hock or champagne glasses, one tablespoon or more of preserved fruits, and on this drop lightly a generous amount of ice cream or fruit ice, the preserve selected being one which in flavor will harmonize with the ice cream. Set each goblet on lace paper on a small plate.

MARLBOROUGH LOAF CAKE.—Cream one-half cup butter, add two cups sugar, and cream again; then add yolks of four eggs; beat this until well mixed, then add three-quarter cup milk, one pint flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla, then the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Bake in layers. When cool put together with the following filling: Add one-quarter cup boiling water to four tablespoons cocoa; when well blended add three-quarter cup milk; set in a basin of boiling water and when hot add two eggs, well beaten, one cup sugar, one teaspoon corn starch, wet with a little cold milk; cook until smooth; then add one-half teaspoon fine cinnamon. Put a layer of the cocoa on the cake, then a generous layer of cocoanut; cover entire outside of cake.

A Maxim of the Dutch—

Affirms that "no one is ever ruined who keeps good accounts; and Mary Astell, an English reformer of the seventeenth century, could still recommend to her countrywomen the example of the housewives of Holland, who, she writes, "keep the books, balance the accounts, and do all the business with as much dexterity and exactness as their own or our men can do."

Miss Edgeworth, the novelist, writing of domestic economy as a virtue, says children must have the management of money, and that girls ought to keep the family accounts.

Mrs. Ellis, in one of her remarkable works on English women, dedicated to Queen Victoria, says that "married women who love justice to themselves as well as to others should always keep strict accounts."

Catherine Beecher for many years was the best known American writer on domestic economy. "If a woman," she says, "has never kept any accounts nor attempted to regulate her expenditures by the right rule, nor used her influence with those that contest her plans, she has no right to say how much she can or cannot do. There are certain general principles which all unite in sanctioning. The first is that care be taken to know the amount of income and of current expenses, so that the proper relative proportion be preserved and the expenditures never exceed the means. Few women can do this thoroughly without keeping regular accounts. A great deal of uneasiness is caused to both husband and wife in many cases by an entire want of system and forethought in arranging expenses. Both keep buying what they think they need without any calculation as to how matters are coming out, and with a sort of dread of running in debt all the time harassing them. Such never know the comfort of independence.

"But if a man and woman calculate what their income is, and then plan so as to know that they are all the time living within it, they secure one of the greatest comforts which wealth can bestow and that many of the rich who live in a loose and careless way never enjoy.

"It is not so much the amount of income as the regular and correct apportionment of expenses that makes a family truly comfortable. It would be a great benefit for every young girl to begin at 12 or 13 years of age to make her own purchases and keep her accounts under the guidance of mother or capable friend."

A Household Duty—

To the window garden. Make it a rule to give liberal ventilation every day, not through the window at which the plants stand, but through other windows or the door. Aim to keep the temperature of the room below 70°.

Give just enough water to keep the plants moist, not enough to encourage premature activity. If more is given the soil is pretty sure to become sour, when diseased roots will result. As the plant begins to grow and as the days become more sunny, when evaporation takes place more rapidly, more water may be given.

Do not give a fertilizer to a plant not making active growth. The expert florist never makes the serious mistake of thinking a plant can be forced into healthy action by the application of rich food. Not so. It is not in condition to digest and use such food until it begins to grow.

LIVE TOPICS FOR MOTHERS

DELEGATES ARRIVE IN WASHINGTON FOR ANNUAL CONGRESS.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Take an Active Interest in Society and Reception Will Be Given at White House Monday Afternoon—Model Nursery and Playroom Fully Equipped and Real Live Baby in Incubator Will Be Features.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Mothers and those interested in the training of children have been arriving in Washington from all over the country today, and the annual congress of mothers, which opens here tomorrow, will be one of the best attended since the beginning of the organization.

President Roosevelt, who for years has been interested in the society, will address the congress Monday night, and among the many social features will be a tea or reception at the White house on Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Roosevelt will receive the delegates, officers, and visitors. A reception was given the president of the national society, Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, at the home of Mrs. C. D. Merwin in Vermont avenue this afternoon, when all of the "mothers" in the city attended.

Bishop Satterlee will open the congress in the morning and Dr. G. Stanley Hall of Clark university will lecture on "The New Ideal of Motherhood Caused by Child Study." Saturday reports of officers and state presidents will be read and in the afternoon there will be a reception. Saturday evening will be used for the discussion of the work of juvenile courts, and Mrs. Annie R. Ramsey of Philadelphia will speak, as will also representatives of juvenile court work from all over the country. This is one of the features of the work in which President Roosevelt has expressed more interest than almost any other.

To Discuss Religious Training.

Sunday afternoon will be devoted to the discussion of the "Religious Education of Children," and Mrs. Charles N. Thorpe, president of the New Century club of Philadelphia, Miss Mary B. Hutcheson of Columbus, O., Dr. McKim of Washington, Rabbi Krauskopf, and others will talk on the subject. Monday morning will be devoted to reports of state officers and delegates, and Monday afternoon Mrs. Roosevelt will receive the members of the congress.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been interested in the organization from the start, and went from Oyster Bay to Albany to be present at some of the meetings. The president has shown no less interest in the work of the women, and heartily responded when asked to speak.

On Tuesday there will be several interesting speakers, including Mrs. Lucia Gale Barbour of Boston, on "The Real Woman"; Mrs. Herman H. Birney, on "The Value of Autobiography in the Education of Children." The afternoon will be devoted to a trip to Mount Vernon.

On Wednesday the subject of childhood and motherhood will be treated upon an international basis, Señorita Carolina Huidobro of Chile speaking upon "The Children of Spanish America," Mrs. Anna E. Murray on "Negro Children in America," Dr. Samuel McCune Lindsay on "The Children of Porto Rico," and Eki Hioki of the Japanese legation upon the children of his own country. Mrs. Theodore Birney, originator of the "mothers' congress," will give an address upon "Sympathetic Parenthood," and Mrs. Robert Dyar Cotten of North Carolina will discuss "Children of the South."

To Discuss Effect of Music.

The election of officers will take place on Thursday. There will be some discussion of school gardens, and Miss Lillie Williams of Trenton, N. J., will talk on the coöperation of the home and school. Prof. Stuart, superintendent of the Washington public schools, and Prof. William L. Tomlins will discuss the effect of music on education.

"Child Labor," as presented by Mrs. Florence Kelley of New York, will be one of the most interesting topics for Friday. Dr. Wiley, the famous food expert of the department of agriculture, also will talk on "Pure Food for Children."

There will be a model nursery and playroom fully equipped in the church, the former with beds and up to date appliances for the child's comfort and health, and the latter with chairs, tables, flowers, pictures, an aquarium, live rabbits, and other pets. There will be a trained nurse constantly in attendance at the nursery, and an attractive feature will be a real live baby in an incubator.

The Delineator for April

heralds the coming of the Directoire vogue in all its many-sided charms.

We told you last month of our fortunate connection with the leading Parisian authority on matters of style, and how we now secure from him more than two hundred exclusive Parisian designs each month, from which our New York experts choose the best for you.

He tells this month how on the streets of Paris the loose, blouse effects have disappeared entirely, and he describes temptingly the Directoire creations to be seen on every hand.

New York is already beginning to adopt the new fashion, and before many months it will be in evidence universally.

Such a radical change makes the coming season a notable one in the history of dress, and this number of THE DELINEATOR will interest every woman who cares for her personal appearance, and every man who cares for the appearance of any woman.

THE DELINEATOR is not, however, confined to the "coming" style—it is more full than ever of the current fashions, and is needed equally by the up-to-date woman and those who desire to be just ahead of the fashion.

who will hereafter write for THE DELINEATOR exclusively, furnishing each month the "New York Letter" which will be illustrated with her original creations.

Mrs. Berkeley-Loyd possesses the art instinct in the highest degree, and has undoubtedly done more to influence Style in Dress in this country during the past five years than any other one person. Her efforts have been felt not alone in the circles of high society, where she has long been the creator of designs for herself and for her friends, but she has also invaded the realm of the stage, and many of the greatest costume successes owe their origin to her.

We congratulate our millions of readers and ourselves on being privileged to announce to you her exclusive association with the chief feature of your magazine.

This number is a big number—the biggest we have ever given for April—and every page has its message of interest for woman and the home.
